Mr. John A. Macdonald, of Aberdeen, one of the leaders of Scottish Y.M.C.A., writes:—

“Who could fail to have been impressed by the fine graceful restraint with which he handled his audiences, his deft use of the chalks and blackboard, and his wonderful Scripture readings from memory The most lasting impression was made by the freshness and simplicity of his teachings, and his complete departure from the stereotyped method of approach. Of course, there were those who missed the ordinary phraseology of the ordinary appeal it is sufficient to know that new light broke on many a life. Indeed seldom have we heard of so many people benefited from a special effort of this kind. And what was more encouraging, there were those who, for the first time, definitely surrendered themselves to Christ.”

The Rev. W. Kaye Dunn is available (any distance) for single Sunday “Supply”; Sunday with Monday Lecture; Literary Society Lectures; Sunday School Anniversaries.

The "Ideal Protector"

Highly Polished Aluminium Communion Cup Tray

With Crystal Glass Cups

PATENTED

THESE Trays are so constructed as to cover and protect the wine from atmospheric impurities or dust. The cover of the stacked trays protects the top tray, and each of the other trays protects the one below it. The stack of trays rests on a bottom carrying tray which has side handles, so that the whole may be safely carried at one journey to and from the Church. They can be used as elegant single complete Stands, or can be stacked one above the other with very handsome effect should limitation of space on Communion Table require it. In order to accomplish this, each Tray has an aperture in the base, enabling the OVER-HANDLE of the Tray beneath to pass through the Tray above. Any number of Trays may thus be stacked.

These Aluminium Trays are highly polished, and unlike ordinary aluminium articles, which are of a dead colour. Our Trays are as exquisitely lustrous in finish as silver plate, whilst only one third the weight of that metal. Their original beauty can be easily maintained by simply rubbing with a soft dry wash leather.

ADVANTAGES:

Wine protected from Atmospheric Impurities,

Great Lightness, Strength, Beauty,

Non-corrosiveness and Safety from Infection involved in the use of a common cup.

London City Mission

Est. 1835.

258 Agents employed.

YOUR SYMPATHY AND SUPPORT are earnestly solicited on behalf of this old-established Society, whose supreme object is to evangelise the poor of the great Metropolis—chiefly by domiciliary visitation. That much is being done to permeate London's millions with the principles of the Gospel cannot be denied, but the Churches are admittedly unable to adequately cope with the situation. Hence the value of a lay agency like the London City Mission, which supplements the work of the Churches, as is evidenced by the hundreds of souls harvested for Christ, induced to attend public worship, and added to various churches year by year.

Funds are very urgently needed for the maintenance of the Society's operations throughout the Capital.

is finding a great demand for it among the Jewish pioneers of Palestine. Rev. S. B. Rohold says: "In a manner unknown in any other land, these keen inquirers buy the Book. The Society exists for one single object—the wider circulation of the Holy Scriptures without note or comment.

The Society's list of versions now includes about 600 distinct forms of speech. It has supplied the Scriptures to the L.M.S. in over sixty different languages. Books for the foreign mission field are sent out on such terms that no part of the cost falls on the missionary society's exchequer.

Owing to increased demands and costs, expenditure has exceeded available income by £70,000 during the past three years.

The Society needs £450,000 this year. This involves an increase of £50,000 on to its present income.

Contributions may be sent to the Secretaries, the Rev. J. H. Ritson, M.A., D.D., and the Rev. C. H. K. Boughton, M.A., B.D., 146, QUEEN VICTORIA STREET, LONDON, E.C.4.

THE

BRITISH SAILORS' SOCIETY

FOUNDED 1818.

The Oldest Sailors' Society.

For over 109 years this old Sailors' Society has done everything possible for the spiritual and social welfare of seamen and their dependents.

It raises the man who is down, succours the shipwrecked, relieves distress amongst sailors and dependents, &c. Its Homes and Hostels are in 100 of the largest ports at Home and Abroad.

In twelve months the Society's Chaplains and Port Missionaries held no less than 5,389 Meetings in Home and Foreign Ports. 47,456 visits were paid to men in ships and hospitals. The Gospel Message is thus taken to thousands of brave men who are far removed from home influences. It is but one of many activities which deserve your support.

H.M.

said:

"The Society throws open its doors to the Sailor, welcomes him with sympathy and brotherly love, and offers him in the various ports of the world a home where thrift and temperance are encouraged."

The School aims at providing a liberal education on modern lines, and is fully equipped for this purpose. The general course, before specialization, includes both Latin and Science. Individual attention can be given in all forms. Admission to the Preparatory is from the age of nine, and to the Big School between twelve and fifteen.

The Religious instruction is unsectarian, in accordance with the terms of the Trust Deed. On Sundays there is morning Service in the School, and in the evening boys whose parents wish it may attend worship elsewhere.

Full particulars of the Scholarships and Exhibitions may be obtained from the Headmaster.

Attention is particularly called to the fact that there is another Boarding School for boys in Bishop's Stortford, which is called Bishop's Stortford School, and correspondence intended for the College is frequently addressed to Bishop's Stortford School through ignorance of the existence of another school, with the result that the correspondents may not come into communication with the College at all, or at best do so only after much inconvenience and delay. Correspondence intended for the Public School must be addressed to Bishop's Stortford COLLEGE, and it is wise to address it also to the Headmaster or other official by name.

HUNDREDS OF BUILDINGS HEATED.

Burial in populous areas is insanitary, wasteful, a menace to the health of the living, and has been described as our chief relic of barbarism.

CREMATION

Safeguards the living, and provides for the permanent disposal of the dead with Reverence, Simplicity, and Economy. Avoids dangers attending grave-side funerals in inclement weather, and offers facilities for a return to the ancient custom of Church burial. Cremation has become an established fact, not only in this country but all over the civilised world, and is rapidly superseding burial in all large centres of population.

A few extracts from the opinions of people who believe in it :

REV. A. W. PALMER (Congregational Church, Oakland, Cal.) —

"I am heartily in favour of cremation; not only is it sanitary and scientific, but I believe it has a distinct religious value in emphasizing the fact that it is the spirit, and not the garment which the spirit wears, that is immortal."

SIR HENRY THOMPSON (cremated 1904) —

"Never could the solemn and touching words 'Ashes to ashes, dust to dust' be more appropriately uttered than over a body about to be consigned to the retort."

BISHOP FRASER (1874) —

"No intelligent faith can suppose that any Christian doctrine is affected by the manner in which, or the time in which, this mortal body of ours crumbles into dust."

REV. JOHN HUNTER, D.D. (late Trinity Congregational Church, Glasgow, 1895) —

"The sentimental as well as the sanitary argument was also in favour of it. We had only to let our imagination play for a little about the subject to see and be persuaded that the process could only be called sweet and tender compared with what went on beneath the earth."

FRANCES E. WILLARD (late President Women's Christian Temperance Union. Cremated 1898) —

"I have the purpose to help forward progressive movements, even in my latest hours, and hence hereby decree that the earthly mantle which I shall drop ere long, when my real self passes onward to the world unseen, shall be swiftly enfolded in the flames and rendered powerless harmfully to affect the health of the living. Let no friend of mine say aught to prevent the cremation of my cast-off body. The fact that the popular mind has not come to this decision renders it all the more my duty, who have seen the light, to stand for it in death, as I have sincerely meant in life to stand for the great cause of poor oppressed humanity."

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX (cremated 1919) —

"I heartily approve of Cremation. In the first place it is cleanly, in the second place it is economical. It helps along Nature."

MAËTERLINCK —

"Purified by fire, the memory lives in the heights of a beautiful idea; and death is naught but an immortal birth cradled in flames."

EDITOR, British Medical Journal (1913) —

"Having witnessed the process in its minutest details at Golder's Green, we can testify that nothing could be more cleanly and more reverent."

SIR MALCOLM MORRIS (1922) —

"This method of disposal of the dead is going to do more to save the living than any modern movement."

C. Crematoria established at Woking, Manchester, Glasgow, Liverpool, Birmingham, Bristol, Hull, Bradford, Leeds, Leicester, Sheffield, Darlington, Pontypridd, and in London. The chapels are available to all religious denominations, and the beautiful buildings and Gardens of Rest at Woking and Golder's Green are open for inspection by rambling clubs and the general public.

THE CREMATION SOCIETY OF ENGLAND was founded in 1874 by the late Sir Henry Thompson, and incorporated in 1922 as a body limited by guarantee, without a share capital and not conducted for profit.

C. Capable speakers provided for lectures and debates, and lantern slides illustrating the modern cremation movement lent free of charge.

C. The Council invite applications for free Registration or Membership. A single payment of five guineas qualifies as a Life Member and includes cremation at death. Write for free booklet about cremation.

2½% IS NOT FAIR INTEREST TO-DAY

IF you leave your money on deposit or put it in some low-paying investment, 2½% (or 3% at the most) is all you can expect it to earn for you. Now that was fair interest fifteen years ago but not to-day.

A WISE PLAN

If you invest your money in the Co-operative Permanent Building Society it will earn 5% for you—absolutely free of tax or any liability to tax. That means that you really get 6¼% for your money—more than double the earning power of ordinary gilt-edged investments.

Absolute Security

The money you invest in the Co-operative Permanent is used to help home builders in buying their houses. Because your money is used for this purpose, and not for any speculative venture, the value of your shares never varies.

You can withdraw up to £10 of your money on demand. Larger sums are released on a few days' notice.

Shares in the Co-operative Permanent are of £10 value, and you can purchase as many as you want outright, or you can pay in a little at a time, and each complete pound invested will earn interest.

Write and get full particulars of this sound and profitable investment.

P R E F A C E .

THE changes noted in the previous issue of the CONGREGATIONAL YEAR BOOK have been continued in the present volume. By vote of the Assembly it was decided that the Chairman's Addresses should no longer be published as part of the YEAR BOOK. These Addresses are published at the time of their delivery, and it is hoped that a series of Addresses for a period of years may be published in book form from time to time.

The Council has decided that the photographs of all deceased ministers shall in future be inserted free of charge in the obituary section of the book.

Under the instructions of the Legal Committee the legal information has been very carefully revised and brought up to date, and it is hoped that it will be found useful to the churches.

A Statistical Summary discontinued since 1918 will be found after the list of ordinations.

Acknowledgment is here made of the valuable service of all who have contributed to the production of the present volume.

THE Council of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, under whose direction the CONGREGATIONAL YEAR BOOK is prepared, do not hold themselves responsible for any omissions or errors which may be found in the statistics. The greatest care is taken to secure accuracy. Suggestions and amendments will be carefully considered.

Ministers with or without pastoral charge, who wish the insertion of their names in the YEAR BOOK, should communicate with the Secretary of the Association of the County in which they reside, as names are in no case inserted which are not thus officially communicated.

Ministers who, in the course of the year, have removed from one County to another too late to join the Association of the County to which they have removed before the returns have to be prepared for next YEAR BOOK, should forward to the Secretary of that Association an official certification of their connection with the Association of the County which they have left, that he may include their names in his official list.

Early information is solicited on all matters for the next YEAR BOOK, to be addressed to the Editor, 22, Memorial Hall, Farringdon Street, London, E.C.4. The insertion of names in the ministerial lists cannot be guaranteed if they are not communicated through the proper County Secretary by the end of OCTOBER. County Secretaries will please note that County Union Lists and the Schedule A should be returned NOT LATER than the end of SEPTEMBER. All other matter should be in the Editor's hands by the end of OCTOBER. The dates mentioned are the latest consistent with the punctual production of the Book.

The NINETY-SIXTH SPRING ASSEMBLY of the Congregational Union of England and Wales will be held in LONDON during the week beginning Sunday, May 6th, 1928.

The March meeting of the Council of the Congregational Union of England and Wales will be held in Harrogate on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 19th, 20th and 21st, 1928.

The EIGHTY-SEVENTH AUTUMN ASSEMBLY will be held in LEEDS during the week beginning Sunday, October 7th, 1928.

CONSTITUTION

OF

The Congregational Union of England and Wales.

(Adopted September, 1904, October, 1917, May, 1919, May, 1920, May, 1921, May, 1922, May, 1924, May, 1925, and June 1926.)

PREAMBLE.

1. Certain powers and duties belong to the individual Church in self-government under the Headship of the Lord Jesus Christ, due regard being had to the interests of other Churches of our own and other denominations. For example: The reception and dismissal of members; the discipline necessary to preserve purity of communion; the election of pastor and deacons; the order of worship; financial arrangements; and all that concerns the internal administration of the Church.

2. Certain duties and responsibilities concern Congregational Churches as a whole, and these can be most effectively fulfilled by a union of Churches. For example: Congregational Church extension, and the promotion of missionary work at home and abroad; the assistance of Churches needing support; the introduction to the ministry of properly qualified and suitable men; the support of Congregational Colleges in the training of Ministers; the admission of none but worthy persons to the privileges of the Denomination and of THE UNION; the provision of facilities for the settlement and removal of Ministers; the adequate support of the ministry; the assistance, when necessary, of Ministers of good standing disabled by age or infirmity; the bringing of Congregational societies and institutions into closer connection with THE UNION and with each other, and the brotherly co-operation with other Christian denominations in the extension of the Kingdom of God.

This Preamble is not exhaustive, and it should be interpreted in the widest sense.—The aim of this Constitution is to enable Congregational Churches collectively to fulfil their responsibilities in relation to such questions as are indicated in the second paragraph.

I.—NAME.

1. The name of this Union shall be THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF ENGLAND AND WALES, hereinafter called THE UNION.

II.—CONSTITUTION.

THE UNION shall be a Federation or Union of Congregational Churches which are connected or associated with the County Unions of England and Wales or with the Union of Welsh Independents. The word Church shall be interpreted as meaning a Congregational Church having a separate roll of members, and subscribing to the funds of THE UNION. The term County Union shall be interpreted as including the London Union, and the English Unions of North and South Wales.

III.—OBJECTS.

The objects of THE UNION generally shall be to deal with matters indicated in the second paragraph of the preamble, and particularly—

(1) To extend and realise the Kingdom of Christ, primarily through Churches of the Congregational order.

(2) To promote New Testament principles of Church fellowship and organisation.

(3) To strengthen the fraternal relations of Congregational Churches, and to facilitate co-operation in everything affecting their common interests.

(4) To help such Churches as need assistance, and to stimulate and support efforts for Church Extension and Evangelisation.

(5) To increase the usefulness of the County Unions, and to co-ordinate their operations.

(6) To secure a common standard of admission to the privileges and fellowship of the denomination.

(7) To develop and organise the work of Lay Preachers.

(8) To aid in the extension of Sunday Schools, Guilds, and Institutes for Young People.

(9) To prevent the alienation of Trust property belonging to Congregational Churches, Societies, and Institutions.

(10) To maintain correspondence with Congregational Churches and other Christian communities throughout the world.

(11) To obtain information relating to Congregationalism, and to extend its influence at home and abroad.

(12) To promote Christian unity; especially to co-operate with the Free Churches in the maintenance of their principles and traditions, and in collective action for their defence and support.

(13) To secure perfect religious equality and moral and social reforms.

(14) To encourage and strengthen Associated Churches, i.e. such Churches as for geographical reasons are unable to be affiliated with any local Union, but which desire to be in fellowship with this Union, and which on the presentation of testimonials as to faith and character, and on the payment of an annual subscription of at least five shillings, shall be admitted by The Council.

IV.—MANAGEMENT.

The business of THE UNION shall be under the direction of a General Council, hereinafter called THE COUNCIL, presenting Annual Departmental Reports to a General Assembly, hereinafter called THE ASSEMBLY, for confirmation.

V.—COUNCIL.

Constitution.

(1) THE COUNCIL shall consist of as nearly as possible three hundred Representatives, who shall be members of Congregational Churches, and shall be elected annually by the County Unions with which they are connected; together with the Chairman, ex-Chairmen, Treasurer, and Secretary (or Secretaries) General and Departmental, appointed by the Union and Moderators of THE UNION, who shall be ex-officio members, and three persons representative of, and chosen by, the Union of Welsh Independents. THE COUNCIL thus constituted shall annually co-opt not more than twenty-five persons, including at least one representative of the London Missionary Society and one of the Colonial Missionary Society. Under the foregoing no person shall be eligible to be a member of THE COUNCIL who has been excluded from membership of THE UNION or of a County Union. [It is suggested that the Representatives be selected from the Delegates to the County Union.]

(2) The number eligible by each County Union shall bear the same proportion to the number elected as the number of Churches in each County Union bears to the whole number of Churches included in THE UNION, but no County Union shall have fewer than three representatives. Where possible two-thirds of the representatives, but at least one half, so elected shall be other than those who are pastors of Churches.

(3) Any vacancy arising shall be filled by the County Union affected thereby or by its Committee.

(4) The names of members elected by the County Unions shall be returned to the Secretary of THE UNION immediately after their election.

(5) Each County Union electing representatives shall contribute to the funds of THE UNION not less than the sum of ten shillings annually for each representative elected (see VIII.).

Meetings.

THE COUNCIL shall meet at least twice a year at such times and places as it may determine. [The County Unions are recommended to pay the travelling expenses of their representatives to The Council Meetings.]

Business.

The business of THE COUNCIL shall be

A.

(1) To appoint its own Chairman.

(2) To make By-laws for the direction and control of its own business, to define the duties of its Committees, and to fill up any vacancies that may occur among them during the year.

(3) To control the Business Departments and raise and administer the funds of THE UNION in its behalf, and for the furtherance of its objects.

(4) To arrange religious services and public meetings in connection with its regular meetings.

B.

(5) To submit Annual Departmental Reports of its proceedings to THE ASSEMBLY for confirmation, together with an account, duly audited, of the receipts and disbursements of THE UNION for the year.

(8) To frame Rules of Procedure for the meetings of THE ASSEMBLY to be submitted to it for confirmation.

(9) To consider any duly proposed alteration of the Constitution, and report thereon to THE ASSEMBLY.

(10) To consider and take action upon resolutions passed by THE ASSEMBLY and to deal with such business as THE ASSEMBLY may assign to it.

C.

(11) To maintain and develop the fraternal relations of Congregational Churches, and to secure and direct their collective action in such matters as affect their common interests.

(12) To initiate such movements from time to time as may seem necessary to promote the progress of Congregationalism always securing, wherever possible, the co-operation of the County Unions, and to consider any matter referred to it by the Churches or the County Unions.

(13) To secure as far as possible uniformity in the rules of the County Unions, especially as regards the recognition of Churches and the reception and transfer of Ministers, the manner in which their names are returned to THE CONGREGATIONAL YEAR BOOK, and the conditions on which they shall be received into, and enjoy the privileges of, the denomination.

(14) To consider the relation of various Congregational Societies, Colleges, and other Institutions and Trusts to THE UNION, and to secure their united and effective co-operation, and, where desirable, their ultimate amalgamation with THE UNION. Also, to confer with the Trustees of Beneficiary Funds connected with the denomination with a view to promoting the more advantageous distribution of those funds.

As adopted by the Council of the C.U. of E. and W., and by the Assembly, 11th May, 1909, and revised by the Assembly, 9th May, 1912, 1st October, 1917, and 10th May, 1922, by the Council, 2nd October, 1923, the Assembly, 4th October, 1923

(A) CHURCHES.

Churches may be affiliated with their County Union by the vote of its Assembly on the recommendation of its Executive Committee, such Churches to contribute annually to the funds of their County Union.

Every affiliated Church shall have the right of representation at the Annual Meeting, both by the pastor, if duly elected as a member of the County Union, and by delegates in at least the following proportion—viz., one for each Church having not more than fifty members, with an additional delegate for every additional fifty members.

Any Church neglecting to contribute to the funds of the County Union shall receive notice from the Treasurer that contribution is necessary to membership.

(B) MINISTERS.

All persons seeking recognition as Congregational Ministers and resident within the area of a County Union, and in fellowship with a Congregational Church, shall be eligible for membership by the vote of the Annual Meeting or of the Executive Committee, subject to the approval of the Annual Meeting, provided that—

(i.) In the case of a Minister coming from a recognised College, he shall procure an official recommendation from the Governing Body, but before his name is placed on the list of accredited Ministers his ordination or recognition shall be officially certified by his County Union as having been held in compliance with (E).

(ii.) In the case of an accredited Minister having held the pastorate of a Congregational Church in another County Union, he shall secure a letter of commendation from such County Union, or its Executive Committee.

(iii.) In the case of a Minister from another denomination who has received a call to the pastorate of a Congregational Church, he shall give satisfactory evidence as to his Christian character, ministerial training or status, and efficiency, as to his acquaintance with and acceptance of the faith and polity of the Congregational Churches, and as to his having been a member of a Congregational Church for not less than six months, together with the official certification usually recognised in the denomination, connection with which he has resigned, before being recognised as an accredited Congregational Minister.

(iv.) In the case of a man who cannot for special reasons receive the full training of one of the recognised Colleges he shall be required before being recognised as an accredited Congregational Minister—

(a) To furnish evidence as to character, efficiency, and faith, as in paragraph (iii.).

(b) To furnish evidence that he has received a call from, and has exercised the pastoral office in, a Congregational Church, or Churches with the sanction of a County Union, for at least six years.

(c) To produce a certificate showing that upon the recommendation of his County Union he has entered upon and completed a course of study as arranged by the Congregational Union of England and Wales, extending over at least three years, including the passing of annual examinations commencing not earlier than the fourth year. All candidates who sit for the List "A" Examination must, prior to the examination, have taken the List "B" Examination, and this without further lengthening of the six-year period.

(See section headed "Examinations" at the end of these Rules.)

(v.) A graduate of a recognised University who in the opinion of the Special Committee has had no adequate theological training, and who has received a call to the pastorate of a Congregational Church, shall, before being recognised as an accredited minister, be required to enter upon a probationary period of three years, and to submit himself to examination on a special course of study.

(vi.) In exceptional cases the Special Committee, on the recommendation of a County Union, may modify or dispense with the requirements set forth in (iv.) (b) (c) and (v.).

(vii.) In the case of Missionaries who have served under the London Missionary Society or the Colonial Missionary Society, and also of Ministers presenting transfers from any Congregational Union not affiliated to the Congregational Union of England and Wales, they shall be required, before being recognised as accredited ministers, to furnish credentials from the Society or Union with which they were connected and evidence of adequate collegiate training. Failing which, they shall be required to comply with such conditions as shall satisfy the Special Committee.

These rules do not prohibit the recognition of women ministers who have fulfilled the regulations.

(C) CHURCHES AND MINISTERS.

(i.) The County Union retains the right to decline to receive or recognise and to suspend or remove from its membership any Church, Minister, or other member, by the vote of two-thirds of the members present and voting, providing that in the case of suspension or removal a special intimation shall have been sent by its Secretary to the Church, Minister, or other member in question, at least a month before the meeting at which such suspension or removal is to be considered.

(ii.) When compiling the list of Churches and Ministers for the Congregational Year Book, it shall be the duty of every County Secretary to transmit to the Editor not later than the 30th of September in each year a list of—

(a) Churches only which are affiliated with, or recognised by, the County Union.

(b) Accredited Ministers only who are members of a Congregational Church and of their County Union, and actually resident within its area or the immediate neighbourhood. In special cases the County Union shall have power to dispense with the first requirement under this rule.

(c) Evangelists or Lay Pastors only who are recognised by their County Union. Such recognition shall be dependent upon compliance with the following conditions:—

They shall furnish evidence as to Christian character, general fitness for the work, and acceptance of Congregational principles, and membership of a Congregational Church;

They shall complete a probationary period of one year to the satisfaction of the County Union, after which they shall pass an examination as set by the Examination Committee of the Congregational Union of England and Wales.

(iii.) Ministers removing after the annual meeting of their own County Union to another county may be provisionally returned by the Secretary of the County Union into the area of which they enter, although they are not yet members thereof, provided that the Secretary of the County Union in which they were last included shall have stated in writing that letters of commendation are likely to be granted.*

(iv.) Ministers or students accepting a call after the annual meeting may in like manner be provisionally returned by the Secretary.

(D) AIDED CHURCHES.

In the interest of the Aided Churches it is required as an absolute condition of grant that no invitation be given to any person to accept the pastorate, or even to supply the pulpit with a view to the pastorate, without the approval of the Executive of the County Union.

(E) ORDINATION AND RECOGNITION SERVICES.

Inasmuch as the Ordination or Recognition of any person as a Pastor is a matter deeply affecting the welfare of all the Churches, no such Ordination or Recognition Service shall take place without the concurrence and approval of the County Union expressed by the presence of one or more appointed representatives. No ministerial member of a County Union should take part in, or otherwise sanction, the Ordination or Recognition of a pastor of any Congregational Church without first communicating with the Secretary of the County Union, and ascertaining that such person is duly qualified.

(F) In the event of any difficulty arising regarding the interpretation or application of the foregoing Rules, or in the event of any conflict of opinion between authorities concerned, the decision shall rest with the Special Committee of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, with a right of appeal to the next meeting of the Council.

(G) In no case shall the Editor or the Council be bound to insert a name in the Year Book, whether such name has been officially authorised by the County Association or Union or not, but the Special Committee may, upon such evidence as it shall consider sufficient, direct that any name be inserted in or excluded from, the Year Book, or from any of the lists. All the decisions of the Special Committee under the powers given by these rules shall be subject to an appeal to the next meeting of the Council of the Union by any person or body affected.

It is recommended—

(1) That all candidates for the Ministry, prior to appearing before the College authorities, shall receive fuller commendation than is now customary. It is suggested that candidates in addition to receiving the commendation of an individual Church or Minister, should be required to secure the approval of the local County Union acting through its Executive or its district Committee.

(2) That County Unions should exercise the greatest care in the granting and acceptance of transfers.

(3) By recognised Colleges shall be understood those set forth on pp. 92-93 of the 1923 Congregational Year Book, i.e. New, Western, Yorkshire United, Cheshunt, Hackney, Lancashire, Mansfield, Nottingham, Carmarthen, Brecon, Bala-Bangor, Scottish Congregational College.

It is considered that the question of Ministers of the Countess of Huntingdon's Connexion, whose churches are not in the Congregational Union, is met by B (iii.).

* The responsibility for seeing that this is done rests upon the Minister concerned, not upon the Secretary.

EXAMINATIONS.

A. List Examinations are on the last Tuesday and Wednesday in September.

B. List Examinations on the last Tuesday in September.

In view of the fact that questions are often asked by men who wish to enter the Congregational Ministry by means of the above examinations the following statement has been drawn up :—

1. The regular method of admission to the ministry is by the full course of training at one of our recognised Colleges. It is expected that men under the age of 28 will take such a College Course.

2. Admission to the ministry by means of the above examinations must not be regarded as an alternative method of entrance ; it is for exceptional cases only, when for special reasons, a man is unable to receive the ordinary course of training.

3. In such special cases the first step to be taken is to qualify for admission to List B in accordance with the following Rules.

TO OBTAIN ADMISSION TO LIST B.

Before a man settles in pastoral charge he must satisfy the County Union that he has been a member of a Congregational Church for at least six months, and must give satisfactory evidence as to Christian character, general fitness for the work and knowledge and acceptance of Congregational principles. He shall then complete a probationary period of one year in charge of a church or churches to the satisfaction of a County Union, after which permission may be given him to proceed to the List B examination in the following September.

The Secretary of the County Union will provide each candidate with the Syllabus of subjects for examination and directions for guidance in study.

In cases where evidence of satisfactory educational equipment can be given, the Special Committee, on the recommendation of the County Union, may modify or dispense with the examination aforesaid.

TRANSFER FROM LIST B TO LIST A.

A man who wishes to pass from List B to List A must furnish evidence that he has received a call from, and has exercised the pastoral office in a Congregational Church or Churches with the sanction and approval of the County Union for at least three years. (The time required to qualify for admission to List B is counted as part of the three years probationary period.)

The examinations are three in number, one to be taken each year, the first to be taken not earlier than the fourth year. The probationary period must be understood to extend throughout the whole course ; the consent of the County Union is therefore required for each successive examination.

The shortest period qualifying for admission to List A in accordance with the above rules is six years.

A SHORTER COLLEGE COURSE IN LIEU OF THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION EXAMINATIONS FOR LIST A.

(a) It is expected that men under the age of 28 take the full College Course.

(b) After a man has served three years' probation, if the County Union recommend him, the Committee will be prepared to accept a three years' course at a College in lieu of Congregational Union Examinations.

(c) The description for such students in the Congregational Year Book shall be "The Congregational Union and College."

REGULATIONS FOR THE PREPARATION OF THE "CONGREGATIONAL YEAR BOOK."

Adopted by the Committee of the Congregational Union of England and Wales July 2, 1895, March 21, 1905, the Literature Committee, March 21, 1905, April 9, 1907, the Assembly, May 11, 1909, and May 9, 1912, the Literature (Sub) Committee, November 3, 1909, and the Assembly, October 1, 1917.

1.—The CONGREGATIONAL YEAR BOOK is prepared under the direction of the Council of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, in accordance with the Rules adopted by the Assembly on May 11, 1909. The Council does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed in the addresses contained in the YEAR BOOK, nor for any omissions or errors which may be found in the statistics.

2.—The production of the YEAR BOOK is entrusted to an Editor who acts in consultation with the Committee on Literature, and the Special Committee of the Union. The Committee of Literature shall have control on all literary points, but all matters involving questions of principle, and particularly what names shall or shall not be inserted in the YEAR BOOK, shall be under the control of the Special Committee. The Editor shall make arrangements for the publication of the YEAR BOOK as near as is possible to the first day of January in each year.

3.—Its contents shall comprise (subject to the powers of addition, exclusion and reversal vested in the Special Committee) Reports of the Annual and Autumnal Assemblies of the Union, and such papers, if any, as the Editor and the Committee on Literature may deem desirable, brief notices of Congregational Institutions, Architectural descriptions of New Buildings for Denominational use, Memoirs of Deceased Ministers, a List of Congregational Associations or Unions in the British Isles, three Alphabetical Lists, the first (a) to be a list of the names of accredited Ministers officially furnished by English Congregational Associations in England and Wales; the second (b) of Evangelists and Lay Pastors officially furnished by English Congregational Associations in England and Wales; the third (c) of Ministers officially furnished by Welsh Congregational Associations in England and Wales and by the Congregational Unions of Scotland and Ireland; Lists and Alphabetical Arrangements for the Oversea Dominions and Colonies, a list of Missionaries of the London Missionary Society furnished by the Secretary of that Society, Statistical Summaries, and such other information as, from year to year, it may seem desirable to publish.

4.—As early as possible in September notices of the several Congregational Institutions shall be sent for revision to their respective Secretaries; and the insertion of corrections can only be guaranteed if the same are received on or before the last day of October.

5.—Early in August the Editor of the YEAR BOOK shall forward to each County Secretary, or other returning officer (1) a schedule for information concerning changes which have occurred during the current year, and (2) draft Lists for revision.

6.—The County Lists shall contain (1) *Churches only which are affiliated with, or recognised by, the County Union. (2) *Ministers only who are members of a Congregational Church and of their County Union, and actually resident within its area or the immediate neighbourhood. In special cases the County Unions shall have power to dispense with the first requirement under this rule. (3) *Evangelists and Lay Pastors only who are recognised by their County Union. Ministers removing after the annual meeting of their own County Union to another County may be provisionally returned by the Secretary of the County Union into the area of which they enter, although they are not yet members thereof, provided that the Secretary of the County Union in which they were last included shall have stated in writing that letters of commendation of them are likely to be granted†. Ministers or students accepting a call after the annual meeting may in like manner be provisionally returned by the Secretary. As far as possible the Christian names shall be given in full. All returns shall reach the Editor of the YEAR BOOK not later than the last day of September.

The names of gentlemen who do not hold a pastoral office but are engaged in professional or commercial occupations having no relation to Congregational Institutions or objects or to recognised Religious Institutions in which Congregationalists are interested shall at the end of three years of such occupations cease to be inserted in List "A" appearing in the CONGREGATIONAL YEAR BOOK.

7.—It shall be the duty of the Editor to prepare from the foregoing Returns Alphabetical Lists of accredited ministers and of lay-pastors and evangelists. These lists shall contain only such names as are officially furnished by the proper returning authorities.

8.—Ministers, with or without pastoral charge, who desire the insertion of their names in the YEAR BOOK, must communicate with the Secretary of the Association or Union of the County wherein they reside.

9.—In no case may any name be inserted without official authorisation from some County Association or Union, or from the Special Committee (see (F) and (G) of Rules relating to the Recognition of Churches and Ministers adopted by the Assembly, May 11, 1909, and amended by the Assembly, October 1, 1917); nor can insertion be guaranteed unless the proper County Association or Union Secretary be informed before the thirty-first day of October.

10.—In no case shall the Editor or the Council be bound to insert a name in the YEAR BOOK, whether such name has been officially authorised by the County Association or Union or not, but the Special Committee may, upon such evidence as it shall consider sufficient, direct that any name be inserted in, or excluded from, the YEAR BOOK, or from any of the Lists. All the decisions of the Special Committee under the Powers given by this Code shall be subject to an appeal to the next meeting of the Council of the Union by any person or body affected.

11.—Ministers who in the course of the year have removed from one County to another, but too late to join before the Return falls due of the County Association or Union within whose bounds they have come to reside, must forward to the Secretary of that Association or Union an official certificate of their membership in good standing with the Association or Union they are leaving. Their names may then appear in the Return of the Association or Union they propose to join, together with an intimation that they are not yet Members of it. This change must be reported to the Editor on or before the last day of November.

* See Rule (C) (ii.) (a) (b) (c), page 3, of Rules relating to the recognition of Churches and Ministers.

† The responsibility for seeing that this is done rests upon the Minister concerned, not upon the Secretary.

12.—With the object of securing uniformity in the YEAR BOOK returns, the following lettermarks and signs are adopted :—B. (Baptist); C.H (Countess of Huntingdon's Connexion); E.U. (Evangelical Union); F.C. (Under nominal Free Church); U. (Union Church of Baptist and Independents); W. (Welsh Church). a (Not yet in the Union); b (Church not in the Union); d (Pastor of a Welsh as well as of an English Church); e (In another county); o (Minister out of charge); p (professionally engaged, but not as a pastor); s (Secretary of a Religious Association); r (retired from active service). Churches having the same pastor are bracketed. Branch churches—viz., such as are partly dependent upon some other, yet have their own separate officers—are marked with a †. Mission stations, and the approximate dates when preaching services were commenced in them, are printed in Italics, and alphabetically arranged under their several churches. The dates when Churches were formed (not of erection of buildings) are given in Roman type. "Supplied" signifies that the church is not seeking a pastor; "Vacant" that the church is seeking a pastor.

13.—When in any year the name of a Minister which has been in the list in the preceding year is not furnished according to the foregoing Regulations, the Editor shall without delay address a notice to the said Minister's latest known address, advising him that his name has not been returned by any County Secretary, and recommending that he should forthwith communicate with the Secretary of the Association within whose bounds he is residing. If within seven days the Editor is not otherwise instructed, he shall then omit the name.

14.—In preparing the Alphabetical List of Ministers, the Editor is particularly instructed to report in future, under the name of College or Institute, no other institution except a University or College affiliated with a University, or a recognised Theological College. The name of the University or College, if it be a degree-giving Institution, shall be given in those cases only where a degree has been obtained. Persons desiring to have their academical degrees indicated in the Alphabetical List shall produce the official testamur of the degree-giving Institution. In all cases of doubt the Literature Committee shall have power to decide. The Editor, while not responsible for the omission of any degree, requests the holders of degrees to give him at least six months' notice of their desire to have their degree indicated.

15.—The Editor shall in future insert no University Degree, or Literary Distinction other than a University Degree, without also stating the authority conferring it. Degrees obtained from a foreign University by means of Examinations conducted in this country shall not be inserted. And no Literary Distinction shall be inserted (with the exception of the Fellowship of the Royal Society), unless a written Examination shall have accompanied the subscription required for membership.

The Congregational Union of England and Wales.

SCHEME FOR PROVINCES AND MODERATORS AS AMENDED AND ADOPTED BY THE ASSEMBLY AT ITS MEETING HELD IN LONDON, MAY 14TH, 1924.

I. That Provinces be formed by the grouping together of County Unions and that to such Provinces Moderators, either ministerial or lay, be appointed. The question whether any Province is to become an administrative area is left to the judgment of the counties concerned.

II. The general duties of Moderators shall be :—

(a) To stimulate and encourage the work of the Denomination within their own Provinces, and to act as the friends and counsellors of Ministers and Churches.

(b) To act as advisers with regard to all financial assistance from denominational funds.

(c) To assist Churches and Ministers in all matters connected with Ministerial Settlements and Removals by personal action and by constant and regular conference with one another. This is not to be understood as excluding other means of effecting changes of pastorates, but it is desirable that the Moderators should be kept informed of any introductions effected so as to avoid overlapping.

N.B.—Whereas it may be considered fitting that the Moderator attend the Ordination, Induction or Recognition Services in his Province, his presence shall not be deemed essential, nor shall he preside ex officio, but only when invited to do so.

III. To make the work of the Moderators effective they should act in co-operation with the County Union Executives. To secure this it is highly desirable that each Moderator be elected a member of the County Union Executives concerned. The Moderators shall be members of the Council of the Congregational Union of England and Wales.

IV. In each Province a Provincial Committee, consisting of representatives of all the County Unions in the group, shall be formed by the County Unions concerned, which Committee should meet regularly with the Moderator for the purposes of general consultation and co-operation, and to secure as far as possible a uniform policy throughout the County Unions.

No Provincial Committee is to exceed twenty-one in number, and each County Union is to have at least one representative.

V. The appointment of Moderators shall rest with the Assembly of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, acting for the purposes of nomination through a joint Committee consisting of

(a) Representatives of the Province, not exceeding fourteen in number, appointed by the Provincial Committee, each County Union having at least one representative, and

(b) Representatives of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, not exceeding nine in number, to be appointed annually by the Council, on the nomination of the General Purposes Committee.

Before being submitted to the Assembly of the Congregational Union of England and Wales the nomination made by the Joint Committee with regard to a particular Province shall be confirmed by a Joint Meeting of the Assemblies or by a joint meeting of the Executives of the County Unions concerned (as may be determined by the Provincial Committee), or where so desired by the Provincial Committee acting in their name.

VI. The General Purposes Committee shall have the general administration of the scheme, and shall report annually to the Council.

VII. Moderators shall be appointed for periods of five years.

VIII. The stipends of Moderators shall be provided by the Provinces and the Congregational Union of England and Wales jointly.

The method for raising the proportion from the Provinces is by the increase of the affiliation fee from the Churches by 7s. 6d. per fifty members or part of that number.

IX. Inasmuch as certain large areas of the country already possess secretaries who devote their whole time to the service of the churches, such areas, if they so desire, may be deemed to be Provinces for the purposes of this scheme, and these Provinces may nominate their own secretaries for recognition as Moderators by the Congregational Union of England and Wales. In such cases the Province shall be responsible for the entire stipend of its Moderator.

That it be left to the General Purposes Committee to make any readjustment necessary in any Province and to report to the Assembly.

COMMITTEES.

JOINT COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF ENGLAND AND WALES FOR THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE CENTRAL FUND AND THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH-AID AND HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

I. Central Fund for Ministerial Support (raised by C.U. of E. and W., 1909-14). (For figures see pages 48, 51, 52, 57-64.)

II. Congregational Church-Aid and Home Missionary Society. (See pages 48, 55, 56.)

The Congregational Church-Aid and Home Missionary Society: Established as the Home Missionary Society, 1819; re-constituted, 1878 and 1906. Treasurer, Mr. Gerard N. Ford, J.P.

The object of the Church-Aid Society is:—To co-operate with the County Unions—

(1) In aiding the weaker churches, with a view to the more adequate maintenance of the ministry, and the increase of their general usefulness. (2) In planting and fostering new churches where they are needed, whether in rural or urban districts. (3) In helping toward the maintenance of Lay-Pastors and Evangelists, and otherwise assisting evangelistic work in spiritually destitute places.

The help of the Society is given in various ways, such as:—(1) Deputations and Personal visitation of Churches and Missions for information and for brotherly help and spiritual stimulus. This is now done mainly by the Moderators. (2) Grants through the County Unions towards Ministerial Maintenance, and Home Missionary Work in town and country. (3) Special Grants from the Twentieth Century Fund towards "New Pastorates" and "Emergencies." These special funds have done invaluable service but are nearly exhausted. Their replenishment is earnestly desired. (4) Assistance in promoting Lay-Preaching and the training of Lay-Preachers.

The funds of this Society are entirely distinct from those of County Unions.

Congregational collections or sacramental offerings, as well as personal subscriptions and legacies, are earnestly solicited, so as to enable the Committee to meet the urgent claims of the work both in populous centres and in rural districts. Office: 27A, Memorial Hall, Farringdon Street, London, E.C.4.

For figures see pages 36, 37, 38, 39.

- (3) All Donations, Subscriptions, Collections and other Contributions which shall be made specifically for the Capital Account ; and
- (4) £150,000 to be raised by the Union (inclusive of £20,000 to be raised by the Union of Welsh Independents).
- (b) The Revenue Account shall consist of :
 - (1) The accrued income transferred from the Congregational Pastors' Retiring Fund Association.
 - (2) The income of the Capital of the Fund.
 - (3) All Donations, Subscriptions, Collections and other Contributions not made specifically to the Capital Account of the Fund.
 - (4) Any Legacies given specifically to the Revenue Account.

9.—All Legacies shall (unless otherwise directed by the Testator) be credited to the Capital Account of the said Fund, provided that it shall be lawful for the Congregational Union of England and Wales at any time or times during or within three calendar months after the end of any financial year at the end of which the investments and monies constituting the Capital Account shall, according to the estimate of the said Union, exceed in value the sum of £300,000, to carry over to the Revenue Account any part of the Legacies received in that year.

10.—The Annuities hereinafter provided, together with the current expenses of the Fund, shall be paid out of the Revenue Account and out of that account only.

11.—It shall be lawful for the said Union, after the end of any financial year to transfer from the Revenue Account to the Capital Account the unexpended balance of the Revenue Account, or such part thereof as it may think fit.

ANNUITIES.

12.—Annuities shall be granted only to Ministers who, at the time when such Annuity shall be made to them, are fully accredited Ministerial Members of the aforesaid Congregational Union of England and Wales, and (or) of the Union of Welsh Independents.

13.—No Annuity shall be granted to any Minister who does not possess the following qualifications at the time when the Annuity is granted to him :—

- (1) He shall have been a fully accredited Ministerial Member of one or other of the aforesaid Unions for not less than 25 years or for periods amounting together to not less than 25 years ;
- (2) He shall have attained the age of 60 years ;
- (3) He shall not within the period of 25 years immediately preceding have followed any trade, business or profession except that of a Schoolmaster, Tutor or Professor.

14.—No Annuity shall be granted to such an amount that the entire annual income of the beneficiary shall exceed £150 per annum, and the Annuity granted may, if necessary, be from time to time reduced so that the entire annual income of the beneficiary shall not exceed £150 per annum.

15.—No Annuity shall be granted to any Minister who shall not have become a member of the Congregational Ministers' National Provident Society or some other Society as the Committee may approve. (This provision to apply only to such Ministers as were under 35 years of age on the 31st day of December, 1922.)

16.—Applicants for Annuities who were over 35 years of age on the 31st day of December, 1922, must contribute not less than £10 10s. 0d. to the Fund.

17.—If any Minister to whom an Annuity has been granted shall resume the office of Pastor or other office recognised by the Committee as consistent with his position in Lists A or C in the CONGREGATIONAL YEAR BOOK, his Annuity shall cease, but this Clause shall be without prejudice to any subsequent application made by him upon his retiring from the Pastoral or other office held by him. Neither shall this Clause so apply as to prevent an Annuitant from occasional preaching.

18.—Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, it shall be lawful for not less than six-sevenths of the members of the Committee present at any meeting of the Committee to grant an Annuity to any Minister eligible in other respects as a beneficiary, according to the provisions hereinbefore contained, although such Minister may be under 60 years of age, or may have been a fully accredited Ministerial Member of the Congregational Union of England and Wales or of the Union of Welsh Independents for less than 25 years or for periods amounting together to less than 25 years, or may within the period of 25 years immediately preceding have followed any trade, business, or profession, or to grant an Annuity of such an amount that the entire annual income of the beneficiary, including the amount of the Annuity, shall exceed £150.

THE ANNUITY.

19.—The amount of each Annuity shall be determined by the Committee and shall be made with regard to the length of service and the present needs of the applicant.

No Annuity shall be paid until the Annuitant has retired from the Pastorate or other office recognized by the Committee as consistent with his position in Lists A or C in the CONGREGATIONAL YEAR BOOK. Any Annuity may be withdrawn or suspended by the Committee, but unless so withdrawn or suspended it shall continue to be paid until such an Annuitant shall die. Each Annuity shall be paid in advance and in two equal portions—the one on the 20th day of January, the other on the 20th day of July in each year.

If and when the full sum of £20,000 shall be provided by the Union of Welsh Independents, Ministers of that Union eligible for the benefits of the Fund shall (subject to the earlier provisions of this Clause) be entitled to the benefit of the Fund equally with Ministers of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, but, if and so long as less than £20,000 shall have been provided by the Welsh Union, that fact shall be taken into consideration when allocating Annuities to Ministers of the Welsh Union, and the amount of such Annuities shall be fixed accordingly.

(The £20,000 referred to above has been provided by the Union of Welsh Independents.)

PRESERVATION OF EXISTING RIGHTS.

CONGREGATIONAL PASTORS' WIDOWS' FUND.

NAME.

1.—The Congregational Pastors' Widows' Fund.

OBJECT OF THE FUND.

2.—The object of the Fund shall be to provide Annuities for the Widows of fully accredited Ministerial Members of the Congregational Union of England and Wales ("the Union") and (or) the Union of Welsh Independents, including Tutors and Professors in Colleges.

TRUSTEE OF THE FUND.

3.—The body corporate called the Congregational Union of England and Wales (Incorporated) shall be the Trustee of the Widows' Fund. All investments belonging to the Widows' Fund shall be held by the Trustee, and monies requiring investment shall be invested only in Stocks, Funds or Securities authorised by law for the investment of trust funds.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE FUND.

- 4.—(a) The Widows' Fund shall remain entirely distinct from the Congregational Pastors' Superannuation Fund, but shall be managed and administered in the same manner as the Pastors' Superannuation Fund, that is to say, by the Union acting through its Council and by such Committee as the Council may appoint.
- (b) In the administration of the Widows' Fund applicants who shall have paid, or on whose behalf shall have been paid, either by another person or by a Church, a sum of not less than twenty guineas shall be classed as prospective annuitants. The aforesaid twenty guineas may be paid in one sum or in any number of annual instalments not exceeding ten.
- (c) Notwithstanding the foregoing it shall be competent for not less than three-fourths of the members present at any meeting of the Committee to give priority to specially urgent cases.

THE WIDOWS' FUND.

- 5.—(a) The Widows' Fund shall be divided into a Capital Account and a Revenue Account.
- (b) The Capital Account shall consist of:
- (1) The existing Capital of the Widows' Fund.
 - (2) An annual amount of £100 to be transferred from Revenue Account as provided in Paragraph (d).
 - (3) Such a sum as shall be raised by the Union and (or) the Union of Welsh Independents.
 - (4) All legacies (except as hereinafter provided); and
 - (5) All Donations, Subscriptions, Collections and other Contributions which shall be made specifically for the Capital Account.
- (c) The Revenue Account shall consist of:
- (1) The accrued income belonging to the Widows' Fund.
 - (2) The income of the Capital of the Widows' Fund.
 - (3) All Donations, Subscriptions, Collections and other Contributions (less the said annual sum of £100) to the Widows' Fund not made specifically to the Capital Account, and
 - (4) Any legacies given specifically to the Revenue Account.

- (d) The sum of One Hundred Pounds (£100) shall be transferred from the Revenue Account to the credit of the Capital Account in each year until the Capital Account shall reach the sum of One Hundred Thousand Pounds (£100,000), and, notwithstanding the provision that all legacies not given specifically to the Revenue Account shall be credited to the Capital Account of the Widows' Fund, it shall be lawful for the Committee at or within three months after the end of any financial year at the end of which the investments and monies constituting the Capital Account shall, according to the estimate of the Committee exceed the sum of £100,000, to carry over to the Revenue Account a sum not exceeding one-half of the legacies received in that year.
- (e) It shall be lawful for the Committee, after the end of any financial year, to transfer from the Revenue Account to the Capital Account the unexpended balance of the Revenue Account or such part thereof as it may think fit.
- (f) The Annuities hereinafter provided, together with the current expenses of the Widows' Fund, shall be paid out of the Revenue Account, and out of that account only.

THE OFFICERS OF THE FUND.

6.—The Officers of the Congregational Pastors' Superannuation Fund shall be ipso facto the Officers of the Congregational Pastors' Widows' Fund, and their duties in relation to the Widows' Fund shall be the same as their duties in relation to the Pastors' Fund.

ANNUITANTS.

- 7.—(a) Every applicant for an Annuity shall be the Widow of a fully accredited Ministerial Member of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, and (or) of the Union of Welsh Independents, including Tutors and Professors in Colleges. All applications must be made on a form supplied by the Committee.
- (b) If an Annuitant shall contract another marriage her Annuity shall thereupon lapse and determine; but she shall not be disqualified from again applying should she once more become a widow.
- (c) Should circumstances be disclosed in the case of any Annuitant which would, in the first instance, have operated against the granting of an Annuity, the Committee shall have power to withdraw or suspend the same.

THE ANNUITIES.

8.—The Annuity shall be made either for life or for such other period as the Committee may decide. The amount of the Annuity shall be determined by the Committee, regard being had to the length of service of the widow's late husband and the needs of the applicant. All Annuities shall be paid half-yearly and in advance.

THE AUDITORS.

9.—The Accounts of the Widows' Fund shall be audited each year by an Accountant, and a signed copy presented to the Annual Business Meeting of the Union.

BY-LAWS.

10.—The Union shall have power to make By-Laws for the administration of the Widows' Fund.

EVANGELISTS' FRIENDLY SOCIETY.

These Rules have been approved by the Superannuation Committee of the Congregational Union, but have still to be submitted to the Registrar of Friendly Societies.

OBJECTS.

The objects of the Society shall be to provide for the relief or maintenance of the members in their old age by the provision of annuities payable to the members under the scale and conditions hereinafter appearing.

THE FUND.

The Fund shall consist of the capital sum of £30,000 subscribed by the Congregational Denomination for the objects set out in the above Clause and such other capital sums as may be provided for the same objects.

The Fund, other than the sum contributed by the members, shall be applied by the Committee towards the provision, or increase, of the annuities provided under the Rules, in such manner and to such extent as the Committee shall from time to time determine.

MEMBERSHIP.

The membership shall be divided into two Departments, to be called Department I and Department II.

Department I shall consist of Congregational Evangelists and Lay Pastors whose names appear on List B of the Congregational Union of England and Wales for the year 1922.

Department II shall consist of the like persons whose names appear for the first time on List "B" for any year subsequent to 1922.

CONTRIBUTIONS AND BENEFITS.

(I.) Every member in Department I shall be entitled on retirement from his pastorate or employment as a Congregational Evangelist (but not before he shall attain the age of 65 years) to an annuity for the remainder of his life at the rate of £1 6s. 8d. for each of the years that his name shall have appeared on List "B," but such annuity shall in no case exceed £40.

(II.) Every member in Department II shall contribute a sum of £3 per annum towards the provision of an annuity in accordance with the scale set out in the Schedule annexed. Such annuity shall be payable on his retirement from his Pastorate or employment as a Congregational Evangelist, but not before he shall attain the age of 65 years.

(III.) In the event of the decease of a member before he shall attain the age of 65 years, the contributions paid by him shall be refunded to his widow, or, if there be no widow, to his children, or if there be no widow nor children, to such person or persons as he shall nominate under Rule 8.

(IV.) In the event of the decease of any member after the date upon which he shall have become entitled to the payment of an annuity, the contributions paid by him, less the amount paid to him by way of annuity, shall be refunded to his widow, or if there be no widow, to his children, or if there be no widow nor children, to such person or persons as he shall nominate under Rule 8.

(V.) In the event of the retirement of any member from his pastorate or from his employment as a Congregational Evangelist, owing to permanent or physical incapacity, before he shall have attained the age of 65 years, there may be paid to him such an annuity as in consideration of the length of his service and the state of his health the Committee may determine.

(VI.) In the event of any member being transferred from "List B" of the Congregational Union of England and Wales to "List A," the Committee shall have power to apply the accumulated contributions made on his behalf to assure to him benefits under any superannuation scheme at that time in force for the advantage of Congregational Ministers whose names appear in "List A" of the Union.

(VII.) In the event of the name of any member ceasing to appear in "List B" of the Union before he shall have attained the age of 65 years (except owing to physical or mental incapacity, as provided for under Clause 5), the Committee shall have power to effect a settlement of any claim which he may make for the return of contributions paid by him.

RIDER TO THE RESOLUTION ON DISARMAMENT.

And this Assembly profoundly regrets that the Governments of the British Empire have, in the recent Imperial Conference, together refused to sign the aforesaid Article 36 (already signed by France and twenty-three other Powers) and have given no grounds for this momentous decision beyond stating that this fundamental measure which lies at the base of all sincere endeavours after law-ordered peace is "premature."

And this Assembly calls on all fellow subjects throughout the Empire to join in protesting against this backward step.

The Council Report (posted to delegates) was presented by the Secretary and adopted.

The following Resolution was moved by the Rev. C. Fleming Williams.

ON THE GROWING SPIRIT OF CONCILIATION IN INDUSTRY.

In view of the serious injury to human welfare—industrial, financial, social and moral—inflicted by the repeated conflicts between Capital and Labour—whether through strikes or lock-outs—we heartily rejoice in the increasing indication of a desire on the part of both employer and employed to deal with their problems in a more conciliatory spirit and to create such an organisation for consultation as may make that spirit practical and effective. We are convinced that when men are brought together in a proper spirit and with proper methods, even though they are acutely divided, their difficulties can be removed and a lasting and fruitful peace can be secured. Without desiring to discuss the merits or demerits of the Trade Union Bill we regret that its introduction should have been made the occasion for a recrudescence of bitterness and strife, and we wish it had been possible that, before a Bill was introduced, an impartial conference had been summoned to discuss any alteration that might be considered necessary in Trade Union law, and so a measure of agreement had been secured.

The following Resolution was moved by the Rev. R. J. Evans, M.A.

Seconded by the Rev. B. Vaughan Price, M.A., LL.B., and carried :—

ON THE CONTINUED HOUSING SHORTAGE.

This Assembly desires to congratulate the Municipalities and other local authorities which have made provision for the housing needs of the working classes on the work they have already done and on their continuing efforts ; and urgently recommends its members to stimulate them in their respective localities.

At the same time, whilst the present high cost of building continues and until wholesale clearance schemes can be carried out, we would call public attention to the urgent need for supplementary Housing Schemes organised on a voluntary and partly philanthropic basis, to erect new houses at less than economic rents or improve existing houses in the older and poorer quarters of our large towns ; and we invite all Christians, so far as they may be able, to share in the various existent schemes for the co-operative ownership of such houses, and to promote further schemes on similar lines.

Further the Assembly would urge those whom it represents to encourage local authorities to make full use of the powers conferred by the Housing Act of 1925.

At 2.30 p.m.—A Meeting of County Union Secretaries was held.

At 3.15 p.m.—A Meeting of County Messengers and County Secretaries was held in connection with the Special Summer Services arranged by the Chairman of the Union.

Congregational Union of England and Wales.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL FOR 1926-7.

The series of Reports which follow were discussed at the Council Meetings in Buxton in March and were adopted for presentation to the Assembly. They represent a vast amount of work on the part of the ministers and laymen who form our different Committees, and the Denomination owes more than it realises to the busy men who give so generously of their time and thought to the welfare of our churches.

The Union is now relieved of the great financial anxieties which a few years ago rested like a heavy burden upon its work. At the Memorial Hall itself there have not only been changes in the personnel, but a thorough reorganisation of method. The Rev. Maldwyn Johnes took up his office at the beginning of the year, and has already proved himself of the greatest value in all departments of the Union's work. Mr. Harold Simpson, the new Financial Secretary, has made himself master of the financial affairs of the Union, and has brought greatly increased efficiency to the spending departments. Mr. Hancock, who has served the Church Aid Society for so many years, retired at the end of March, and his long service to the smaller churches through the Church Aid Society has earned the gratitude of all. The work that he has done will now be divided between the Rev. Maldwyn Johnes and Mr. Simpson.

The industrial depression of 1926 made it a black year in the record of many of our churches. The problem of ways and means was a pressing one, while, at the same time, the distress at their doors made new claims upon them. The churches responded to the challenge with a good heart and the Denomination has reason to be proud of the quiet, steady devotion of ministers and people under trying circumstances. It is earnestly to be hoped that the cloud has now definitely passed from the country and that the shadow of want will be removed from so many homes.

The series of Reports which follow deserve careful reading on the part of all interested in the welfare of the Denomination.

Particular attention is drawn to the reply which the Council suggests should be sent to the Lambeth Appeal. It will be recalled that the Federal Council of the Free Churches representing all the Free Church Denominations has already made a reply to that Appeal, and the Denominations are now making their own separate replies giving their own distinctive points of view, and the draft included in this Report was the subject of very careful examination and close discussion at the Council meeting at Buxton.

Another Report which may be mentioned is that of the Church Extension Committee. The problem of Church Extension in the newly growing districts is one that concerns all Congregationalists, and there is no more urgent problem which faces us at the present time than the task of so distributing our work as to bring within its scope the great new districts which are springing up all over the country.

REPORTS.

REPLY OF THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF ENGLAND AND WALES TO THE LAMBETH APPEAL.

We, the Delegates of the Congregational Churches of England and Wales in session assembled, send greetings to the Archbishops and Bishops of the Anglican Church, and desire to place on record our sincere appreciation of the Christian spirit which prompted their Appeal for Unity and our lively gratitude for the same. We have delayed making any formal reply so long as the official conferences arising out of the Appeal were being continued. Now that they are over for the time being, we feel it incumbent upon us to make some comments on the situation as we understand it.

1. We reciprocate with all earnestness the longing of our Anglican friends for a closer Christian unity. We, too, believe that God wills fellowship among Christian people, although we have more hope of a union based on the cultivation of friendship among differing Christian communions than of a union based on any attempt to embrace them all within one uniform system or organisation. We cannot regard the existence of separate Churches, or the variety in the expression of Christian faith and life for which they stand, as necessarily contrary to the mind of Christ: what is entirely contrary is the spirit of sectarian jealousy and dissension which has too often animated Churches in the past and must assuredly be abandoned on every hand before union can become possible.

2. We recognise that there can be no real union of fruitful fellowship apart from some agreement on the fundamentals of our Christian faith; but we must once more record our conviction that this cannot be secured by the imposition of creeds or formularies. We believe that there is a better way—the way of freedom under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. And while accepting the Scriptures as the general rule and standard of faith, and being willing that the united Church should make declaration of its faith from time to time for the help of its members and the information of those without, we would not make such declaration binding upon any, believing as we do that God has always more light and truth to break forth from His Word.

3. We recognise that the ministry of any united Church must be a ministry duly authorised by the whole Church through its representatives. We agree that this authorisation should take the form of ordination—as the recognition and ratification of the call of God to the ministry, and as the commissioning of the man so called, after due preparation, to work in a particular sphere. We cannot, however, agree that episcopal ordination should be essential to the exercise of the ministry in any united Church of which we as Congregationalists are to form part. The theory that only through the laying on of a bishop's hands can a ministry be made valid runs counter to our deepest convictions. If the office of bishop is to be retained in any united Church, we agree that it should be made purely elective and representative. We wish, moreover, that it were possible to avoid the use of this historic term, which, just because it is historic, cannot fail to suggest and perpetuate ideas as to authority and the transmission of grace from which we entirely dissociate ourselves.

4. We regret the ambiguity which has crept into the discussions on the status of existing Free Church ministries, owing to the proposal that Free Church ministers should “receive their commission to minister to the whole fellowship through episcopal ordination.” To us, this proposal does not seem to harmonise with the expressed belief of the Lambeth Conference that our ministries “possess spiritual reality,” and have been “manifestly blessed and owned by the Holy Spirit as effective means of grace”; nor with the subsequent admission that they are “real ministries of Christ's Word and Sacraments in the Universal Church.”

We should be prepared to welcome some solemn act of mutual recognition; but the proposal of ordination sub conditione cannot be accepted by us.

5. We Congregationalists are by conviction Protestant Free Churchmen. We regard the Church of Jesus Christ as a spiritual body, under His sole Headship; and we feel the State establishment and control of any Church to be a usurpation. We are sincerely anxious to know whether such a united Church as the Appeal suggests would be a free Church, in the sense of enjoying complete spiritual autonomy; and whether it would continue to be loyal to the broad principles of the Reformation. Before any further steps could be taken, we should require more definite assurance on both these points.

6. We thank God for the spirit which was manifested in your Appeal. Like you, we desire, and we are ourselves prepared for, the fullest possible co-operation in the work of the Kingdom of God between all those who love our Lord Jesus Christ. We, too, long for a deeper understanding, a closer sympathy, and a wider fellowship, especially in the solemn acts of worship, between all branches of the now divided Church. We therefore plead for closer co-operation along the lines of the Lambeth Appeal and in the spirit which it breathes ; for we are very confident that only by such means will be created that temper and atmosphere which can make re-union real and fruitful. In all the Churches people need to learn to work and worship together, and to find in their realisation of common values, the way to unity and peace. We unite with you in humble, earnest prayer that we may all more clearly discern what is the mind of Christ, entirely desiring in this, as in every other matter, to be guided by the Holy Spirit of God.

GENERAL PURPOSES COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman : SIR JAMES CARMICHAEL, K.B.E.

Vice-Chairman : MR. E. HINDLE, J.P.

Elections.—Sir James Carmichael, K.B.E., was re-elected Chairman, and Mr. E. Hindle, J.P., Vice-Chairman of the Committee, for the year.

Spring Meetings.—The year 1926 will be remembered for the grave industrial troubles which involved the whole country in distress and anxiety. The outbreak of the general strike occurring at the time originally fixed for the holding of the May Meetings made it necessary to postpone the Meetings at the last moment. A shorter series of meetings was held in June which, considering the alteration in plans, were very well attended.

The Chairman.—The health of the Chairman, the Rev. F. W. Newland, has been a matter of great concern during his year of office, and deep sympathy has been felt with him in the limitation it has set to his labours. It was gratifying that the Chairman should be able to give his address in June, and the Committee earnestly wishes him complete restoration of health and strength. The Rev. Arthur Pringle acted as Chairman in Mr. Newland's absence, and the General Purposes Committee wishes in the name of the whole Union to put on record its deep sense of gratitude to him for the great services he rendered both at the Spring and Autumnal Sessions.

Dr. J. D. Jones.—For the greater part of the year covered by this Report, Dr. J. D. Jones has been absent on a visit to Australia, New Zealand, and Travancore, doing valuable work in encouraging our churches in the Dominions and our workers in the Mission Field. The Committee recognises the great importance of these visits as forming a strong link between the churches in the Motherland and across the seas.

The Staff.—During the year the work of reorganising the staff has been proceeded with. Mr. Stancliff, who for forty-nine years served the Union, has retired from his work, although the Union temporarily retains his services as editor of the Year Book. Opportunity was taken at the Spring Meetings to express the great regard and affection in which Mr. Stancliff is held, and a gift which had been subscribed to by Congregationalists all over the country was presented to him by the Secretary. Mr. Stancliff responded in a speech which will long be remembered by all who heard it.

Another retirement which takes place in the spring of 1927 is that of Mr. Hancock, who for nearly forty-two years has served the Union in connection with the Church Aid Society and latterly with the Central Fund as well. Mr. Hancock has been a loyal and devoted servant of the Union, and suitable provision has been arranged for his retirement.

Recommendation.—The Committee recommend that Mr. Stancliff, Mr. Minshull and Mr. Hancock be elected Life Members of the Union as a mark of appreciation.

Mr. Simpson took up his duties as Financial Secretary in July, and while special reference to this appointment will be made in the report of the Finance Committee, it is gratifying to record that already great steps have been taken towards co-ordinating the work of the different Departments, and by a readjustment of rooms the Finance Department now includes the Central Fund, Church Aid and Chapel Building sections of the work, and in the near future the Superannuation Fund for ministers and widows will be brought under the same administration.

The Sub-Committee appointed to deal with the appointment of an assistant to the Secretary of the Union reached a unanimous decision in the recommendation that the Rev. Maldwyn Johnes, of Sandown, Secretary of the Hampshire Union, should be invited to fill the position. Mr. Johnes' acceptance of the invitation was announced in October, and he was enthusiastically received by the Assembly at Leicester.

The Committee, with these new appointments in mind, looks forward to increasing effectiveness in the administration of the affairs of the Union.

Circulating Libraries.—A generous gift by the Chairman of the General Purposes Committee has made it possible to inaugurate a scheme of Circulating Libraries in a large majority of the Counties, through which some of the newer books are brought within the reach of the poorer ministers. The Counties are working in close co-operation with head-quarters, and already favourable reports are being received of the working of the scheme.

Coming Meetings.—Invitations have been received during the course of the year to hold the Council Meetings in 1927 at Buxton, and in 1928 at Harrogate. An invitation has also been received from Newcastle to hold the Autumnal Session of the Union there in 1927. All these invitations have been cordially accepted.

Appointments.—During the course of the year the General Purposes Committee nominated the following representatives :—

Six members of the College Board :—Chairman and Secretary of the Union, Mr. Bernard L. Manning, M.A., Mr. Harold B. Shephard, M.A., Rev. W. Griffith Jenkins, B.A., Rev. Arthur Pringle.

Twenty-nine Congregational Representatives on the Federal Council of the Evangelical Free Churches :—Mr. Harry Barber, Rev. S. M. Berry, M.A., D.D., Mr. F. W. Buck, J.P., Sir James Carmichael, K.B.E., J.P., Mr. G. N. Ford, J.P., Rev. E. Griffith-Jones, B.A., D.D., Mrs. Frean, Rev. A. E. Garvie, M.A., D.D., Mr. Alex. Glegg, J.P., Mr. A. E. Glassey, Rev. A. J. Grieve, M.A., D.D., Sir Arthur A. Haworth, Bart., Rev. A. R. Henderson, M.A., D.D., Sir R. Murray Hyslop, J.P., Rev. W. Griffith Jenkins, B.A., Rev. J. D. Jones, C.H., M.A., D.D., Mr. J. C. Thompson, M.A., B.D., Mr. W. Mercer Wade, M.A., LL.B., Rev. David Walters, Rt. Hon. J. H. Whitley, M.P., Rev. Thomas Yates.

Alterations at the Hall.—During the year the Sub-Committee of the Memorial Hall Trustees has been considering suggestions for making the premises more suitable for the head-quarters of the Denomination. Consideration of detailed plans is in progress and it is confidently anticipated that during 1927 considerable progress will be made in the provision of better accommodation.

United Navy, Army and Air Force Board.—The work of the Board in organising religious provision for members of the federated churches in the three Services has been following a normal course during the year. The most sensational event to be recorded is in the loss by fire of the United Board Institute at Portsmouth. The fire was attended with serious danger to the inmates, but fortunately no fatality occurred. The site covered by the old institute has been sold and the insurance money, together with the proceeds of the sale, has made it possible to purchase a more suitable block of premises at Southsea, where the work is being carried on under the leadership of the Rev. W. M. Yorwerth with increasing success.

The Board wishes to express its great appreciation of the work that the Chaplains in the three Services are doing, and also of the work of the ministers who in different areas act as Officiating Chaplains.

The work of the Board depends for its effectiveness upon the churches sending information when any of their young men join the Forces so that they may be looked up immediately by some representative of the Board. Omission to do this frequently results in loss to the Denomination.

MODERATORS' REPORT.

Chairman : REV. J. D. JONES, C.H., M.A., D.D.

Terminable Pastorates.—Early in the year we were instructed by the Council to give some consideration to the question of Terminable Pastorates, that is, to discuss the desirability or otherwise of suggesting a method by which a minister's invitation to a pastorate should be for a limited and stated period, the hope being that by such means changes of pastorate might be facilitated, and the difficulties and disappointments of the present system, or lack of system, minimised.

The desirability of investigating any method for dealing more effectively with present difficulties is continually in our minds. Invitations to pastorates are usually given for an indefinite period, but occasions occur where we are confronted with the desire of churches to invite a minister for a limited time, and sometimes this has been done. We are not altogether happy about these individual and isolated attempts to avoid the difficulties of the present system. The attempt to carry out a new policy in this piecemeal fashion is calculated to inflict hardship upon ministers, and is not without serious risk of causing division in our churches. Except possibly in the case of our older ministers, who may be willing to accept such an arrangement, we feel that it is unfair to ask a minister to agree beforehand to terminate his pastorate on a given date when there is no regular system that will ensure his being invited to another pastorate when the agreed period comes to an end. In our opinion, any modification of the present system must be of general, and not merely individual application.

We have not arrived at any agreement among ourselves about the advisability of making any change in the present system. Our considered judgment upon the whole matter is that it requires further careful and exhaustive investigation. It is a question of such importance, and involves changes of such fundamental significance both to ministers and churches, that we recommend to the Council the setting up of a special committee or commission to collect information, to examine the matter in all its bearings, and to report. Any knowledge and experience possessed by the Moderators will, of course, be at the disposal of such a commission. The Council has approved the recommendation of the Moderators and has appointed a Commission of Inquiry as follows: Revs. Luke Beaumont, H. C. Carter, M.A., W. Griffith Jenkins, B.A., Prof. E. J. Price, M.A., B.D., A. Pringle, Messrs. A. E. Glassey, Owen Kentish and A. Owen Ward, J.P.

Settlements and Removals.—Meanwhile we are doing our best to facilitate changes of pastorate according to the usual methods of the Congregational Churches. We believe we have been able to do effective work in this direction, and that our assistance has been valuable both to churches and ministers. On some occasions we have been able to expedite a settlement so that the perils and difficulties of an interregnum period have been completely avoided, and before one minister has left his successor has been invited. We see no reason why such a happy solution should not more frequently be found.

We deeply sympathise with those ministers who, during the past year, have not found the change of pastorate often so urgently needed and desired. We believe that they appreciate our difficulties. We are continually mindful of their anxiety, and are ready to welcome any action that will help towards the desired end. In the amended scheme for Provinces and Moderators adopted by the Assembly in May, 1924, it is stated that the work of the Moderators is not meant to exclude "other means of effecting changes of pastorate," and it adds: "It is desirable that the Moderators should be kept informed of any introductions effected, so as to avoid overlapping." If we emphasise this, it is solely in the interests of the ministers and churches concerned. The well-meant attempt to help one minister has often led to the frustration of the hopes of another. Cases could be mentioned where everything seemed favourable to the settlement of a minister urgently desiring a change of pastorate, when the whole situation has been changed by the friendly introduction of another name. This has frequently caused a divided vote in the church meeting, and both names have had to be dropped in the interests of the unity of the church. In this delicate and difficult matter we can only hope to succeed if our efforts are co-ordinated to a much greater degree than at present obtains, and much disappointment would be avoided if the Moderator concerned were apprised of the intention to introduce a name to a vacant church in his Province. It should be remembered that while one may have a particular friend whom he specially desires to help, the Moderators, in this sense, have no "friends," but are striving to give each minister an equal opportunity.

Transfer of Church Members.—It is a matter of deep concern that members and adherents of our churches are frequently lost to us by removal to other places, and we have been asked to consider what can be done to prevent this wastage. This is a vital subject, and calls for the immediate attention of ministers and church officers. It is the universal practice of our churches to give a removing member a transfer when desired. It is essential that the principle be everywhere adopted that no member or adherent of our churches removing to another neighbourhood shall be lost sight of until he or she is definitely gathered into the fellowship of another church. This result is sometimes secured by keeping a separate list of "Non-resident Members," and by keeping in touch with them by letter until a transfer has been effected. In the case of non-members a similar procedure may be adopted. It is the clear duty of every church from which a member or adherent may be removing to communicate without delay with the nearest church in the neighbourhood where such member or adherent intends to reside, and practically everything depends upon this being done in time. The church thus informed should be equally prompt in the Christian welcome it offers to the new arrival. It would appear that in some cases members desire to retain their membership in the church they have left behind. We fully appreciate the feelings of affection for the old church that give rise to this desire, and occasionally there may be special reasons why such a request may be granted. But it cannot be too strongly urged that it is the duty of a member or adherent removing to another neighbourhood to throw in his or her lot with the church in that neighbourhood, and he or she is more likely to do this if definitely connected with it either by form of transfer, or letter of introduction, from his previous church. A sense of loyalty to the other church should cause a minister to urge this upon departing families with all possible persuasion. Forms of Transfer for members and Letters of Introduction for non-members can be obtained from the Memorial Hall, but the successful working of this arrangement can only be secured by the earnest and constant attention of the ministers and officers of the churches concerned.

Church Extension.—We wish again to express our concern at the problem which confronts us in the need for Church Extension in the new districts which are growing up. These districts are springing up very rapidly in many cases, and unless some action on a large scale is taken Congregationalism will be unrepresented in many of the new centres of population.

Encouraging Signs.—In carrying out the work entrusted to us we have the privilege of constantly visiting our churches, and often we are asked what impressions we gather concerning their life and activity. We believe that in the churches there is an increasing sense of the life and work of the whole Denomination and a deepening interest in the wider reaches of our service. The appeal of the London Missionary Society and the Colonial Missionary Society for our world-wide enterprise, with its necessity for prayer and service, and the dedication of lives and of money, has met with a gratifying, if still inadequate, response. The movement among our young people initiated by the Young People's Department is going forward with hope and enthusiasm. The Summer Campaign for the visitation of the churches, for which Mr. Meggitt and the Union are preparing, is awakening expectation, and is receiving ready and glad response from all who are asked to serve. In addition to these activities there is, we believe, in many of our churches a deepened sense of the Presence of God, and an increased desire after a public worship which is marked by heartiness, reverence, and the beauty of holiness. For all these things let us thank God, and take courage.

LEGAL COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman: MR. W. MERCER WADE, M.A., LL.B.

Mr. W. Mercer Wade, M.A., LL.B., was re-appointed Chairman of the Committee for the ensuing year.

The following cases have been completed during the year:—

Adderbury	} Deeds deposited at the Memorial Hall.
Bolsover
Haslemere Manse

Hadleigh—Deeds deposited with the Bank as security for an advance.

Felixstowe, New Manse—Deeds held by the Mortgagee.

Long Sutton Manse.

Cases in Progress.—The following trusts are in process of transference to the Union (Incorporated) as Trustee:—

Lee, Burnt Ash Lane.	Whaley Bridge.
Redhill.	Lincoln Manse.
Wirksworth.	Middleton.

New Cases.—Applications from the following Churches for the Union (Incorporated) to undertake the Trusteeship of their properties, have been accepted during the year by the Council, and the transfers are now being carried through :—

Beaconsfield.	Hythe.
Slough.	Itchington.
Church Stretton (Silvester Horne Institute).

The following properties have been, or are being, sold :—

St. Mary's, Broadstairs.	Havant Manse.
--------------------------	---------------

The New Conveyancing Acts.—The Committee are happy to say that the Law of Property (Amendment) Act, 1926, has made it possible for the Incorporated Union to act as sole Trustee, subject to the authorisation of the Lord Chancellor. The necessary authority was received on the 16th July, 1926.

The Marriage Service in Book of Congregational Worship.—The following letter has been sent out, with the authority of Somerset House, to all Congregational Ministers :—

“DEAR SIR,

“I wish to call your attention to the following important point with regard to the Order of Service for Marriage in the Book of Congregational Worship : Where a marriage is attended by the Civil Registrar, the present Registrar-General is of opinion (notwithstanding the paragraph in the preface to the Book of Congregational Worship) That for the purpose of removing doubts that have sometimes been expressed, the form of words prescribed by the Statute (6 & 7 Will. IV, c. 85, s. 20) should be strictly adhered to. The Council of the Union concur in this view and for the same reasons, though they and the Registrar-General are fully satisfied that marriages which have been celebrated with the use of the shorter form set out in the Book of Worship are in no way affected. They recommend, therefore, that the Ministers should insert at the foot of the page of the Book of Worship where the declaration occurs, the following note :—

“NOTE.—Where the marriage is attended by the Civil Registrar, the declaration is to run :—

““I call upon these persons here present to witness that I, M.M., do take thee, N.N., to be my lawful wedded wife . . .”

and similarly in the case of the declaration of the woman.

“I hope that you will make this insertion in your own copy of the Book of Worship, as cases have arisen where there have been difficulties when the shorter form has been used.

“Yours sincerely,

“SIDNEY M. BERRY.”

Benevolent Societies and Return of Income Tax.—The Secretaries of the County Unions have been informed that by a decision in the Courts on the 17th June, 1926, exemption from Income Tax on the income of their invested funds has been granted where annuities are paid to beneficiaries on the grounds of need and not as a matter of right.

Trust Funds administered by the Union.—The Committee have had under consideration the position of certain of the Funds which are administered by the Union and which are not governed by any legal instrument. It was felt that this was unsatisfactory, and Mr. Harold Shephard was accordingly instructed to report to the Committee on the whole of the Funds which are under the care of the Union and to prepare draft Declarations of Trust in respect of such Funds where necessary. The Report has been received and the draft deeds are under consideration. The Committee are co-operating with the Executive Committees of the various Funds concerned, and generally with the Finance Committee.

The authority of the Council was given to the Church Building and Extension Committee, the Church Aid and Central Fund Committee, and the General Purposes Committee to have their respective declarations of trusts sealed when the work of revising the declarations is completed to the satisfaction of these Committees.

Legacies.—The Incorporated Union has accepted the Trusteeship of the following legacies :—

Emma Elizabeth Bynon—£600 2½ per cent. Consols, upon trust to pay the income to the Minister of Clyro Church.

Leman—Belmont Mission.

Newbury—Ministers' Fund.

The Committee record with great pleasure the addition to their membership of Mr. Arthur Binns. They are confident that his expert knowledge of all questions in regard to Income Tax will be of invaluable assistance.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman : SIR R. MURRAY HYSLOP, J.P.

Vice-Chairman : MR. J. C. MEGGITT, J.P.

Affiliation Fees and Associate Members.—In presenting the financial accounts of the Union for the past year, the Committee once again thank the Churches for the loyal support which they have so generously given. The Affiliation Fees received during the past year have exceeded by more than £500 the amount contributed in 1925, and this response in the face of the industrial trouble which has made the year 1926 so unhappily memorable is most encouraging. The Committee, however, feel that any further expansion in the income of the Union can only come from an increase in the number of Associate Members, and they appeal to all who have the welfare of the Denomination at heart to add their names to the roll and thus help in the progressive work which the Union has in hand.

Financial Secretary.—The Committee, having received the Council's approval that a Financial Secretary should be appointed, proceeded at once by public advertisement to invite applications for the position. Over one hundred applications were received and considered by a sub-committee. By processes of elimination these applications were reduced to seven, and as the result of interviews were further reduced to three. The sub-committee then decided that the three applicants should appear before the full committee, which unanimously decided to recommend to the Assembly the appointment of Mr. Harold Simpson. The appointment of Mr. Simpson was approved by the Assembly, and he commenced his duties early in July last.

The Committee record their appreciation of the professional and administrative ability and tactfulness shown by Mr. Simpson in a position of delicacy and difficulty. Already the fruits of the policy pursued by the Committee are beginning to show in the increased efficiency of the administration.

Mr. Hancock.—As from December 31st, 1926, the financial duties hitherto devolving upon Mr. Hancock in the Church Aid and Central Fund Departments have been taken over by Mr. Simpson. Mr. Hancock retires on pension in March, 1927, after serving the Union faithfully for forty-two years.

Policy of the Committee.—The policy of the Committee is gradually to bring the whole financial administration of all departments under the control of the Financial Secretary. The effect of this policy will ultimately be a considerable reduction in the cost of administration.

It must be borne in mind, however, that the work of administration of the finances of the Union was never greater nor more onerous than it is to-day, and it is certain to increase in the future. For instance, of the £460,000 allocated from the Forward Movement £360,000 remains under the control of the Union and the proper records of investments and changes of investments in respect of the various trusts have to be kept and the income from investments duly received and properly recorded and disbursed.

Legacies, etc.—The Committee desire to report the receipt of the following legacies: Exors. of Miss D. M. Crosfield, deceased, £1,000, and Exors. of Mr. E. J. Paine, deceased, £25, both of which have been added to the Capital Account of the Union, as also the receipt of £50, fees for Life Membership.

An anonymous gift of £105 has been added to the Staff Superannuation Fund.

Forward Movement.—The primary allocations of the Forward Movement Fund have now been met, and as to £100,000 have passed out of the control of the Union, viz. :—

London Missionary Society	£75,000
Colonial Missionary Society	25,000
	£100,000

Investments have been made in respect of £360,000 and allocated to the following Trust Funds (under the control of Union committees) :—

Pastors' Superannuation	£150,000
Pastors' Widows	50,000
Schools for Ministers' Sons and Daughters..	50,000
Moderators	50,000
Head-quarters	40,000
List "B" Superannuation	20,000

Independent Press, Ltd.—The formation of "Independent Press, Ltd." to take over the business of the Publication Department was referred to in the last Report.

This Company has already declared an interim dividend on account of the year 1926 of $12\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., and the amount of this dividend, less income tax deducted (which will be recovered), has been credited to Interest and Dividends Account.

Staff Superannuation.—The Committee has pleasure in reporting that the Staff Superannuation Scheme was ratified by the Assembly at the Autumnal Meetings at Leicester, and an Account and Balance Sheet of this Fund are appended. It will also be observed that an item appears in the general expenditure for the year under the heading of "Pensions." This item will occur regularly in future, and will represent the annuities which are not provided for by the Staff Superannuation Fund, but such annuities will, of course, disappear in process of time. Reference to the Staff Superannuation Fund would not be complete without an expression of the Committee's appreciation of the work that Mr. Binns has done in undertaking the negotiations with the Inland Revenue for the recognition by them of this Fund—negotiations which have been completely successful.

United Board Institute.—In June of last year, the premises at 88, Queen Street, Portsea, where the Rev. W. M. Yorwerth was carrying on the work of the United Board, were destroyed by fire. Out of the proceeds of the insurance money, the loan from the bank of £4,000 has been repaid, and new premises at 27, Western Parade, Southsea, have been acquired and completely equipped. The site of the old premises has been sold to the Portsmouth Welfare Association, but there has been some delay in the completion of the sale. When the balance of the sale price is received, there will be an amount of approximately £2,800 available for investment, the income from which will provide some £140 per annum towards the annual grant of £250 which has been voted by the United Board for the maintenance of the Institute.

Blake Estate.—Mr. Geen (Executor of the Blake Estate and a member of this Committee) has during the year acquainted the Committee with the progress made in the realisation of the Estate and as to the policy which he is pursuing in the administration thereof. The sincere thanks of the Committee are given to Mr. Geen, and a further report will be made to the Council when matters are sufficiently advanced.

Thanks.—In closing their report, the Committee thank the Council for their adoption of the recommendations which have as their objective the provision of an administrative organisation, adequate to the needs of the present, and so devised as to be capable of ready expansion as the work of the Union extends.

CHURCH BUILDING AND EXTENSION COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman : SIR JAMES CARMICHAEL, K.B.E.

Vice-Chairman : MR. W. MERCER WADE, M.A., LL.B.

Schemes.—During the year Church Extension schemes have sprung up in different localities and especially in some of the larger towns where Congregationalists are reviewing the whole situation in the locality from the point of view of the Denomination rather than of the single church. Among such schemes mention may be made of Cardiff, Manchester and Birmingham, while in other localities there has been a notable revival of interest in the whole question of Church Extension. Unfortunately, owing to the fact that the total amount promised to the Forward Movement has not yet been paid in, the Committee have found it impossible to go further in raising by private appeal the Fund which was mentioned in last year's Report and which the Council sanctioned. It will be recalled that that private Fund was to be used to make challenge gifts to different localities and that the Fund was to be restricted to actual Church Extension work. The Committee still adhere to the policy of raising such a Fund. It is obvious, however, that even if there were a considerable Fund of that kind in existence the main burden would fall on the localities themselves. This is the way in which Congregational churches have been formed in the past, and the Committee feel that all future policy for Church Extension must follow the same lines. It must rest on Congregational Boards in our larger towns and cities and upon our County Unions to inaugurate such work, while it is hoped that in future years a Fund may be available at Head-quarters which may be used for contributing a certain proportion of the amount raised locally for approved schemes.

The Need for Extension.—The Committee wish to impress on the Council and, through the Council, on Congregationalists all over the country the urgent importance of this question. It is one on which depends the future vitality of the Denomination. If we are not represented in the new districts which are rapidly springing up everywhere it must be a source of fatal weakness in the future. Therefore the Committee press upon Congregationalists the duty of making a careful investigation in their own neighbourhoods, and if nothing else can be done the Committee recommend them to secure suitable sites and to hold them until it is possible to start building operations. At the same time it is quite clear to the Committee that the policy of putting up new buildings must go hand in hand with a courageous policy in disposing of properties where effective work is no longer possible owing to changed conditions.

Help given.—In carrying out the administration of the Fund at present in existence the Committee have to report that 65 cases have engaged the attention of the Committee during the past year, to 30 of which £7,307 was voted in financial assistance. The actual payments amounted to £5,722, of which £5,550 was by way of loans and the balance of £172 in grants. The sum of £20,607 is now out on loan among 157 churches, while a further sum of £9,630 has been promised conditionally towards 41 other schemes when they mature.

New Causes.—Several important undertakings have been launched this year, notably the handsome new church at Crowstone, Westcliff-on-Sea, which cost over £30,000, and was formally opened by our Chairman in June. New buildings have also been completed and opened at Cherryhinton Road, Cambridge, and Moorland Road, Weston-super-Mare, to which the Committee have given liberal financial help. To the Essex Congregational Union also a loan of £250 has been voted towards securing suitable sites for urgent cases of Church Extension in the County.

The Committee desire to acknowledge with special thanks a generous donation of £100 from the Congregational Insurance Company, and also the receipt of a legacy of £200 from the estate of the late Mrs. Royce, of Oakham.

INDEPENDENT PRESS, LIMITED.

DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR 1926.

Chairman : MR. JAMES O'HANLON.

Vice-Chairman : MR. STANLEY UNWIN.

Sales.—In presenting to the Council their report of the year's working the Directors are happy to record steady and satisfactory progress. In spite of industrial conflicts and commercial depression, the sales in 1926 rose to a total of £21,861—an increase of £1,461 over the previous year. In 1925 the total sales reached £20,400, and in 1924 £20,760. Such a result is distinctly encouraging.

The sales of our editions of hymn books and service books in 1926 show an increase of £1,346. The newly published "School Worship" is winning marked popularity. Over 27,000 copies have been sold, in addition to editions of 29,000, with special title page, taken by the "Psalms and Hymns Trust" of the Baptist Churches.

The Staff.—The Directors desire to express their appreciation of the loyal and effective service rendered by their staff, under the admirable leadership of Mr. C. F. Garrood.

The Directors have arranged with the Finance Committee of the Union for their whole staff to be included in the Committee's contributory Superannuation Scheme.

Bank Loan.—During 1926 the Directors have been able to pay off the Bank Loan of £1,500 with which they began the year.

Profits.—The whole profits of the "Independent Press" are devoted to the funds of the Union. In October, 1926, the Directors declared an interim dividend for the current year of 12½ per cent., and this dividend (amounting to £953 17s. 6d. less income tax, which is recoverable by the Union) has been paid to the Treasurer of the Union.

On January 1st, 1927, after discharging all liabilities to the end of November, the Directors had a Bank Balance of £1,576.

New Publications.—The publications of the "Independent Press" during the year have included :—

New editions of "A Popular History of the Free Churches" and "The Romance of Preaching," by C. Silvester Horne. The former of these has been brought up to date by a supplementary chapter, written by Dr. Peel, which is also published separately.

A booklet on "Private Prayer," by the Rev. Dr. A. Herbert Gray and the Rev. George Barclay.

A booklet on "The Communion Service," by Maurice L. Harper, M.C.

A booklet on "Positive Protestantism," by Dr. W. B. Selbie.

Two Text-books written for the Young People's Department :—

“The Reformation,” by the Rev. A. Norman Rowland, M.A.

“The Monk Who Shook the World,” by the Rev. W. Melville Harris, M.A.

The Congregational Year Book, 1927.—This has been revised and improved, according to the resolutions adopted by the Council of the Union at Leicester last October. The bulk of the volume has been reduced by 54 pages, while several new features have been introduced.

The Congregational Quarterly.—This excellent Review has maintained and established its position, and Dr. Peel and the Editorial Board are to be congratulated on the fact that it is paying its own way. It demands and deserves wider support from Congregationalists everywhere.

BALANCE SHEET, 31st December, 1926.

NOTE.—There was an ascertained Capital Liability to the Staff Superannuation Fund as on 1st July, 1926, of £1,933 0s. 0d. of which one-tenth has been provided to date.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

To the Shareholders of INDEPENDENT PRESS LTD:

We hereby report that we have obtained all the information and explanations we have required. We have audited the above Balance Sheet, and, in our opinion, it is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the Books of the Company.

“WORK AMONGST THE YOUNG” COMMITTEE.

Chairman : REV. W. CHARTER PIGGOTT.

Vice-Chairman : REV. LUKE BEAUMONT.

The Campaign.—Following an inquiry made by means of a questionnaire into the condition of our Sunday Schools, a Campaign was inaugurated by a resolution in the last Annual Assembly of the Congregational Union, and subsequently a letter was sent to every Church, asking for a fresh effort to be made to do fuller justice to the needs of the children.

In every county a Young People's Secretary and Committee have been urging the Churches to join in this movement to secure the children of to-day for the Church of to-morrow.

To concentrate the thought of the whole Church upon this effort, March 20th–26th is being observed as “Sunday School Week.” It is hoped, however, that this will not be the goal of the Campaign, but a fresh starting point for the development of all work among Young People.

The Autumnal Meetings at Leicester.—Wednesday, October 13th, was a notable day for the Young People's Department, as the entire morning session was assigned to the consideration of the work of Christian Education.

The subject was laid before the Assembly by the Revs. W. Charter Piggott, Luke Beaumont and Dr. Grieve. A luncheon was given by Sir Edward Sharp, Bart., to those who can do so much in the counties to see that work among the young occupies a larger measure of the Church's thought.

A New Training Centre for Sunday School Teachers.—The Young People's Department has taken a leading part in the organisation of an inter-denominational Training Centre for London Sunday School Teachers, who are unable to leave their occupations, and yet desire to be better equipped for their work among the young.

With the co-operation of the Whitefields Council and Sunday School, the Moorfields Hall of this Central Mission has been secured for lectures, which were begun last autumn with ninety students.

It is hoped that other cities will establish similar centres, so that the desire of numbers of Sunday School workers to become more efficient may be more fully met.

Easter Conference.—A Conference for Congregational Sunday School workers at Mansfield College last Easter, which was attended by 120 students, was so successful that it is being repeated in the same place through the kindness of the Principal and the College Board.

Competitions.—Through the generosity of Mr. J. C. Meggitt, J.P., a competition on “How to Improve our Sunday Schools” was arranged last autumn for workers in Congregational Churches and Schools.

The results of the competition are :—

- First Prize .. Miss Elizabeth Nevitt, B.A., Chadwick Mount, Liverpool.
Second Prize .. Mr. George A. Carr, Felling.
Third Prizes .. Rev. J. Arnold Quail, M.A., B.D., Mansfield.
Miss Dorothy Davison, Withington, Manchester.

While the unanimity of the writers as to the value of grading to our schools was noticeable, the utmost stress was laid on the importance of the personality of the teacher, and also on definiteness of aim in teaching. It is generally felt that our Sunday Schools have forces arrayed against them that make it imperative that we should see that our work is able to stand firmly against them, and prevail.

Examinations.—"The Reformation" was the subject of the Examination in 1926, and, in spite of the difficulty of grasping so vast a subject, most of the candidates were so well trained that in the Essay Competition there were only 7 failures, while 18 obtained Honours, 23 were in the First Division and 17 in the Second; in the Senior Division (for those over eighteen) only 31 failed, while there were 3 in the Honours Division, 59 in the First Class, and 77 in the Second Class.

In the Intermediate Section (for those fifteen and under eighteen) there were only 44 failures, while 28 passed with Honours, 108 in the First Class, and 141 in the Second Class.

1,291 sat for the Upper Junior Division (for those twelve and under fifteen), out of which 328 failed, while 39 passed with Honours, 283 in the First Class, and 641 in the Second Class.

741 sat for the Lower Junior Division (for those under twelve), and there were 160 failures; 29 passed with Honours, 267 were in the First Class, and 285 in the Second Class.

The following were the winners of the First Prizes :—

- Essay Elizabeth Nevitt, B.A., Chadwick Mount,
Liverpool.
Senior Division Doris J. Mason, Chadwick Mount,
Liverpool.
Intermediate Division .. Lilian M. Youds, Ormskirk Street,
St. Helens.
Upper Junior Division.. Lilian Dawson, Stead Memorial, Willington Quay.
Lower Junior Division.. Kathleen Brittle, Lowther Street, Kendal.

The winners of the Christian World prizes are :—

Essay	Edna Singleton, Dulwich Grove.
Senior Division ..	Annie Trim, Boscombe.
Intermediate Division ..	Madie Haworth, Fairhaven.
Upper Junior Division ..	Sydney Myers, Otley.
Lower Junior Division ..	Elsie A. Pyall, Ebenezer, Chatham.

The subject this year will be "Congregationalism," and in 1928 John Bunyan," that year being the tercentenary of his birth.

CENTRAL FUND AND CHURCH AID COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman: MR. F. N. TRIBE, J.P.

Interim Grants.—The Central Fund and Church Aid Committee held Interim Meetings and dealt with applications received after the date of the last meeting of the Council. These were not so numerous as in the previous year, and a list of additional grants then made is appended.

Officers.—Mr. Frank N. Tribe, J.P., was re-elected Chairman and Mr. G. N. Ford, J.P., continued the valuable service he has rendered for so many years as Treasurer.

Grants.—The apportionment of available funds amongst the applicants for assistance is no easy task, but the Committee dealt with all applications with the greatest possible care, and none was refused, though in some cases it was not in the power of the Committee to give the full amounts asked for. All appeals were passed by the respective County Unions, and were then considered in consultation with the Moderators, and the Committee believe that the grants made, which they now submit for confirmation, are just and reasonable.

Income and Expenditure.—As reported in 1926 many grants for that year had to be somewhat cut down because of shortage of funds, but even then the Committee feared that the accounts for the year would show that they had been made on too generous a scale and that Income would prove to have been much overspent. They are glad, however, to say that, as regards the Central Fund, their fears proved to be exaggerated, and it will be seen on reference to the accounts that the adverse balance is only £9 0s. 10d. But that is not the case with the Church Aid Society. There is a constant tendency in these days to replace List A men by those on List B. This results in a transference of the burden of claims from the Central Fund to the Church Aid Society, which alone can give grants to List B men. There was, as a matter of fact, a loss on Income Account of £196 17s. 9d., but the Committee made a grant in aid from the Bowdler Fund of £300, and this enables them to show a credit balance of £103 2s. 3d. for the year. Such a grant can only be exceptional, and in considering the grants for 1927 the Committee did not reckon upon help from this source. By arrangement, however, with some of the County Unions the Committee were able to transfer some grants from the Church Aid Society to the Central Fund, and they hope that if the grants as now submitted are confirmed the Income and Expenditure for the year may approximately balance.

Insurance of Churches.—The Committee believe that the resolution passed last year, making grants dependent upon the County Unions being satisfied that Churches and Manses are adequately insured, has justified itself, for they find a marked improvement in this respect.

Diminishing Grants.—It should be reiterated that grants from these Funds must not be looked upon as in the nature of endowments, but that Churches must expect that there shall be a gradual reduction, except in special cases. So only can means be found to meet new claims. The present is an exceptionally difficult time, and your Committee have therefore not thought they should deal with this matter now, but when conditions improve it must be taken into serious consideration.

Legacies.—In the course of the year the Committee were very thankful to receive two legacies—£899 12s. 6d. from the estate of Miss Shelly and £200 from Mrs. Royce. These have been invested in the purchase of £1,445 9s. 10d. $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Conversion Stock.

Trust Deed.—The funds of the Church Aid Society have never been formally put in Trust, and there has been no distinction between Capital and Revenue. Any surplus has been added to the Accumulated Fund, and any deficiency has been charged against it. The Finance and Legal Committees of the Union had this under their consideration, and thought it very unsatisfactory, and they accordingly approached your Committee with a suggestion that a Trust Deed should be formed with the Union as Trustee.

Your Committee felt that this was a proper course of action and, subject to the approval of the Council, they have carefully considered and accepted such a deed. They did not think it would be wise to tie up in trust the whole of the money belonging to the Society, as that would unduly cripple them in the administration of the Fund, but they have agreed that the sum of £39,000 shall be put into Trust as Capital, and that the balance of £1,551 10s. 5d. shall be treated as Income available for the general purposes of the Fund. The Council approved this recommendation.

Mr. W. W. Hancock.—After more than forty years of faithful and valued service under the Rev. W. F. Clarkson and the Rev. J. E. Flower, and afterwards as Departmental Secretary, Mr. Hancock has arrived at the time when, under the Rules of the Union, he retires from active service. Your Committee have been able to make adequate and satisfactory arrangements to that end, and Mr. Hancock's retirement takes effect as from March 31st. The Committee hand over to the Congregational Union of England and Wales the sum of £520 13s. 7d. standing to the credit of the Church Aid Superannuation Fund and undertake to pay to the Union annually the amount now paid to Mr. Hancock as salary, so long as the retiring allowance is payable, and in return the Union will pay to Mr. Hancock the agreed allowance.

Bowdler Fund.—The Arthur Clegg Bowdler Sustentation Fund has again proved of great service in enabling the Committee to deal with a considerable number of cases of urgent need and great distress. As stated earlier in the Report, a grant was made from this Fund in aid of the Church Aid Society's funds. Such a grant seems fully in the spirit of a gift for the help of Ministers. No remittance has been received in the course of the year from the Executors of the Will of Mr. Bowdler, but when they are able to realise the remainder of the property it is hoped that a substantial further amount may be available, when, of course, there will be additional Income for the purposes of the Trust.

FORWARD MOVEMENT COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman: REV. J. D. JONES, C.H., M.A., D.D.

State of the Fund.—The year under review has seen a gradual increase of the Fund, which at the beginning of 1927 reached the total of £473,388 19s. 9d., as compared with £422,396 12s. 6d. at the beginning of 1926.

Owing to the new valuation of certain shares that were given to the Fund the total of the promises announced at the Albert Hall has to be reduced by £10,000. It will thus be seen that the amount of promises unfulfilled up to date is £17,639 5s. 0d.

Original Allocations.—All the original allocations, totalling £460,000, have now been made. The London Missionary Society and the Colonial Missionary Society have received the full amounts promised to them. The Ministerial Superannuation Fund and the Widows' Fund are now in operation, and while the grants may fall below the level of certain expectations which had been formed, the new resources available have helped to lift an intolerable burden from the lives of old ministers. The Schools Fund is now in operation, while the Headquarters Fund has enabled the general work of the Union to proceed on a sound financial basis.

Additional Allocations.—The results actually achieved fully justify the great effort which the Denomination made to raise the Fund. It is, however, a matter of urgency that the amount outstanding should be paid in as quickly as possible, especially when it is remembered that a further provisional allocation has been made by the Assembly of £25,000 to the Ministerial Superannuation Fund and £10,000 to the List B. Superannuation Fund. These further amounts are necessary to enable those two Funds to do their work efficiently, and it is hoped that individuals and Churches will redeem their unfulfilled promises as soon as possible.

The Commissioners.—Opportunity was taken at the Leicester Meetings, by the hospitality of Mr. F. S. Brice, J.P., to entertain the Commissioners at lunch, when an enthusiastic expression of the thanks of the Denomination was given to them for the great work that they had done in helping to raise the Fund.

A MISSIONARY REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

This report deals with the whole missionary enterprise of our Congregational Churches, and is, therefore, a joint report of the work of the London Missionary Society and the Colonial Missionary Society, for to those two bodies has been entrusted the missionary enterprise of our Denomination.

The missionary responsibilities of the Congregational Union are literally world-wide. The representatives of our Congregational Churches are in all great lands, and the Gospel of Jesus Christ is being taught by them throughout Australasia and Canada, in the great countries of Africa and India, in the scattered islands of the South Pacific, in the West Indies and British Guiana, in Madagascar and over the great land of China.

The work of the Societies in their various fields of effort makes them responsible wholly or in part for the support of 360 European missionaries and a whole army of native colleagues in the various lands of service. The work under their charge is pastoral and evangelical, and in many centres large educational institutions and a number of hospitals are established. The missionary ships, the John Williams, together with the John Cunningham and the Mary Cunningham and a fleet of motor-boats and house-boats used in carrying the messengers of the Gospel to outlying parts of the world and inland mission stations, are also sustained by their funds.

The history of the widespread adventures for the Gospel which have brought so many important missionary centres of life and great Christian Churches overseas into being, is one long romance. It is a part of our wondrous Congregational heritage and one for which we give God thanks.

The maintenance of this work places upon our people a grave, God-given responsibility. Hundreds of men and women who have been nourished in our Churches and many thousands of their associates in Christian service look from afar to British Congregationalism for support and fellowship. Failure to sustain adequately their labours is a failure in Christian brotherhood and a neglect of spiritual responsibility.

During the year both of our Societies have received the final payments of the monies raised for missionary work in connection with the Forward Movement, and would express their gratitude to the Denomination for the place given to Missions in that Movement and also in the many appeals which were made in connection with the Fund. In spite of this financial help, we have to report that the missionary work of our Denomination cost £25,000 more than was received by the Societies. They are, however, hoping by means of their special campaigns so to quicken the interest of our Church members in the world-wide appeal that there will be a more adequate response to the challenge which comes from all parts of the world.

The cry of our missionary brethren and sisters has been again this year one of appeal for closer sympathy and more loyal support. The missionary enterprise is becoming an expression in concrete form of that larger Congregationalism of which we have caught but a faint vision.

A glance at the reports of our Missionary Societies shows definite progress in the preaching of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, the extension and deepening of Church life, a great ministry of healing and the widespread education of the young. In addition to the steady addition to overseas Church membership, our missionary representatives have brought into the growing and united Church life of developing lands those principles of Christian experience to which our Congregational Churches expressly witness, and which are our providential and particular gift to the Church Universal. Whilst we still stand where the pioneer independent stalwarts of a past day stood in the assurance of the Master's presence with the two or three gathered together in His Name, we believe that behind the two or three there was present in the mind of Christ the coming Kingdom of God and the gathering into its fellowship of multitudes who would be collectively conscious of His presence and will, and would unite to carry these to the waiting world. Nowhere is great Christian statesmanship more vital than in our fields of missionary endeavour.

Difficulties of no mean order have been and are still the lot of our missionaries in China, where political changes have brought varied and intricate problems to the European and Chinese leaders of the Church and have severely tested the loyalty of the rank and file of the Churches. In Africa also the Church community, Native, Coloured, and European, has been called upon to face times of special trial and to deal with far-reaching racial and religious problems. A sense of spiritual kinship with the Churches in the homeland is a great strength to all those engaged in responsible Christian service overseas, and we may be grateful for the closer knitting together of our home and foreign Churches.

An increase in the knowledge of the world problems of our faith and a closer identification of our Churches with them, expressed both in interest and prayer by the ministry and the membership of the Churches at home, deepens the hope that a large volume of personal service may be forthcoming from the youth of Congregationalism. A growth in the missionary ministry of our Church is one of its vital needs. It is satisfactory to report a large and hopeful extension of interest and service in missionary endeavour on the part of young people in our home Churches. The carrying of Christian conviction and service into every land to which our people are taken by claims of business or of pleasure is a definite Christian responsibility. It is this which marks the living Missionary Church.

Promising as the advance of the year has been, we have scarcely begun to touch the problem presented to our Church by a world largely unevangelised and truly lacking Christian leadership and teaching. Financial difficulties are but a symbol of the real need. The awakening of the whole Church to its definite responsibility for the salvation of the world has yet to take place; and while we offer thanks to God for all that it has been given to the faithful among its people to accomplish, it may well be the prayer of our Congregational Union that a deep and widespread revival of spiritual life may come to equip our people for the tremendous task which lies before them in our far-flung fields of Christian service.

London Missionary Society: Home Secretary—Rev. Nelson Bitton, 48, Broadway, S.W.1.

Colonial Missionary Society: Secretary—Rev. A. G. Sleep, 20, Memorial Hall, Farringdon Street, E.C.4.

The foregoing statement was received by the Council with great gratification both for its own sake and as an indication of the increasing concern of the Denomination for the work of the Missionary Societies.

SUPERANNUATION COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman : REV. J. D. JONES, C.H., M.A., D.D.

During 1926 fifty-four fresh annuitants have been added to the Fund. Nineteen annuitants have died, and two have relinquished their annuities. The present number of annuitants is three hundred and twenty-six. The increased grants made possible by the Forward Movement have brought relief to many of our retired ministers, and while the grants are not as large as the Committee would wish to make them, the present scale is the highest that is possible with the resources now in hand. It is to be hoped that the additional £25,000 provisionally allocated from the surplus of the Forward Movement will before long be available for the purposes of superannuation.

During the year a great deal of time has been spent by the Committee in inquiring into the possibilities of forming a Contributory Superannuation Scheme. Full facts as to the situation in its financial aspects were given by Mr. Owen Kentish at the Autumnal Assembly at Leicester. The Committee owes a deep debt of gratitude to Mr. Kentish for all his labour in making the necessary calculations and for the admirable clearness with which he set forth the facts. Unfortunately the statement revealed the greatly increased resources that would be needed to set on foot a Contributory Scheme. Further inquiries are proceeding with the object of discovering whether a Contributory Scheme of any kind is within the range of practical possibility, and a further report will be made to the Council at Buxton.

The List B Superannuation Fund has been put into operation, and the present number of annuitants is twenty-three. The Committee wishes to emphasise the fact that to make the present Scheme actuarially sound the further £10,000 allocated to this Fund from the Forward Movement is an absolute necessity.

THE WIDOWS' FUND.

In connection with the Pastors' Widows' Fund, a further forty-seven widows have been added during the year ; thirteen annuitant widows have died, and two annuities have been relinquished on re-marriage. The present number of annuitants is two hundred and thirty-one. In connection with the Widows' Fund it is disappointing that the grants to widows are on such a small scale, but the Committee again wishes to emphasise the fact that all the resources of the Fund are being used and that the reason for the smallness of the grants is the larger number of widows who have become beneficiaries.

THE CONGREGATIONAL PASTORS' SUPERANNUATION FUND

(with which is incorporated "The Congregational Pastors' Retiring Fund Association").

LITERATURE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman : REV. A. PEEL, M.A., LITT.D.

Statement of Congregational Principles.—The Literature Committee has devoted special attention during the year to the preparation of a Statement of Congregational Principles to replace a leaflet now out of print. This has taken much time, but is now ready.

MSS.—The members of the Committee act as readers of MSS. sent to them from the Independent Press. During the year a large number have been submitted to them, but in the main they have been declined, a good many on the ground that there was not sufficient prospect of a sale to justify publication.

New Publications.—In addition to the books recorded as published during the year in the Report of the "Independent Press" there are now in the press booklets by the Rev. D. W. Langridge on "The Second Coming," and by Principal Kiek on "Biblical Criticism: What it is and what it is not," and a volume by Dr. Peel, "One Hundred Eminent Congregationalists." In preparation is the Rev. K. L. Parry's "Protestant Principles."

Plans for other works are under consideration.

Church Bookstalls.—The Committee is in constant touch with the Independent Press and is discussing with them the possibility of making provision for the sale of literature in Church vestibules. It is thought that our churches might do a great deal to increase interest in religious and denominational literature if they were equipped with racks or bookstalls.

The "Congregational Quarterly."—The "Congregational Quarterly" has had another good year and has now a secure place among the quarterly periodicals. Several such journals have been discontinued in the last two or three years owing to lack of support, and it is pleasing that our "Congregational Quarterly" seems now to be well established.

The Chairman.—The hearty thanks of the Council were accorded to Dr. Peel for his services to the Denomination through the "Congregational Quarterly."

EDUCATION COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman : REV. A. PEEL, M.A., LITT.D.

The Education Committee met after the Buxton Council, and prepared the following statement on educational policy.

The Education Committee, in view of the general consideration which is being given to the subject of education at the present time, and conscious of the influences which are being exerted to modify and even to reorganise our educational administration, feels that this is the proper time to make perfectly clear certain principles which should be kept in view in any attempt to secure a national agreement :—

1. The Committee is convinced of the value of religious instruction and is willing that it should form part of a national system of education, but it is opposed to the present system of dual control which has proved to be wasteful in administration and detrimental to educational efficiency, and a grave injustice to such parents as are compelled to use schools controlled by religious denominations to which they do not belong.
2. The Committee holds that any non-provided school which may for any reason be transferred to the L.E.A. should be administered in all respects as to religious instruction, the appointment of teachers, and the appointment of Managers, as a provided school.
3. The Committee believes that religious instruction should be a normal subject of tuition alongside and of equal status with other subjects under the safeguard of a Conscience Clause for children for whom exemption is desired by their parents. It should be given by the teachers themselves as part of the ordinary school course and without any external interference, but subject to the usual supervision exercised in relation to other subjects.
4. Such teachers should be fully qualified, and all Training Colleges should be required to provide facilities for training in religious instruction for such student teachers as might be willing to take the subject. No teacher should be compelled to give religious instruction, and the Committee is absolutely opposed to religious tests for teachers.
5. The Committee believes that it would be possible, with goodwill on all sides, to devise in every area, as has already been done in some areas, an agreed syllabus which would ensure adequate instruction in Bible knowledge.
6. The task of winning the children for Jesus Christ and the service of His Kingdom belongs not to the State but to the Church. Schools which are definitely Church Schools, where the aim of religious teaching is the initiation into a Divine Society, must be provided and maintained by the Church. The use of public money, without full public control, to maintain such schools is to us an intolerable injustice, and any attempt to magnify or even to perpetuate that injustice will be deeply resented and strongly opposed.

WOMEN'S GUILD REPORT.

Chairman: COUNCILLOR MRS. ALDERTON, J.P.

Guild Progress.—It is only possible to survey the work of the past year in the light of the expression given by Guild Secretaries and Presidents who are in touch with local centres where the influence of the Guild Movement has been evident. Two new County Guilds have recently become fully organised after three years of steady effort and co-operation between Head-quarters and local Secretaries. The Hampshire, and Durham and Northumberland County Guilds are making their influence felt in many Denominational interests. In the Women's Guild of the Kent County Association, District Conferences have been held that have afforded opportunities for influence in areas where the Churches need the spirit of fellowship and co-operation. The Leicestershire County Guild is in process of re-organisation, and we are glad to report that sympathetic co-operation between the Secretaries of County Unions and the Officials of the Women's County Guilds is increasing. In the counties of Dorsetshire, Devonshire, Lincolnshire, Somersetshire, Sussex and in North Wales, Guilds have been formed and the experience of this year encourages the belief that these separate Guilds are an early preparation for the development of County Guilds later on. There have been ten new Associate and seven new Personal Members added to the list this year. Thirteen new Branches have been formed, and three Women's Meetings, and two Working Parties have affiliated.

Policy.—The policy of the Guild Movement is, first of all to strengthen and develop the work of the individual Church. This invariably forms a Centre in which it is possible to cultivate allegiance and support in the work of the County, and so create a definite link with the aims of the Denomination as a whole. The reports of work received from various Centres have proved that the immediate result of the Guild spirit is the extension of the Church's interest in local affairs, in Civic, National, and International Movements, and the Guild Meetings provide Centres of education and fellowship for all the women members of a Church. There has been an additional feeling of security and stability since the Congregational Union has supported the finance of this Department. Growth involves expenditure, and it is hoped that this much needed financial support will return after many days in added power to the whole Denomination and increased understanding of its possible contribution to the upbuilding of the Kingdom of God.

The "Quarterly News Sheet."—This periodical increases in popularity and is eagerly supported by Guild Members throughout the country. Its circulation of 1,000 copies each quarter provides a bond of fellowship and information between scattered members and branches. The cost of printing is covered by payments from Guild branches and members. A new Pamphlet on Organisation and Policy has been compiled and circulated in large numbers.

Girls' Guilds.—In response to requests from Guild leaders and Secretaries, the Committee have decided to recommend the formation of Girls' Guilds as Junior Branches of the Women's Guild Movement, in Churches and areas where no other organisation for young women is in being. This organisation for younger women has proved to be eminently useful in the Lancashire County Guild. A card of membership is available with the Girls' Guild prayer printed upon it, that is intended to provide a token of membership, and the spiritual link that is the central idea in its formation. This effort was made after many requests from local branches, and careful consideration by the Committee, and it is already providing the means whereby older girls and young married women can co-operate in the kind of fellowship that appeals to them as distinct from the interests of older women.

Conferences, etc.—Our Chairman, Councillor Mrs. Alderton, has been unfailing in her service as a public speaker at County Guild Meetings and on other occasions throughout the year, and her enthusiastic and inspiring messages have kindled enthusiasm and interest throughout the country. Mrs. Hall, of Bolton, Mrs. Maddox, of Bath, Mrs. Sisling, of Quorn, Mrs. Wilson, of Middlesbrough, Mrs. Glassey, of Parkstone, Mrs. Tincker, of Cleckheaton, and Mrs. Parsons, of Birmingham, have each contributed to the extension of our work in their public speeches. The Secretary has spoken at fifty-one public meetings during the year, in addition to attending Committees and Councils on which she serves as a Women's Guild Delegate. They are as follows: British Council and Executive Committee of the World Alliance for Promoting International Friendship through the Churches; Women's Advisory Council of the League of Nations Union; Free Church Women's Council; Women's League of London Congregational Union; and the Board of Directors of the L.M.S.

In addition to the spirit of fellowship and more definite intercourse in work throughout the country, the Committee have had an educational programme in the Councils and Conferences that have been arranged during the past year at the Assembly in the Spring and Autumn, and in the Winter Meetings of the Women's Guild. "The Church's Responsibility for Working Women," "The Girl Life of our Towns and Cities," Vigilance Work, Missionary Enterprise, International Peace, and the Claims of Beauty in Church Life, are subjects that have been introduced by well-known speakers. The influence of these central meetings is reflected in the programme of subjects arranged by local Guilds, and in this way our members are realising a wider sphere of spiritual opportunity and their own responsibility in regard to it.

The Girls' Guild as a Junior Branch of Women's Guild enterprise has received impetus from the addresses of Miss Picton Turbervill, O.B.E., and Miss Edith Rose, O.B.E., at Leicester. Mrs. F. P. Wilson's paper on "The Claims of Beauty in our Church Life," in which she included architecture, decoration and Church fittings; worship, music, and religious drama, as well as the more material and practical suggestions for bazaars and their products, should stimulate thought and develop some definite proposals for future consideration.

It has been possible to suggest posts for trained women who are Congregationalists, in positions entirely outside the scope of our Denominational work, and to suggest workers to applicants who have applied for candidates in connection with their Churches. The hope still persists that some day a definite training course will be available for women in our own Denomination, but until that time arrives, our Guilds afford the varied experience and education that will create the desire for more definite training.

Ministers' Aid.—Owing to the depression caused by the industrial disturbances of this winter, the service rendered by this Department has been greater than in previous years. Eighty-six parcels have been despatched, five new school outfits provided, and forty-eight families have been helped through the Working Parties registered here. It would be helpful if all Working Parties engaged in this splendid service would notify the details of their work to the Women's Guild office. Eighty-six parcels of clothing have enabled us to supply many demands and opportunities of service that it is impossible to record. These statistics are inadequate as an expression of the loving service rendered by those who contribute, or the gratitude of those who receive the gifts. This branch of our work must, of necessity, increase the expenditure of the Women's Guild Department, and we shall therefore welcome an increase in the number of Associate and Personal Members, whose contributions, varying from 2s. 6d. to £1 1s. a year, will enable them to share in the varied services rendered by the Guild.

SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman : REV. W. J. McADAM, M.A.

The Seven Point Programme.—When the year opened we had just prepared and issued a Seven Point Programme of Social Service for the guidance and stimulation of the Congregational Churches, asking that the Churches would put it into practice so far as they were able, and let us have the benefit of their comments upon it. Our work during the past year has been mainly occupied in presenting this programme to the Churches, in developing and applying it to meet the needs of different kinds of Church, and in preparing material to help the Churches to put it into effect. Whilst we have gathered considerable experience for its application in detail, we can still recommend this sevenfold outline very confidently to the notice of our Churches.

Conferences.—For the purpose of presenting this Seven Point Programme to the Churches, visits have been paid by the Secretary or by a member of the Committee to a very considerable number of Churches, Ministers' Fraternals, and District and County Union Meetings. About forty Ministers' Fraternals, District or County Meetings have been visited in this way. An equal number of united meetings of other kinds have been addressed, and double the number of meetings held in separate Churches or Schools.

County Activities.—Special reference should be made to the Social Service activities of certain counties or County Committees which may be of interest to other counties. Thus, the Yorkshire, Northumberland and Durham Unions have afforded our Secretary the opportunity to give a series of addresses at their Ministers' Summer Schools; in both these Unions the Social Service and Temperance Committees have worked out detailed policies for their Social Service activities; the counties of Gloucestershire and Herefordshire, Warwickshire and Worcestershire are co-operating to adapt the Seven Point Programme to local requirements; Hampshire has arranged a series of group conferences in three of its four chief centres of population as a beginning of a forward work in which the Young People's Committee is co-operating with the Social Service and Temperance Committee; Monmouthshire is arranging for our Secretary to visit each of its separate centres for conference on the policy of the Churches with regard especially to the problems of industry; London arranged at the Memorial Hall Library a very fine series of meetings running nightly for a week in March, and is now working for the preparation of a panel of speakers for the London area, and the appointment of Social Service Secretaries in each of the London districts.

District and Local Representatives.—It is a foremost point in our immediate objective to secure the appointment of Social Service representatives in every county and in every district which has a separate district organisation. At present there are about fifty such representatives. If every county and district had its representative there would be over a hundred. The appointment of these representatives is under consideration by several District or County Executives at the present time.

We also renew our request to the Churches individually, to appoint each its own Social Service representative through whom we may be in touch with its Social Service activities and plans. At present only about fifty such representatives are enrolled.

"News and Suggestions."—The establishment of these links with the Churches is important to us because of the opportunity it will afford us of learning what the Churches are doing or planning to do, and of putting into circulation the ideas thus brought to light. To make the links worth while to the Churches we are offering a quarterly or bi-monthly series of "News and Suggestions," free of charge, to all who are registered with us as the Social Service representative of their Churches or Districts. The sole condition is that the recipient will endeavour to use the information thus received. The District representatives will naturally receive more than the representatives of single Churches.

Social Service Bulletin.—Meantime, in addition to this special service of communication with our Social Service representatives, we are sending out a Social Service Bulletin three times a year to every Congregational Minister on active service whose name appears in Lists A and B. During 1926 we sent out in this way:—

The Seven Point Programme (in January).

Two general Bulletins (in July and December).

Enclosures dealing with:

The Issues involved in the Coal Dispute (A Cambridge House Bulletin);

The Need for Voluntary Housing Schemes under Christian Auspices (issued simultaneously in several other Denominations);

The Call to the Study of Industrial Issues from a Christian Standpoint (reprinted from the November Copec News).

Joint Social Service Council.—In carrying out this programme we have been very greatly helped by the creation of a Joint Social Service Council, through which we can work in co-operation with the Social Service Committees of other Denominations, and especially the Baptists and the Friends. Dr. Rushbrooke (the present Chairman of the Baptist Union) is Chairman of this Committee. Mr. Clifford Newton (the Secretary of the Friends' Social Service Work) is its Treasurer, and our own Secretary is Honorary Secretary. By the generosity of the Halley Stewart Trust the Council is provided with the necessary funds to meet all its administrative charges, procure material for circulation to the Churches, and publish it at easy rates for wide circulation, or gratis for the help of Social Service Secretaries. It was this Council that made possible the issue of the Housing Appeal and the Call to the Study of Industrial Issues, just mentioned, and it is going on to prepare a series of pamphlets on Present Day Opportunities for Social Service, and another on Present Day Problems in Industry and their Christian Solution.

Copec Research Group.—Whilst the above Council provides a useful means of co-operation with an increasing number of Christian Social Service Bodies engaged in educational propaganda, Copec remains the Body through which we are linked with the Christian Social thinking of the Churches as a whole. Our Secretary continues to act as Secretary to the Copec Research Group studying the Social Function of the Church. The Group has published during 1926 a volume of historical essays entitled "The Social Discipline of the Christian Community," the result of a Conference in 1925, and it is just now issuing its invitations to another Joint Conference in Easter Week of 1927, to which we are in a position to introduce delegates.

Future Policy.—Looking to the future we are specially concerning ourselves in the year to come with :—

- (a) A Joint Policy of Educational Co-operation with the Young People's Department and the Temperance Committee ;
- (b) The Preparation of a Manual for Young Church Members ;
- (c) A Policy of Educational Activity in regard to International Questions.

Finance.—During the year (as our accounts show) we have expended over £470 in all. Towards this we have received £100 by grant from the Union, £100 from the Halley Stewart Trust, £100 from another single subscription, and £45 from other smaller subscriptions. The balance has come from preaching and other speaking fees received by the Secretary in excess of travelling expenses, from which source we obtained £137 gross. The increased amount expended this year on Bulletins and other publications is £54, and we do not think it unreasonable to ask that this amount should be covered in 1927 by a corresponding increase in personal subscriptions.

The Secretary.—The year has been an outstanding one in the history of the Committee—a year of exceptional activity and progress. This is due in very large measure to the enthusiasm and energy of our Secretary, Mr. Malcolm Spencer, who in a comparatively short time has made his influence felt throughout the country. A new interest has been aroused in our Churches generally and many are giving to the important work of Social Service a place which it has not hitherto occupied in their activities.

TEMPERANCE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Chairman and Treasurer : SIR R. MURRAY HYSLOP, J.P.

We have arrived at something like the lull before the storm. During 1926, Temperance has not been a burning question. But it is essential that we keep on the watch. We, in alliance with kindred Societies, are doing our best to keep the Temperance issue to the front. The deferred and amended "Oxford" Bill has been introduced in the House of Lords by the Bishop of Liverpool, and, though the provisions of the Bill will not do all we ask, it deserves our careful consideration.

Among our activities are the following :—

County Unions.—The Secretary has visited several County Unions to present the Temperance Case either at afternoon Conferences or at evening Assemblies, and more than once he has preached the Union Sermon and so found a third opportunity. Other County Unions are to be visited in the Spring and Autumn of the coming year.

The Churches.—It is very difficult to find an open door into the Churches, although Temperance services are more needed than ever. The Churches are asked to give this demand their urgent consideration, and the best way in which this can be done is in the course of the ordinary Sunday services. The Secretary will be glad to serve any Churches—free of all cost—wherever an open door can be found.

The Northern Area.—The plans for the Northern Area launched two years ago, will be discontinued as from January, 1927. After a fair trial, it has been found best to carry on our Denominational Temperance Work—as with other departments of service—from one centre. Meanwhile, it is hoped that in each County Union some leader may be found to make this matter his special care, and to secure that a question of such paramount importance is not overlooked and forgotten.

Literature.—We sent out in the Spring to all our Subscribers and all Members of the Council, a Report and a Balance Sheet, showing our Receipts and Expenditure ; and in the Autumn the usual pulpit material for Temperance Sunday—prepared by the Secretary—was sent to every Congregational Manse in England and in the English portions of Wales. These "Pulpit Helps"—full of the latest facts and arguments—have been found very useful by our busy men. We distributed also large numbers of a Sermon, preached at Bolton by the Rev. R. W. Thompson to the Civic Authorities, setting forth the claims of the Temperance Movement upon our leaders in public life.

We circularise the London Churches in preparation for Brewster Sessions; we also deal with the persistent pressure of the Drink Trade for the extension of hours in the Metropolitan area. This is also done locally in Yorkshire and elsewhere. We are again indebted to our colleague, Mr. G. B. Wilson, for a supply of the invaluable information compiled by him annually.

Subscriptions.—We are extremely thankful to several of our leading Churches which have so readily responded to an appeal for their support. Given more generous help we could largely extend the field of our operations. Meanwhile we are doing the best we can with the means at our command. Thanks are cordially tendered to the Congregational Insurance Company for the kind renewal of its grant of £25.

Correspondence.—We are glad to report that as an Intelligence Department our work is constantly increasing. The letter-box is fuller than ever, and the best possible attention is given to all inquiries.

The Centre.—Here in London we take our full share in all public movements for the promotion of national sobriety. We are represented on practically all kindred bodies, and bear our part in the various Conferences, Committees and Consultations held during the year.

Young People.—There is a general feeling on all hands that in the matter of Temperance and Social Service far greater use should be made of the machinery of our Young People's Department, so as to secure that in the lesson schemes of the future there shall be definite and systematic temperance teaching. The three Secretaries have had several consultations already regarding the means and methods to be employed and—guided by the best expert information on these subjects—it is hoped before long to secure that all young people shall be soundly instructed in these matters that are so vital to their daily lives.

The Chairman.—Lastly: it is with very great regret that we received this year a letter announcing the resignation of our honoured and beloved Chairman, Mr. Arnold Pye-Smith. Owing to his semi-retirement from business and his removal to the country, he found it would be impossible for him to continue at our head. For many years he has been a stalwart friend of Temperance. Besides being our own Chairman, he occupied the chair of the Executive Committee of the Temperance Council of the Christian Churches. Bearing an honoured name, he has added to the lustre of it by constant and unselfish services during a long span of years, and it is with great regret we contemplate his removal. The Committee has expressed the hope that we may still have the pleasure of his occasional presence.

The Committee at its December Meeting unanimously desired Sir R. Murray Hyslop to accept the Chairmanship, and he has kindly consented to do so.

LAYMEN'S COMMISSION REPORT.

Chairman : THE RT. HON. SIR ALBERT SPICER, BART.

The question was raised at the meeting of the Laymen's Commission at Leamington, whether it is the usual custom of Churches to pay the rates on the manses, and it was pointed out that in some County Unions there were cases of men receiving an equal amount of grant (including the value of the manse), but that whereas in some instances the minister has to pay rates, in others the rates are paid by the Church. It was agreed that the County Unions be asked to place the matter before their Laymen's Committees and that steps be taken to gather information as to the number of ministers in each county who have to pay rates on the manses, and to report to the Laymen's Commission. This inquiry has been carried out, with the anticipated result, that this diversity in practice obtains not simply in different County Unions, but also in different Churches within the same county. The returns are not yet complete, and the matter is still under consideration. The usual inquiry has also been made as to the minimum salaries paid to ministers in different counties, and in this case also several counties have not yet sent in an answer to the inquiries.

The Central Fund Committee has recently instituted a similar inquiry, and has asked the Laymen's Commission to co-operate with it in securing returns from all the counties as to the minimum salaries paid to List A men within their areas.

The industrial troubles in 1926 have made it difficult for many of the smaller Churches to meet their financial obligations, but it is hoped that Churches everywhere will make great efforts to maintain their standard of salaries, and where the minimum falls below the standard which obtains in other parts of the country, to increase them.

CONGREGATIONAL COLLEGES, SCHOOLS, AND OTHER INSTITUTIONS, GENERAL SOCIETIES, ETC.

COLLEGE BOARD.—When in May, 1909, the Assembly of the Congregational Union of England and Wales adopted the scheme of the Central Fund for Ministerial Support, it recommended that action be taken to ensure the institution of a College Board on which all the colleges of the denomination and the Congregational Union of England and Wales should be represented. The suggestion arose out of the growing feeling that the colleges and the denomination would greatly benefit by full and frequent exchange of views and, so far as might prove possible, by closer co-operation in their mutual work. The idea was welcomed by the college authorities, and within a year the Board was constituted of six representatives from the Union and from each of the following colleges: New, Western, Yorkshire United, Cheshunt, Hackney, Lancashire, Mansfield, Nottingham, Brecon, and Bala-Bangor, and later the offer of a seat on the Board was accepted by the London Missionary Society.

The Board meets two or three times yearly, and already has done much to secure a common policy in many departments of the work of the colleges. Joint Secretaries, Rev. Howard Staines, M.A., B.D., Rev. Sidney M. Berry, M.A., D.D.

HACKNEY AND NEW COLLEGE, HAMPSTEAD, N.W.3.—Principal, Rev. A. E. Garvie, M.A., D.D.; Treasurer, Mr. Alex. Glegg, J.P.; Warden, Rev. A. J. Horrocks, M.A., B.D.; General Secretary, Rev. Howard Staines, M.A., B.D.; House and Trust Secretary, Rev. T. R. Grantham.

The shortest course for students above twenty years of age on entry is four years after Matriculation in London University (if Latin and Greek are included), but otherwise five years. For younger students desiring to take the full Arts as well as the full Theological course (the B.A. degree as well as the B.D. degree), the course is six years after Matriculation.

No fees for tuition are charged, but each student is expected to pay £25 per annum towards his board and lodging for about thirty weeks. The classes are held at New College, but the students reside at Hackney College. A student must be provided with a home in the vacations, and £20 to £25 a year for clothing, books, travelling, etc. During the course many scholarships are offered for competition.

Treasurer.—Mr. A. Pomeroy.

Secretary.—Mr. Alfred J. Shephard, 4, Broad Street Place, Finsbury Circus, London, E.C.2.

This Association originated in a general meeting of the Protestant Dissenters of London, held in November, 1732, called to consider an application to Parliament for the repeal of the Corporation and Test Acts. The want of a permanent body to superintend the civil concerns of Dissenters being strongly felt, it was resolved at a subsequent meeting, held in January, 1735-36, that Deputies from the several congregations in London should be chosen for that purpose. The first meeting of the Deputies was held at Salters' Hall, on January 12th, 1736-37, Dr. Benjamin Avery in the chair.

The present duty with which the Deputies charge themselves is, to see that the Civil and Religious Rights of Dissenters are not infringed, and to help in forwarding Parliamentary measures which will promote the interests of Nonconformists.

The Dissenting Deputies have the right, in conjunction with the General Body of Protestant Dissenting Ministers of the Three Denominations (Congregational, Presbyterian, and Baptist), of personal approach to the King.

LEGAL INFORMATION ON MATTERS AFFECTING NONCONFORMISTS.

The following is a short statement of some of the principal provisions of the Laws specially affecting Dissenters, Dissenting Places of Worship, Rating, Income Tax and Insurance and other matters. The information does not pretend to be exhaustive, and for fuller particulars on many of the subjects reference should be made to the Acts of Parliament affecting them, or to the Public Offices or to Legal Advisers.

CHARITABLE TRUSTS.

The Charitable Trusts Acts give the Charity Commissioners very extensive jurisdiction over all charitable trusts (except certain exempted charities), and empower the Commissioners to inquire into the management of charities, to oblige their trustees to render accounts, to advise such trustees on the administration of the trusts, to authorise or direct legal proceedings to be taken, to authorise the granting of leases and making of improvements, and raising of money by mortgage, to authorise trustees to remove schoolmasters and other officers, to authorise the sale, exchange, or partition of lands, to remove and appoint trustees, and to make new schemes for the administration of charities. Among the charities exempted from the operation of these Acts are any buildings registered as places of meeting for religious worship with the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, and bona fide so used. Exempted charities can, by application under sections 14 and 15 of the Act last referred to, have the benefits of the Acts extended to them.

Educational charities are under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education.

CHAPELS, REGISTRATION OF.

It is desirable that all Dissenting places of worship should be certified to the Registrar-General, in order that they may be recorded in his Official List. Forms in duplicate on which to certify that a Building is used for worship are obtainable on application to the Superintendent-Registrar of the Registration District in which the Building is situated, to whom the statutory fee of 2s. 6d. is payable. After the certification has been recorded, one of the Certificates is furnished to the applicant. Should this be lost or destroyed, a certified copy of the record issued under the Seal of the General Register Office can be obtained from the Registrar-General on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d. The Registrar-General's Official List of Buildings certified for worship can be inspected at any Superintendent-Registrar's office on payment of a fee of 1s.

Registered places of worship bona fide so used are exempt from the provisions of the Charitable Trusts Acts.

The Charity Commission has power to define the area covered by a registration.

TRANSFER OF CHURCH PREMISES OR OTHER PROPERTY TO THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF ENGLAND AND WALES (INCORPORATED), OR TO LOCAL UNIONS (INCORPORATED).

The Union and many of the County Unions have become Incorporated, or have formed parallel Incorporated Associations to act as trustees for them and subject to their control, under the special clauses of the Companies' Acts which relate to bodies not formed for the purpose of profit.

The Congregational Union of England and Wales and several of the County Unions have adopted the latter course, and a considerable number of Churches and also other properties have already been transferred to be held, either according to the Memorandum and Articles of Association of the Incorporation, or upon the trusts under which the various properties themselves were held.

The Congregational Union of England and Wales (Incorporated) has now been authorised by the Lord Chancellor to act as a Trust Corporation under the Law of Property Amendment Act, 1926. This enables the Union to act as sole trustee of chapels and charities.

Any Incorporated Union desiring a similar authority should apply to the Lord Chancellor.

The advantage of incorporation is chiefly that the Union remains a trustee in perpetuity, and the difficulties which constantly arise owing to the deaths of individual trustees or their ceasing to be members of Congregational Churches, and the expense which is involved in removing those difficulties, are avoided for the future.

The Congregational Union of England and Wales (Incorporated) has issued the following statement with reference to the terms upon which it undertakes Trusteeship:

"The Council deems it desirable that the position and the responsibility of the Union in accepting the trusteeship of chapel properties should be definitely formulated so that there should be no misapprehension, either as to the legal obligations which the Union accepts, or as to the service which it undertakes to render. The considerations which lead the Union to become the sole trustee of a chapel property are two-fold: (1) That the property may best be safeguarded thereby from the danger of alienation from the Congregational body, and (2) that the Trusteeship becomes permanent, expense and trouble attending the appointment of new trustees being entirely avoided.

"The Union does not undertake to discharge functions other than the ordinary functions of trustees of chapel properties: for example, it does not undertake to maintain buildings nor to keep them in repair, nor to erect buildings when the property is a bare site.

"The function of the Union as Trustee is the same as that of individual trustees. It is defined, and governed, by the terms of the trust deed of the property, and the Union does not carry on, nor intervene in, the ordinary work of the Church, nor administer its affairs.

"Particularly the Union cannot under any circumstances become responsible for the payment of any Loans, or interest on Loans, secured upon the property but requires the Church to be responsible and to pledge itself thereto by special resolution.

"It is also a condition of the Trusteeship that the Church should, when required, present for inspection the receipts for the payment of interest, fire insurance and other insurance premiums, ground rent and other such outgoings, and the property must be insured in an office, and at a value, approved by the Union, the Policies to be in the name of the Union and to be kept with the title deeds.

"Churches desiring the Union to become Trustee of their property should send:

"1. The Deeds of the property, for inspection by the Union's solicitors free of charge; after such inspection the solicitors will quote the probable cost of carrying through the whole transaction.

"2. A certified copy of the resolution of the Church expressing that desire and signifying its consent to the above conditions.

"3. Evidence of the consent of the existing Trustees."

Copies of the Model Trust Deed may be had of the Publication Department of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, price 1s.; also a form of Agreement for Tenancy of a Manse, price 6d.; and a Manse Model Trust Deed at 1s. 6d.

CHAPELS, REGISTRATION OF, FOR MARRIAGES.

A place of worship must, before marriages can legally be celebrated therein, in addition to being certified, as above mentioned, be separately registered for the performance of marriages. Before registering a place for marriages, the Superintendent-Registrar of the District must be satisfied by certificate that the building has been used for worship for one year previous to the application. A fee of £3 is payable, and the Registration is advertised in the London Gazette and in a local newspaper. When a chapel ceases to be used for worship or is rebuilt, no portion of the old fabric being incorporated in the new structure, the certificate is cancelled, and in that case it requires to be renewed if worship is resumed. When a congregation has removed from one chapel to another, and the old building has ceased to be used as a place of public worship, the certificate of the old chapel may be cancelled and the new building registered for the solemnisation of marriages, without waiting for a year to elapse. All necessary forms and information will be supplied by the Superintendent-Registrar of the District.

MARRIAGE ACTS—DISSENTERS.

I.—Marriages in United Kingdom.

[The law regulating Dissenting Marriages is contained in five Acts—viz., the 6 & 7 Will. IV. cap. 85; 1 Vict., cap. 22; 3 & 4 Vict., cap. 72; 19 & 20 Vict., cap. 119; Marriages Hours of Solemnisation Act, 1886, and the Marriage Act, 1898. The subjoined Abstract is confined to the points useful to Free Church ministers and others. When further particulars or explanations are required, they may always be obtained from the district registrars or superintendent-registrars of the district.]

Marriages at Places of Worship.—No marriage may be solemnised in any registered place of worship without the consent of the minister, or of one of the trustees, owners, deacons, or managers thereof, or, in the case of a Roman Catholic chapel, of the officiating minister, or in a church belonging to the Establishment, of the minister thereof; nor, in the latter case by any other than a duly qualified clergyman, or with any other forms than those of the Church.

Performance of Marriage.—Marriage in a registered place of worship must be performed between eight a.m. and three p.m., with open doors, and in the presence of the registrar of the district and two or more witnesses. Any form or ceremony may be adopted, provided that in some part of it each of the parties shall declare—"I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I, A. B., may not be joined in matrimony to C. D.;" and that each of the parties shall say to the other—"I call upon these persons here present to witness that I, A. B., do take thee, C. D., to be my lawful wedded wife [or husband]."

Marriage may also be celebrated at the office and in the presence of the superintendent-registrar of the district; but no religious service is to be used in such case.

The registrar is to enter the marriage in his register-book, the entry being signed by the person officiating, by the registrar, the parties married, and by two witnesses.

Religious Service after Marriage.—If, where a marriage has been contracted at a superintendent-registrar's office, the parties wish to add the religious service used by the church or persuasion to which they belong, the minister thereof, or some one appointed by him, may perform such service on the production of the certificate of the marriage, and the payment of the customary fees, if any. Nothing, however, in such service is to be held to invalidate the marriage previously contracted, nor is it to be recorded in the parish register of marriages.

Marriage Act, 1898 (61 62 Vict. cap. 58).

Sec. 2 & 3. Extent of Act.—The Act came into operation on the 1st April, 1899, and applies to England and Wales, but not to Scotland and Ireland. Nor does it apply to Marriages of Jews or Members of the Society of Friends, as Marriages of these persons are already regulated by special Acts.

Sec. 4. It enables Marriages to be performed without the presence of the Registrar, in buildings which, for the time being, are registered for solemnising Marriages under the Act of 1836; but only if an official witness in the Act called an Sub-sec. 3. "Authorised Person" is present. It is optional with the parties to be married whether they avail themselves of the Act or not, but the Act will apply unless, at the time when the Certificate or Licence is applied for, the Superintendent Registrar is informed that the presence of the Registrar is desired.

Sec. 5. Steps to be taken by the Parties to be Married.—There is no alteration in the present procedure up to the time of the issuing by the Registrar of his Certificate, or Certificate and Licence; the existing law as to notices, &c., remaining unaltered.

If the parties do not give notice to the Superintendent Registrar that they desire the attendance of a Registrar at the Marriage, the issue of the Certificate, or Licence (as the case may be), will be accompanied by printed instructions in a form to be prescribed, for the due solemnisation of the Marriage without the Registrar's attendance, and the person receiving the Certificate, or Certificate and Licence, should be careful to obtain these instructions.

Sec. 6. The Marriage must then be solemnised in a building registered for Marriages; Sub-sec. 2. in the presence of the "Authorised Person" and two other witnesses.

Sec. 6. At the ceremony, two declarations must be made, as at present, by each party Sub-sec. 1. married, in the words set out in Section 6 Sub-section 1 of the Act. The declarations are as follows:—

"I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I, A. B., may not be joined in matrimony to C. D."

"I call upon these persons here present to witness that I, A. B., do take thee, C. D., to be my lawful wedded wife [or husband]"; or in lieu thereof the words following:—

"I, A. B., do take thee, C. D., to be my wedded wife [or husband]."

Sec. 7. Immediately after the ceremony an entry of the Marriage must be made in Sub-sec. 1. duplicate in two separate Registers, and must be signed by the parties by the "Authorised Person," and by the two witnesses.

Sec. 6. Mode of Appointing the "Authorised Person."—He is to be a person authorised Sub-secs. to act by "the Trustees or other Governing Body" of a building registered under the Marriage Acts, and his appointment must be certified both to the Registrar-General and to the Superintendent Registrar of the district in which the building is situate.

The Act does not define the "Governing Body," and it is presumed, therefore, that the terms of the Trust Deed of each particular building will determine who, or what, is the "Governing Body"; but generally speaking it will be found - that in Presbyterian Churches the Board of Elders, and in Baptist and Congregational Churches "The Deacons," or "The Church," will be the "Governing Body." It will be noticed, however, the Sub-section 3 of Section 6 is framed in the alternative, and that either "Trustees" or "Governing Body" may authorise and certify under the Act.

- There may be more than one "Authorised Person" to act for a particular place of worship. And an "Authorised Person" once appointed and certified may act in any registered building in the Registration district in which the particular building in respect of which he is authorised is situate.
- Sec. 16. The mode in which the Certificate confirming the appointment of the Sub-sec. D. "Authorised Person" is to be given will be prescribed by the Registrar General.
- Sec. 6. Duties and Qualifications of the "Authorised Person."—He must be present
Sub-sec. 2. at the Marriage when the declarations are made.
- Sec. 7. He must require the Certificate, or Certificate and Licence, to be handed to Sub-sec. 1. him, and immediately after the Marriage must enter it in the duplicate Registers, and see that the entries are signed by the parties, himself, and the two witnesses.
- Sec. 7. He must apply for the necessary books to be supplied to him by the Registrar
Sub-sec. 2. General, and must not allow any Marriage to be solemnised until the Registers Sub-sec. 3. have been so supplied.
- Sec. 11. He must once a quarter deliver copies of the entries in the Registers to the Sub-secs. Superintendent Registrar, as provided by Section 11, and will be allowed 6d. for 1 & 2. every entry.
- Sec. 11. He must allow searches in the Registers, and give certified extracts, in the Sub-sec. 4. same way as Rectors, Vicars, or Curates do. The fee for a search extending over a period of not more than one year being 1s., and 6d. additional for every additional year, and for each Certificate 2s. 6d.
- Sec. 12. He will be guilty of an offence under the Act if he refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of the Act, and will be subject to penalties.
- Sec. 16. The Registrar-General has made rules respecting his duties, which will, of Sub-sec. C. course, have to be complied with. Copies of these rules can be obtained from the Registrar-General.
- Nothing is said in the Act as to the qualifications of the "Authorised Person," but the following points seem clear:—
- He should live near the building in which he is to act.
- He should have a sufficient command of his time to be able to meet the convenience of the parties to be married.
- He should be able to conduct correspondence and be correct and business-like in the discharge of duties.
- As no fees are payable to him in respect of his attendance at Marriages he should either be a man who does not require payment, or his remuneration should be provided by the Church. The Act does not say that the "Authorised Person" shall not be a female; it is presumed, therefore, that a woman may be appointed.
- Sec. 7. General Provisions.—In this Section, special provisions will be found in reference
Sub-sec. 4. to the custody of the Registers, Certificates, &c. These must be very carefully
Sec. 8. complied with; as unless all is done in this respect, which the Registrar-General
Sec. 11. considers necessary, he may decline to allow Marriages to be solemnised under Sub-sec. 3. the Act.
- Sec. 16. Marriages in Wales may be celebrated in the Welsh tongue.

The Registrar-General has power to make (with the approval of the Local Government Board) rules for all the purposes of the Act. Copies of these rules should be obtained by every "Authorised Person," and should be carefully observed.

BURIALS UNDER THE ACT OF 1880.

The laws relating to the provision and management of parish cemeteries are very complicated; but information on the subject can be obtained on application to the Secretaries of the Liberation Society, 6, Caxton House, Westminster, S.W.; or of the Dissenting Deputies, 4, Broad Street Place, Finsbury Circus, London. Copies of the Act and forms of notices under it may be obtained through the Secretaries.

It may be noted, however, that under the Act of 1880 a burial may take place either without "any religious service" or "with such Christian and orderly religious service" at the grave as the person responsible for the burial may think fit, and "any person or persons"—whether ministers or laymen—who may be invited or authorised may conduct such service, or take part in any religious act thereat. The words "Christian service" include "every religious service used by any church, denomination, or person professing to be Christian."

The clergy of the Church of England are at liberty to use the burial service of that Church in any unconsecrated burial ground, or in the chapel therein. The relatives may have such service performed in unconsecrated ground by any clergyman of the Church of England who may be willing to perform the same.

In cases where the Church of England service cannot legally be used, and in any other case, at the request of the relatives, the clergy may use some other than the ordinary burial service of the Church of England, provided that it has been approved by the Bishop, and is taken wholly from the Bible and Prayer-Book.

BURIAL ACT, 1900.

This Act made some important alterations in the law in regard to consecration of burial grounds, allotments, chapels, chaplains, and otherwise, and removes many grievances and disabilities under which Dissenters have suffered.

Consecration.—The Burial Authority may apply to the Bishop to consecrate any portion of the burial ground approved in that behalf by the Secretary of State, but if the Burial Authority does not make an application, after being requested so to do by a reasonable number of persons affected, the Home Secretary may apply to the Bishop to consecrate, and the Burial Authority can then be compelled to make the necessary arrangements, the costs being paid by those requiring consecration.

Chapels.—The Burial Authority may erect at their own costs upon ground not consecrated, nor specifically allotted to any denomination, any chapel they may consider necessary, but such chapel erected under this Act shall not be consecrated, nor reserved for any denomination. The authority may also, at the request and cost of any denomination in the district, erect and maintain a chapel for general services according to the rites of that denomination. Apparently such a chapel must be erected on consecrated ground, or on ground allotted to the denomination in question. If the Authority refuses such a request they may be compelled by the Home Secretary to comply.

Fees.—All fees are to be approved by the Home Secretary, and are to be identical for consecrated and unconsecrated ground. Such fees are to be paid to the Burial Authority and transmitted by it to the minister. No fees are payable in a burial ground affected by this Act to any incumbent for permission to erect a monument or otherwise, or to the churchwardens for any customary or legal fees. The incumbent is only entitled to fees for his services like any other officiating minister, but where such extra fees are now payable they will continue to be paid during the incumbency of the present incumbent or during 15 years, whichever period is the longer, but the Burial Authority and the incumbent may agree on a commutation of all such fees. No other ecclesiastical officials are entitled to fees except the sexton, whose fee is fixed by the Burial Authority.

Inquiries by Home Secretary.—The Home Secretary may, if he thinks fit, hold inquiries into any question of consecration, chapel fees, or otherwise, and may make any order he thinks just as to costs.

Unconsecrated ground may not be used for any purpose other than burials except by leave of the Local Government Board.

The Incumbent is still bound to officiate at the burial of his parishioners. No chaplain can now be appointed by the Burial Authority.

Notice of burial must be given to such person as shall be appointed for the purpose by the Burial Authority, and with such notice as it may require.

Allotments.—The law as to allotting portions of the burial ground to denominations remains unaltered.

N.B.—This Act applies to all burial grounds managed by a burial board or any council, committee, or other local authority having the powers and duties of a burial board, and to any local authority maintaining a cemetery under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, or under any local Act.

It does not, however, apply to parish churchyards.

ASSESSMENTS OF CHAPELS FOR TAXES AND RATES; EXEMPTION FROM.

1. TAXES are imposed under the Income Tax Acts, and are charged upon the annual values of all landed properties unless they come under one or other of the following three exceptions:—

(a) Annual value of property occupied as Colleges or Halls in any Universities, or

(b) As Hospitals, Public Schools, or Almshouses.

(c) Rents and profits of lands, etc., belonging to any Hospital, Public School, or Almshouse, or vested in Trustees for charitable purposes, so far as the same are applied to charitable purposes.

The claim for exemption, therefore, in the case of Chapel properties depends on whether they are used, or the rents and profits applied, for charitable purposes. This is a question of fact in every case. Where Church premises are used solely for religious purposes they are clearly exempt, as the religious use has been held by the courts to be charitable. But where, as in many cases, Chapel premises are put to various uses, such as the holding of public meetings, lectures, and concerts, it would rest with the Commissioners of Taxes in the district to say whether the use is religious and charitable or not, and, probably in every case where a charge is made, or a profit is derived from any meeting or gathering, the Chapel would so far be held to be assessable.

Until recently it was held that the exemption (c) quoted above referred only to cases where the premises were let and the rents and profits so derived applied for charitable purposes, but that when the premises were occupied by the Trustees of the Charity, or by persons in their employ, the exemption was not admissible because the Charity could not then be said to be receiving rents and profits, or to be applying them, for charitable purposes. This distinction has, however, now been removed by Statute, except that no exemption is allowed in respect of any part of the premises occupied by any person in the employ of the Trustees whose income exceeds £150 a year.

Where Mansees or other property are let by the Church, to the minister or otherwise, and the rent is paid to the Church, repayment of Income Tax Schedule A can be claimed.

2. RATES. Premises are exempt if exclusively appropriated to public religious worship and duly certified for such purpose. But such parts of the premises as are not so exclusively appropriated, and from which any rent, profit, or advantage is received, are liable to be rated.

The principle of this exemption is the same as that in the case of property tax, but the phraseology is different, the words "exclusively" and "profit or advantage" being introduced.

A greater difficulty will be experienced, no doubt, in consequence of these words in satisfying the Rating Authority, and in a comparatively large number of cases it will probably be hard to prove that there is no profit or advantage derived from the lettings, and that the use for religious and charitable purposes is exclusive. What profit and advantage are the Court only can decide, but it has been settled that even if the profit or advantage goes to a charitable object, as is usually the case, the premises are liable to be rated.

Generally a compromise is advisable, such as a slight, or even nominal, assessment. The risks of going to the Court are so considerable, and the cost so great, that it would seem usually desirable to compromise the claim by arrangement with the assessing Committee. The Committees are usually willing to come to reasonable terms with the Churches.

WATER RATES on Chapels have been revised under the provisions of the Water Board Charges Act, 1921. Strictly speaking the charges are payable on the basis of the annual value of the premises, which, in the event of dispute, can be settled by the Justices. The Board, however, arrive at the annual value by commutating the previously agreed charge, which was arrived at on the basis of the seating accommodation, at five per cent. If, for instance, £3 has been paid hitherto annually, the annual value at five per cent. becomes £60, on which the Board has the right to charge, until April, 1923, eight per cent., that is £4 16s. 0d. per annum.

INCOME TAX OF MINISTERS.

A Minister may claim deductions in respect of the following :—

- (a) Any expenses incurred by him wholly exclusively and necessarily in the performance of his duty as a Minister.

Under this paragraph (a) a Minister may claim deductions for :—

- (1) Travelling expenses necessarily incurred by the Minister in performing his duty of pastoral visitation.

Under this head would be included bus and tram fares, or the running cost and wear and tear (proportionate to the use thereof for official purposes) of such means of locomotion belonging to the Minister as motor-car or bicycle where the circumstances or size of the Minister's district necessitated the employment of such means for the proper performance of his duties (e.g. where the Minister has pastoral charge of two or more village churches).

- (2) Out-of-pocket payments for stamps, stationery, telephone, telegrams, etc., incurred in the performance by the Minister of his duties.

It is important that records of the expenses under the headings (1) and (2) should be kept by the Minister, but where no records have been kept in the past it is suggested that the claim might be based upon a reasonable estimate of the expenses incurred, and this could be discussed with the Inspector of Taxes.

- (b) Where the Minister pays rent for a dwelling house, or is in the occupation of a dwelling house but pays no rent therefor, and uses any part of such house mainly and substantially for the purpose of his duty as a Minister, he may claim as an expense a corresponding part of the rent or annual value of the house, not exceeding one-eighth.

In reference to (b)—sometimes called the study allowance—nothing beyond one-eighth of the rent or annual value (not of the net assessment) will be allowed, e.g. no allowance can be claimed for proportion of local rates, lighting, heating or servants' wages.

- (c) Locum tenens during illness.—Where a Minister is incapacitated through illness from performing his duties, the cost necessarily incurred and paid by him in providing a locum tenens may be claimed as a deduction.

Deductions not allowed.—It may be observed that no allowance is admitted in respect of :—

- (1) Charitable subscriptions by a Minister, or cost of hospitality.
(2) Expenses of pulpit supply during holidays if any such expenditure is borne by the Minister.

- (3) Allowance for books.—Claims are normally refused in respect of the cost of books on the ground that the expenditure is not incurred "wholly, exclusively and necessarily in the performance of his duty as a Minister."

An allowance for books was refused in a case taken to the High Court in 1890.

Rent-free Manse.—Where a Manse is provided and occupied rent-free by a Minister who has not the right to let the house, he may nevertheless require that for any year the annual value assessed to Income Tax Schedule A (Property Tax) after deducting from the annual value any ground rent or other charges on the property (whether paid by the Minister or by Trustees) shall be treated as part of his earned income.

Notice to this effect is required to be given to the District Inspector of Taxes not later than 30th September in the year concerned, or where the occupation of the house by the Minister commenced after 30th June in that year, within three months of the date of occupation.

Where this relief has been given in any year it need not be specifically claimed in subsequent years during which the Minister remains in occupation.

Superannuation.—The Commissioners of Inland Revenue have decided to allow Income Tax relief in respect of payments made by Congregational Ministers under annuity contracts with:—

- (1) The Congregational Ministers' National Provident Society as regards Ministers whose names are included in "List A" of Ministers accredited to the Congregational Union as set out in the Congregational Year Book.
- (2) The Prudential Assurance Company under the Superannuation Scheme which was arranged with that Company in 1903. The relief in this instance will extend to all Ministers and others who have entered into contracts under the provisions of that Scheme.

This relief came into operation as regards:—

- (1) for the year 1924-25, i.e. for the financial year beginning on the 6th April, 1924; and as regards
- (2) for the year 1920-21.

Claims of repayments as regards (1) will be admitted for the years 1924-25, 1925-26 and 1926-27, and as regards (2) for the six years 1921-22 to 1926-27 inclusive.

For the current year 1927-28 Ministers entitled to relief should claim the appropriate allowance before payment of the tax to the Collector of Taxes.

In future years the particulars of these payments must be entered on the Income Tax Return in space Section J, "Relief in respect of Life Assurances or contracts for deferred annuities," and the receipt if required should be produced to the District Inspector of Taxes.

Instructions on this matter have been issued to H.M. Inspectors of Taxes by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue.

Ministers should also note that they are entitled to the statutory deduction (at present one-sixth, with a maximum of £250) in respect of earned income, and also to deductions for children, Life Insurance premiums, dependent relatives incapacitated by old age or infirmity, and other allowances specified in the Form of Return issued annually, which should be carefully read.

These notes relating to Income Tax have been submitted to and approved by the Inland Revenue Department.

Income Tax Schedule A. is payable for 1927-28 in one sum instead of in two instalments except where chargeable in respect of income which is or is to be treated, as earned income (e.g. Schedule A. tax on Rent-free Manses).

For 1928-29 the assessments under Schedule D. and Schedule E. on salaries, fees, pensions, and other emoluments are to be based on the income for the year preceding the year of assessment.

ENTERTAINMENT TAX.

The Act creating the Entertainment Tax is known as "The Finance (New Duties Act), 1916."

It provides that an Entertainments Duty shall be charged on all payments for admission to any entertainment at varying rates, and that tickets of admission shall be stamped with a stamp denoting that the duty has been paid, and no person shall be admitted without such a ticket. The rate of tax has been frequently varied by subsequent Acts.

An "Entertainment" includes any exhibition, performance, amusement game or sport, to which persons are admitted for payment, with certain exceptions contained in Section 1, Sub-Section V. of the original Act.

Sub-Section V. relieves a good number of entertainments such as are conducted in chapels from the necessity of paying duty, as it provides that duty shall not be chargeable where the whole of the takings are devoted to philanthropic or charitable purposes without any charge on the takings for expenses. Also, where the Commissioners are satisfied that the whole of the net proceeds are devoted to philanthropic purposes, and that the whole expenses do not exceed 50 per cent. of the receipts, they must repay the entertainments duty, but of course in the latter case the duty has to be paid first.

There are other exceptions (b) where the entertainment is wholly educational or where the entertainment is provided for partly educational or partly scientific purposes by a society or committee not established for profit.

The 1924 Act provides for exemption in the case of an entertainment promoted by a Society or Institution of a permanent character, established or conducted solely or partly for philanthropic or charitable purposes, or by two or more such Societies acting in combination, where the whole of the net proceeds of the entertainment are devoted to philanthropic, etc., purposes. Ordinary church funds have been considered as coming within this Section.

In all cases where exemption is claimed, prior application must be made to the local Customs and Excise Officer. He will supply forms for a return of duty. He should be consulted before the meeting in any doubtful case.

THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT, 1925.

Under this Act Employers are liable to compensate all persons under a "contract of service" with them (unless, in the case of non-manual workers, they are in receipt of an income of more than £350 per annum) in respect of accidents arising out of and in the course of their employment.

Employers protect themselves against this liability by voluntary insurance with any Society which undertakes to cover such risks.

The Minister of a Church is not under a "Contract of service." His is a vocation, not a service.

An evangelist in the direct employment of a County Union or other such body has been held by the Ministry of Health not to be under a contract of service, but this decision is under discussion.

Manual workers, and non-manual workers in receipt of an income of not more than £350 per annum, employed by a Church should be insured, such as :—

The Chapel-keeper, and where there is an understanding (written or otherwise) that the wife or any member of the family helps, the helper also ; any charwoman or other person employed regularly, though for only a part of a day a week ; the grave-digger, if any, the organist and blower and members of the choir, if paid ; also any paid Sisters, Bible-women or nurses. Casual workers do not come under the Act.

It is desirable also, where the Chapel-keeper regularly employs any charwoman or other person to help, other than a member of his family dwelling in his house, that an insurance should be taken out in the name of the Chapel-keeper in respect of the persons so helping him, as he would be liable to compensate them under the Act as their employer.

The above recommendations apply also to persons engaged in connection with Missions and Sunday Schools.

All persons effecting an insurance should be careful to see that the company with which they insure is thoroughly sound financially and that the policies taken out cover all risks under the Act. This last point is important, as in the forms suggested by some companies there are words to the effect that "the insurer must take reasonable care," etc., and the insertion of these words may involve difficult questions if a company chooses to contest a claim.

ACCIDENTS.

The law as to the liability of a Church for accidents befalling persons (other than its own servants) upon the trust premises may be briefly summarised as follows :—

1. In the case of persons not paying for admission the Church is responsible only when "gross negligence" is proved against it, that is, for instance, when the accident arises from a danger in the nature of a "trap" such as an unguarded hole in the floor or other danger of a like kind.

2. In the case of persons paying for admission greater care is required of the owner of the property, and he is responsible for accidents arising from his "ordinary negligence," that is, for instance, for accidents due to the general ill repair of the premises.

3. Where premises are let to other Societies the owner of the premises is liable for accidents arising out of the condition of the buildings. The case for such responsibility is stronger when those who use the premises are too young to appreciate dangers which would be obvious to and easily avoided by persons of more mature years. For quite a moderate premium complete indemnity against all liability may be obtained.

Note.—The law as to accidents occurring to servants of the Church is of course governed by the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act (above).

NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE ACT, 1924.

WIDOWS, ORPHANS AND OLD AGE CONTRIBUTORY PENSIONS ACT, 1925.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACT, 1920.

Insurance is compulsory under these Acts for practically all persons between 16 and 70 years of age employed under a "contract of service" whose rate of remuneration does not exceed £250 per annum or who are Manual Workers. Among the exceptions is employment involving part-time service only as Bible-woman, chapel-keeper, lay preacher or Scripture reader. Part-time service as bell-ringer, member of the choir, organ-blower, organist or other musician, is also excepted if given in or about a place of religious worship.

Further, as regards Unemployment Insurance, a person whose service is of a domestic nature (e.g. caretaker) is outside the scope of that Act if the employment does not exist for the purpose of gain.

Contributions are paid by affixing stamps to contribution cards which should be obtained by the insured person (a) for Health and Pensions Insurance from an Approved Society ; (b) for Unemployment Insurance from the Local Employment Exchange. Emergency Health and Pensions Insurance cards can, however, be obtained from any Post Office. Contributions recently paid in error may be refunded.

Decisions on individual cases can be obtained from the District Inspector of the Ministry of Health (Insurance Department) whose address can be obtained from the nearest Post Office.

All persons over the age of 65 who duly paid Health Insurance contributions are now entitled to an Old Age Pension of 10s. per week (with an extra 10s. for a wife over 65) without any restriction on account of means or nationality. Claims for these and also for widows and orphans' pensions must be made promptly on forms obtainable from the nearest Post Office.

Briefly put, the Statutory Conditions for the payment of Contributory Old Age Pensions are :

- (a) Five years' continuous insurance.
- (b) A minimum of 104 contributions.
- (c) An average of 39 contributions for the last three contribution years (which end in June). For this test only, the weeks of unemployment count as contributions. Certain elderly persons may substitute 26 for 39, but in that event cannot include weeks of unemployment.

For a Widows or Orphans Pension, it is necessary that :

(a) The husband was insured for 104 weeks and paid 104 contributions.

(b) If 208 weeks have elapsed since entry into insurance, an average of 26 contributions (including weeks of unemployment) were paid in the three preceding contribution years.

It should be noted that once a person has entered insurable employment he or she has valuable rights of paying contributions for weeks of sickness or unemployment until 104 are paid. Further, certain Men over 60 and certain Women over 55 may likewise pay contributions to safeguard pension rights. In each case contributors must inform their Society.

It is well to observe that this new scheme of Contributory Pensions does not replace the previous arrangements under the Old Age Pensions Act.

No person can obtain a pension under both schemes, but where a Man or Woman over 70 has not qualified for a contributory pension, payment may be obtained under the old scheme with, of course, the same restrictions as to means and nationality. It should be noted that the age is reduced from 70 to 50 in the case of a person who is so blind as to be unable to perform work for which eyesight is essential.

ARCHITECTURAL DESCRIPTIONS, 1927.

ARCHITECTURAL DESCRIPTIONS.

BOLTON—DEANE NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The New Sunday School which was opened on September 24th, 1927, entirely free of debt, is situated on a site adjoining the church. Increasing attendances and the growth of the district having necessitated the provision of more adequate accommodation, the Bolton Group Churches undertook to find the money needed for the new building.

The school has been planned for an attendance of 350 scholars in accordance with the latest principles of Sunday school work, and will also be used for worship while the present building is being renovated.

The central Assembly Hall has a seating capacity of 225, and the platform is arranged in the recessed end with a separate approach. It is flanked by class-rooms, each section, Beginners, Primary, and Juniors, having its own accommodation with separate entrances and cloak-rooms. Men's and women's class-rooms and cloak-rooms are also provided, together with an institute.

The new school is built of patent facing bricks and Portland stone dressings, roofed with blue Valenhelli slates.

The lighting is well arranged and the low-pressure system of heating has been installed with separate controls.

The ventilation system is simple and thorough.

The building has been designed by Messrs. Ormrod, Pomeroy and Foy, F.R.I.B.A., Bolton, and the contractors are Messrs. James Cocker, Ltd., of Walkden.

EALING CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—NEW BUILDINGS, INCLUDING LITTLE CHURCH.

During 1926 the Church decided to build three small subsidiary halls in order to carry on graded school work. To each of these a special characteristic has been given: (1) Church Parlour, (2) Club Room, (3) "Little Church" for devotional use.

The last of these has a small nave to seat a hundred persons, divided from the aisles by pillars from which springs a barrel roof. There is also a chancel with a small recess in which stand a communion table and five Flemish leather chairs of the Huguenot period. It was opened in July, 1926, and is used for children's worship on Sunday mornings and also as a Sunday school department. The devotional services of the church are also held here. Architect: Mr. Percy Morley Horder.

GOODMAYES CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

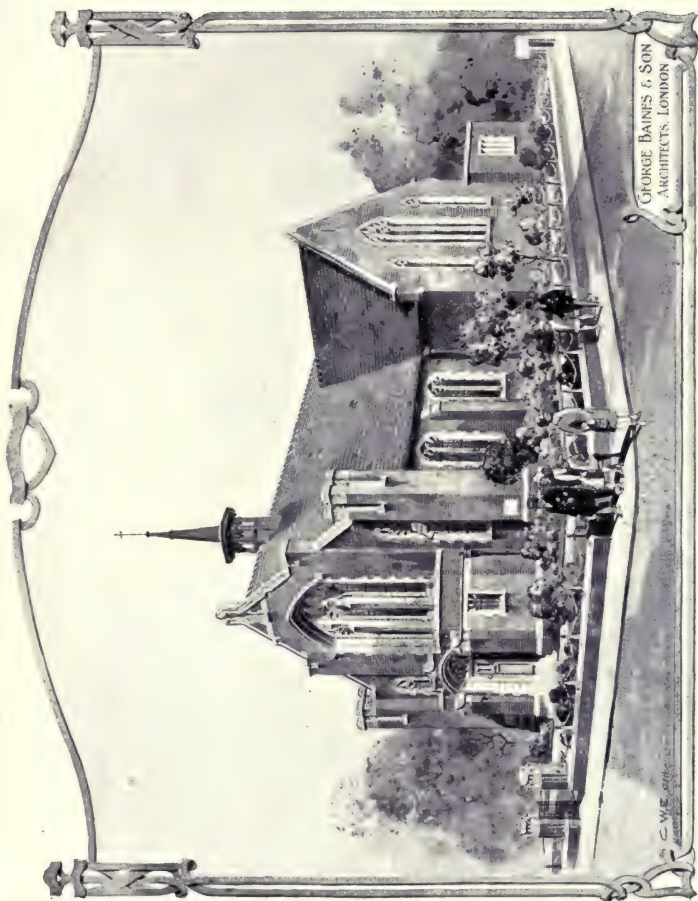

A perspective view of the exterior of this building, which is in course of erection, is shown. The church has a bold central gable with a three-light traceried window, and single-light windows in recesses on each side, and massive square pinnacles with recessed traceried panels on each flank. The building is entered in front through a bold semi-octagonal projecting porch having a deeply recessed central doorway leading to a spacious vestibule, and thence through swing doors into an inner lobby upon each side, with a second pair of inner doors leading to the side aisles. The seating is arranged in a semi-circular form on plan so that every member of the congregation will face the preacher, and the floor will fall in all directions towards the pulpit, which will stand upon a semicircular platform. The choir will be accommodated in raised seats grouped around the pulpit, the organ being placed behind the pulpit in a recessed chamber. A vestry is placed on each side of the apse with lobbies and lavatory accommodation to each, and separate exits in the rear.

The church will accommodate about 520 persons.

The heating will be by hot-water pipes and radiators, and electric light and accelerated ventilation with stand-by gas lighting in the lobbies, etc., in case of emergency, will be installed. The church will be faced externally with dull red multi-coloured bricks, the roof covered with hand-made red tiles, the dressings and tracery windows being of stone.

The walls internally will be finished in sand-faced stucco, the windows glazed with lead lights, and the pulpit, seating, dado, etc., in wax polished oak. The contract amount is £8,557, and is being executed by Messrs. H. Knight & Son, of Tottenham, N.

The architects are Messrs. George Baines & Son, F.R.I.B.A., A.I.Struct.E., 121, Victoria Street, S.W.

The church is designed and built to obtain the maximum of accommodation at the minimum of cost and is being erected in two sections, the first section to accommodate about 350; when completed, 500.

The building is of simple Gothic design, with rock-face concrete blocks relieved with irregular insertions of broken flints and sand-faced red bricks. The heavy piers give pleasing effect as well as solidity of purpose. The roof is constructed of Oregon pine principals, purlins and matching covered with russett-brown Trafford tiles. The interior consists of central nave and two side wings with two aisles, large platform and two vestries. Central heated and gas lighted.

Estimated to cost, with seating, lighting, etc. (complete) the first section about £2,000, when completed, £3,500.

RADFORD, COVENTRY, CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, NEW SCHOOL HALL.

The new building is to be used at the present for the dual purpose of church and Sunday school, and has been planned accordingly. The accommodation consists of a school hall 48 feet by 36 feet, with front entrance lobby. Two large class-rooms are provided for young men's and women's classes to be used during church services by the choir and minister, and approached by side passages leading to the rear of the premises. A suitable kitchen is provided with heating chamber under, and a low-pressure hot-water heating apparatus is installed.

Provision has been made for a future extension when the two class-rooms can be thrown into the main hall and new class-rooms erected on the site at the rear.

The building has a pleasing elevation of Haunchwood pressed red facing bricks, with artificial Portland stone dressings.

The contract price for the building is £3,198, and furnishings, etc., will bring the total cost to about £3,500. In addition to this, the site, including land large enough for the erection of a permanent church in the future, cost, with fencing, nearly £1,000.

The cause has been established over 100 years as a branch of West Orchard Congregational Church, Coventry. The church is now situate in the heart of a large population, and is the only Nonconformist church in the neighbourhood.

The architect is Mr. Claude Redgrave, L.R.I.B.A., and the contractors Messrs. Jervis Bros., both of Coventry.

SOUTH OCKENDEN CONGREGATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The site of the new Sunday school is on the main road, to the north of the church. It is being built to replace the old British school now dilapidated, insanitary, and totally inadequate for the present needs of the school.

It is to be a brick building covered with Courtraï tiles and will consist of a main hall to accommodate 300, a small hall (for Primary Department) to seat about 50, two small vestries and ample cloak-room accommodation.

Special care is being taken to provide plenty of light and adequate ventilation. Both the lighting and the heating will be by gas.

The building generally will possess a bright and cheerful appearance and is eminently suitable for Sunday school purposes. The total cost is estimated at £1,800.

The foundation stones were laid on October 26th, 1927, and the opening will take place at Easter.

The architect is Mr. Christopher M. Shiner, R.I.B.A., of Grays, and the contractors are Messrs. Hall Bros., of Whitehall Road, Grays.

WALLINGTON CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The church now being erected occupies a commanding position on the corner of Stanley Park Road and Holmwood Gardens, at the rear of which site stands the existing church hall. The new buildings will be linked up with the existing, and when complete will provide a church seating about 400, with nave, transepts and chancel all seating being on the ground floor level, church hall, class-rooms, Primary-room, vestries, etc.

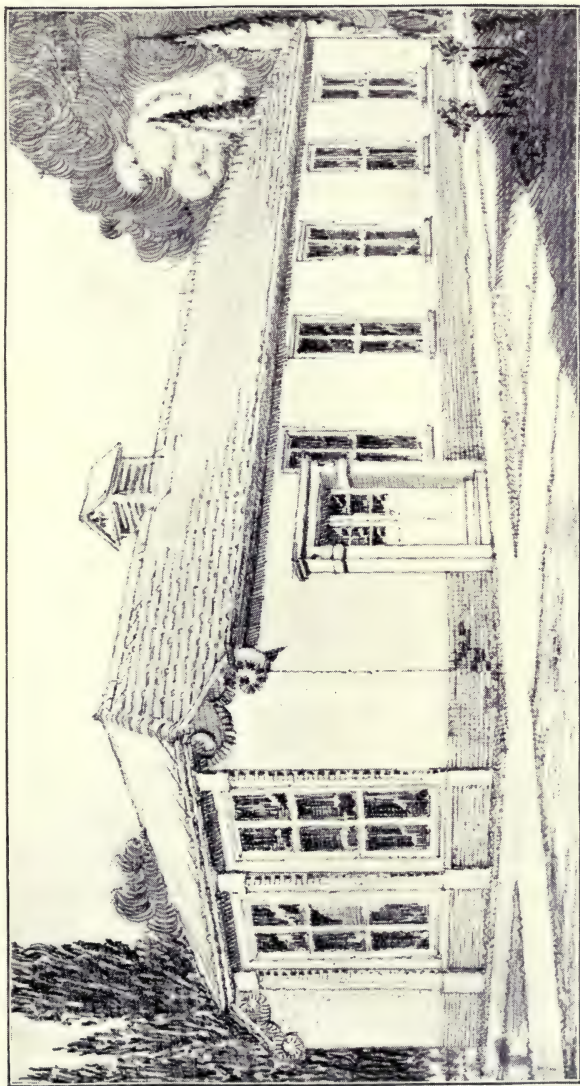

The design of the church is in the Byzantine style, faced with artificial stone and mottled bricks and roofed with sand-faced pantiles.

Internally, a feature is made of the semicircular vaulted fibrous plaster roof, whilst the walls will be finished in stucco with brick dressings to piers, bases and cornices. The joinery work generally will be of Columbian pine, stained and waxed.

The buildings will be heated throughout on the low-pressure system and wired for electric light.

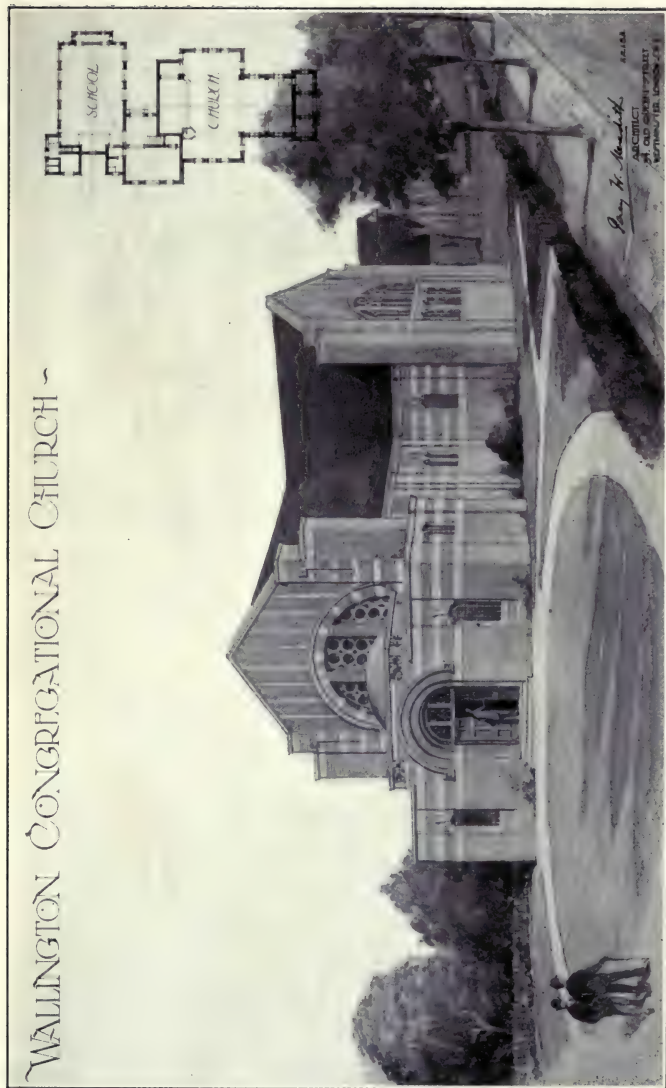

The cost of the work now being carried out is about £6,000, and the contract will be completed early in the new year.

The architect is Mr. Percy W. Meredith, F.R.I.B.A., 34, Old Queen Street, S.W.1, and the contractors are Messrs. J. Longley & Co., Ltd., of Crawley, Sussex.

Ministers deceased since last issue, 1927, 56. Average age, 73.

ALEXANDER, Thomas Henry, was trained for the ministry at New College. After a successful course of study he entered upon his first pastorate at Rugeley, Staffordshire (1893-99). Removing to Albion Church, Hull (1899-1907), he did excellent service for nine years, before undertaking the charge of the church at Maldon, Essex (1907-27).

In the dreary years of the war the church had to face many difficulties and Mr. Alexander lost his eldest son. He did useful work on the Board of Guardians and the sub-committee for Education, and was local secretary of the branch of the League of Nations Union.

He was greatly interested in the young people of his church and organised the Society of Christian Endeavour.

During the last three years forty-eight young people were received into the fellowship, nearly all of whom are engaged in the work of the church.

He died on Sunday, May 22, 1927, greatly beloved.

J. W.

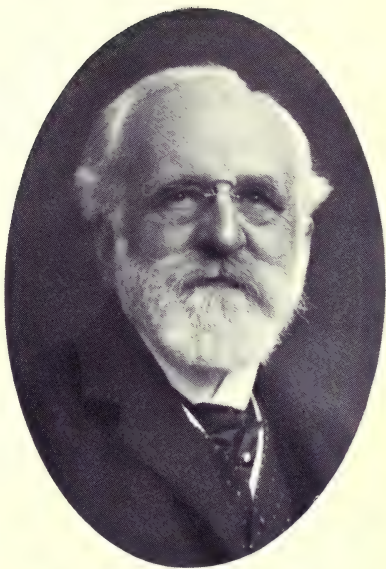

ANTLIFF, Samuel Robert, was born in Liverpool on August 21, 1851, and died at Southport on July 21, 1927, aged seventy-five. He was brought up in Primitive Methodism by his father, Dr. W. Antliff, and began to preach and earn money at the early age of fourteen, and never cost his father a penny after that age. All his college fees he paid himself. He was trained for the ministry at Lancashire College. His activities as a Congregational Minister extended from 1874-79, Oak Street, Accrington; 1879-85, Cannon Street, Preston; 1885-91, Ramsden Street, Huddersfield.

Mr. Antliff had never thought of such a thing as a Congregational Insurance Company until early one morning, nearly thirty-seven years ago, he had a dream, and in this dream his late father suggested to him that he should found a Company for Congregationalism. Dr. W. Antliff was reputed to have been one of the founders of the Primitive Methodist Insurance Company; at any rate he was greatly interested in the formation of that Company. The very day of the dream Mr. Antliff approached the Congregational Union, but they could not take steps in the matter as many considered such a venture would be a failure. Nothing daunted however, he set to work to form the Company, supported by such men as the late Mr. W. Crosfield, of Liverpool, and Alderman Woodhead, who joined the original Board, and having obtained necessary capital, the venture was launched in July, 1891. Its success has exceeded all expectations. His original intention was to return to the Ministry after seeing the Company well on its feet, but owing to the strong pressure of his co-directors he decided to give his whole time to the Secretaryship and Management, and it is owing to his great foresight, thoroughness and efficiency that the Company has progressed so well.

It is a sad coincidence that Mr. Antliff passed away just after what has turned out to be the close of the most successful year in the history of the Company. The Company's financial year ends on the fifteenth of July, and he died on the twenty-first. Of the original members of the Board there are only three survivors, viz., Rev. W. F. Clarkson, B.A., of the Isle of Wight; Rev. E. J. Dukes, of London; and the Rev. J. P. Perkins, of London. Mr. Antliff held the secretaryship for thirty-two years (1891-1923), when he became Managing Director. During the whole of that period he never missed attending a single Board Meeting. He had been blessed with unusually happy relations with his colleagues, and continually expressed his gratitude for the help he always received from them. In his active days he worked morning, noon and night for the Company, and his work at times entailed a great deal of self-sacrifice.

Through the profits of the Company many denominational societies and special efforts have benefited by substantial amounts, and hundreds of pounds in this way have been distributed.

W. J. A.

ATTWELL, William, was born in London in 1835. In his youth he was a keen worker in Lord Shaftesbury's Ragged Schools in East London. Coming under the influence of Cardinal Newman for two years he worshipped alternately in his parish church and at Brompton Oratory. As the result of his studies he finally became a Nonconformist and entered Hackney College in 1865.

After two years as assistant at Castle Street, Reading (1868-70) he offered himself to the London Missionary Society and, directly after his marriage to Gertrude, daughter of the Rev. Geo. Moore, of Wingrave, was sent to Madagascar (1870-74) where he did much pioneer work. Owing to ill-health he returned in 1874 and settled in Potterspury. This charge he left in 1877 to rebuild the church at Thorfield, which done, he accepted the pastorate at Newmarket the following year till 1883. After a four years' interval he went as Pastor to Bradford-on-Avon in 1887 and retired in 1898. His last official act was his participation in the Bradford Parish Church at the United Service at the termination of the War.

A generous sympathetic nature, a man of indomitable courage, he stood "four square to all the winds that blew." He died February 13, 1927.

M. A.

BAIRSTOW, Mark, was born in Castleford, Yorks, February 28, 1859, and died at Liverpool, September 8, 1927, aged sixty-eight, after forty-three years' service in the ministry.

He commenced his career as a glass-blower, but soon found that his tendencies were towards spreading the Gospel of Christ, and he formed the Red-Ribbon Army and built "Bairstow's" Tabernacle in Knottingley, Yorks. During these early days he was a leader in the agitation against Roman Catholicism at the time of the secret Oxford Movement.

By self-education and close study he qualified for the Methodist ministry and held pastorates at Bond Street and Well Street, Birmingham. He followed Dr. Leach at the Birmingham Town Hall Sunday afternoon lectures, where he drew crowded audiences.

Through the instrumentality of Rev. Nicholas Knight he went over to the Congregational Church, and the late Rev. Dr. Charles Berry pioneered his admission into the Congregational Union in 1894. He held the following pastorates: Salem, Great Bridge, West Bromwich (1894-1908); Hope, Hanley (1908-12); Hindpool Road, Barrow-in-Furness (1912-16); Emmanuel, Rainhill, Lanes. (1916-25).

Mr. Bairstow's main work in the Congregational Churches was at Salem, Great Bridge, where he served over fourteen years. He had a wonderful dramatic power, being able to have his audience in laughter and tears within the short space of five minutes. When given the call to this church he only accepted on condition that it would become self-supporting, and Salem is still an unaided church.

Mr. Bairstow was an author, lecturer and missionary.

He leaves a widow, four sons, and three daughters. His eldest son is pastor of Wycliffe Congregational Church, Alfreton.

L. V. B.

BARKER, Thomas John, was born at Llannilleth, Newport, Mon., October 3, 1866.

He was trained for the Congregational Ministry at Nottingham College and held the following pastorates: St. Stephen's (C.H), Rochdale (1895-98), Hindpool Road, Barrow-in-Furness (1898-1906); Read and Rishton (1906-08); Cherry Tree, Blackburn (1908-16); Richmond, Salford (1916-23); and Huyton (1923-26). In 1926 he was compelled to retire owing to a serious breakdown in health.

He served on the Barrow School Board, was Secretary of the Blackburn S.S.U., and delegate to the National Conference. He also was on the Executive of the Lancashire Association of S.S.U.s, and was President of the Salford S.S.U. In the various Free Church Councils he held offices of President and Secretary. He died May 9, 1927.

J. W.

CHISHOLM, James Wilson, of Dallam House, Saltaire, who died on July 27, at the age of eighty-five, began his ministerial career with the United Methodist Church in Cornwall. He served, among other places, at Burslem and Russell Street, Liverpool, and at the end of 1887 entered the Congregational ministry as Pastor of Range Bank Church, Halifax. He accepted a call to Ravensthorpe in March, 1890, and remained there eighteen years. There he built up a strong and flourishing church. For the children he had a special place in his heart. On one occasion a small boy rang Mr. Chisholm's door-bell to inquire if he could come out and play with him. He was a witty and acceptable political speaker, and served also for many years on the Dewsbury Board of Guardians, of which he was Chairman for three years. The P.S.A. Movement found him ever ready to help. That which lifted him to the place that he occupied in the hearts of his people was that he was in truth a minister of God. As such he is remembered first and last. After his retirement in 1908 he became a deacon at Saltaire Congregational Church.

A. C.

CLARKE, Thomas, was born at Wootton Bassett in Wiltshire, April 5, 1850. Always desirous of entering the ministry, he was received into Rotherham College in 1872, winning the only scholarship then awarded—the Hansell Scholarship. In August, 1877, he was chosen as assistant pastor to the late Dr. Campbell at Horton Lane Congregational Church, Bradford, and was put in charge of the daughter church at Little Horton (1877-1901). A few years later Little Horton separated from its mother church and Mr. Clarke became its first minister. There he continued nearly twenty-four years a successful ministry.

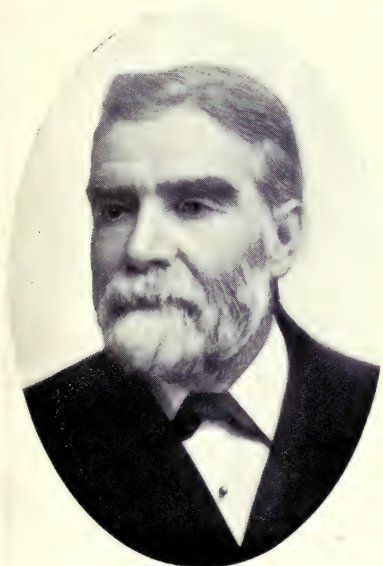

In 1901 he resigned his pastorate and was engaged in teaching with occasional preaching until he accepted an invitation to Low Row, Swaledale, Congregational Church (1902-22). As a teacher he chiefly taught languages and was in charge of the Latin Class at Carlton Street Evening School, Bradford.

WM. D. DAVIES
(LIBANUS).

J. ALFORD DAVIES,
B.A., B.D.

He left Low Row at Easter, 1922, and took charge of a small day school and chapel at Thornton Rust, near Aysgarth, Wensleydale. In September he finally retired to live with his son at Evesham and passed away on January 18, 1927.

Always interested in education and largely due to his efforts institutes were built at Low Row and Thornton Rust. He was one of the founders of the Yorkshire Dialect Society and its secretary from 1898-1908, and later was elected a vice-president. As a minister his ready sympathy and earnestness caused him to be widely esteemed. On his retirement both from Little Horton and Low Row he received presentations.

He married on February 4, 1879, Henrietta, second daughter of Thomas Carr, of Edlington, Doncaster. He leaves a widow and two sons.

W. C.

COOKSLEY, William James, born April 10, 1835, at Torquay, Devon, was prepared for the ministry by the Rev. Nicholas Hurry, Pastor of Abbey Road Church, Torquay, who recommended him to his first pastorate at Killamarsh, Derbyshire (1877-82). He then removed to West Melton, Yorkshire (1882-95) where he exercised a faithful ministry for thirteen and a half years. At Stanley, Wakefield (1895-1900) he further ministered until his retirement to his native town of Torquay. There he rendered assistance to various churches by occasional services. He passed away April 21, 1927, aged ninety-two.

W. A. B.

COWLEY, Joseph Freeman, was born at Northampton, February 8, 1859. He was trained for the ministry under Dr. Caleb Scott at the Lancashire Independent College. His first pastorate was at High Street Chapel Lancaster (1885-1909), where he remained for over twenty-three years. After working for some time in connection with the Mansfield House University Settlement he accepted the pastorate of the Congregational Church at Erith (1909-12), Kent, and later ministered at Belvedere (1918-20) and Mitcham (1920-24).

Mr. Cowley was a great student and his sermons always bore the stamp of thoughtfulness and careful reading. During his retirement he became a member of Purley Church to which he rendered valuable service, especially in connection with the Lay Preachers' Association.

Rather late in life he married Miss Bell, daughter of Dr. Bell, a predecessor in the pastorate at Lancaster.

Mr. Cowley died suddenly at Wallington on May 13, 1927.

DARLOW, Thomas Herbert, M.A., was born at Ramsey, Hunts, and educated at Clare College, Cambridge, Lancashire College, and Leipzig University. He was a mathematical master before entering the ministry. His first pastorate was at Crosby Congregational Church, Liverpool (1885-91). Then he was Warden of Browning Hall, York Street, Walworth, London (1891-92), and later minister at New College Church, South Hampstead (1892-98). His true life-work was as Literary Superintendent of the British and Foreign Bible Society, to which he gave twenty-five strenuous years. A man of sound, shrewd sense, illumined by a fine gift of humour and a rare geniality of spirit, he had friends in every theological camp and in many camps not theological at all. His historical catalogue of the printed editions of the Bible was the product of painstaking erudition, while the letters of Borrow which he resuscitated from the archives of the Bible Society made a valuable contribution to literature. His Life of Sir William Robertson Nicoll was at once his magnum opus and a revelation of his own candid and honest spirit. Only a few days before his death there was published a volume of Frances Ridley Havergal's writings, with a delightful appreciation from Mr. Darlow's pen. He was a frequent contributor to The British Weekly and occasionally he wrote for The Christian World.

Herbert Darlow (wrote one who had known him intimately for forty years) had a real genius for friendship, which embraced all sorts and conditions of men. He was most human, and though no one could be more earnest and devout in the pulpit, there was no one who could enjoy more heartily a good story. His laugh was infectious. With working men he had the gift of winning their entire confidence. While he was still an undergraduate at Cambridge he spent a large part of one summer vacation as member of a North Sea fishing crew. Long afterwards, when he was with the Bible Society and lived at Pinner, he gathered all the miscellaneous working men of the neighbourhood into a week-day "Pipe Parliament," where all matters religious and social were talked over.

At the time of his death Mr. Darlow was Chairman of the Directors of the Independent Press, Ltd., in connection with the Congregational Union of England and Wales.

Mr. Darlow's books included "Christmas Poems," "The Print of the Nails," "The Upward Calling," "God's Image in Ebony," and "At Home in the Bible."

He died suddenly in Naples on Sunday, October 23, 1927, aged sixty-nine.

DAVIES, Edward, was born at Penddol, Llanbrynmair, Montgomeryshire, on August 12, 1853. His mother died on his birth, but a foster-mother was immediately forthcoming, who by strange coincidence adopted another motherless infant simultaneously, and no true brothers for their lifetime had stronger affinity.

He was received a member of Hen Gapel, Llanbrynmair, by Dr. Owen Evans, when thirteen years old. Early in life he was taught the tailoring trade. Removing to Brynamman, Carmarthenshire, his remarkable intellectual gifts constrained the church at Gibeau, with its pastor, the Rev. J. Morlais Jones, to persuade him to enter the ministry, and he, with three other young men who became eminent also, after a short period at a preparatory school, entered Bala College.

On February 14 and 15, 1881, he was ordained minister of Ebenezer Church, Abercynffig. A happy pastorate for both church and pastor was in full evidence for a considerable period, but a great blow was sustained by the Church when the Park Slip explosion occurred on August 26, 1892, and thirty-one male members were lost. Still, being an optimist, Mr. Davies fought bravely, and the church flourished again. During recent years he suffered from frequent spells of ill-health until in June, 1920, he relinquished his charge much to the regret of those by whom he was so highly esteemed. He died on July 16, 1927.

Widely known as a preacher of rare qualities, he was in great demand by other churches. His exceptional fervency in prayer marked him as unique in worship. His care of his flock was unsurpassed, and his memory will long remain as a sacred perfume in the locality where his personality was a tower of moral strength. He leaves a widow and three daughters to mourn his departure.

D. W.

DAVIES, John Alford, B.A., B.D., was born April 23, 1863. He was a son of Rev. Thomas Davies, of Shiloh Welsh Independent Church, Llanelly. Educated at the Athenæum School of his native town, he matriculated at London University in the first division in June, 1881, entered Cheshunt College in September of the same year, and after taking his B.A. degree left in 1886 to take charge of the church at New Barnet. While there he became B.D. of St. Andrews, and in 1895 was elected Chairman of the Herts Union. For thirty-one years he remained in New Barnet, winning great popularity in the neighbourhood and far beyond. In 1917 he removed to Week Street Church, Maidstone. In 1924 he returned to Hertfordshire, accepting the oversight of the church at Radlett, but after eighteen months' service there he was stricken with what proved to be a fatal illness, and retired at the end of 1926. He died April 19, 1927, at St. Albans, whither his family had removed in the early part of the year. The funeral service was held in his old church at New Barnet, on April 22, and was conducted by the Revs. S. I. Blomfield, J. G. Henderson, and W. E. Jenkins. The interment was at Bell's Hill Cemetery, High Barnet.

The incarnation of geniality, an accomplished scholar, a striking pictorial preacher, Mr. Davies published a volume of sermons, "Seven Words of Love," and a small descriptive and gossip guide to the Barnets.

J. G. H.

DAVIES, William Dyfodwg, was born at Merthyr in 1862. As a youth he entered the scholastic profession, but soon there awakened within him the desire for service as a Christian minister. He entered New College, London, where he held the Bennet-King Scholarship. The year 1888 brought to him an invitation to the pastorate of Libanus Congregational Church, Morriston, Swansea. While quite a young minister he served upon the Swansea School Board for six years. He became known also as a sane and powerful political speaker. His election to the Executive Committee of the South Wales English Union was not long delayed, and he passed ultimately into the Chair of the Union. In him the weaker churches always found a sympathetic and strong advocate. Under his care the church at Morriston was able to erect a new schoolroom, to obtain a new organ, and to clear a considerable debt, from which it was free at the time of his death.

September, 1927, brought to a close a ministry of thirty-nine years, all spent in the service of Libanus. He died at the age of sixty-four, and leaves a widow, whose tact and fidelity considerably enlarged his influence, two daughters, and three sons, one of whom is the Rev. Selwyn Davies, of Walkden Congregational Church, Lanes.

S. D.

EDWARDS, James, was a native of Cardiganshire, but commenced to preach at Hermon Church, Conwil, Carmarthenshire, and after a preparatory course at the Newcastle Emlyn Grammar School entered the Brecon Memorial College.

At the close of his college career he accepted an invitation to become the minister of Libanus Church, Ebbw Vale, Mon., where he was ordained in 1868. In 1877 he removed to take charge of the church at Llanbadarn, Cardiganshire, and after ministering there with great success he settled at Neath in 1883.

For several years he was a member of the Neath Board of Guardians, the School Board, and at the time of his death was one of the managers of the Neath Group of Glamorgan Council Schools. The Nonconformist religious services as at present carried out at the Neath Poor Law Institution by dissenting ministers are a memorial to a great stand he made at a meeting of the Board of Guardians over the question several years ago. Mr. Edwards was a most popular preacher. He filled the Chair of the South Glamorgan Congregational Union and also of the Glamorgan Welsh County Assembly.

He relinquished his charge of Zoar Church two years before his death, having held the pastorate for forty-two years. The last public service he performed was to preside at the induction meeting of his successor. He died at the residence of his daughter at Merthyr Tydfil, October 19, 1927, aged eighty-six, leaving two sons and three daughters, his wife having died some years previously.

R. O. E.

EVANS, D. Wynne, was born at Llanybyther, South Wales. After a brief time in the railway service, he entered Bala College, and was ordained at Llanrwst. He was presently called to larger responsibilities in South Wales, where he for several years ministered to the church at Llanelly, associated with the early ministry of the late Rev. Ossian Davies. Eventually he entered the English ministry, serving the churches at Queen Street, Chester (1897-1909), and Llandrindod Wells (1909-12). Removing to London, he rendered excellent service to the Metropolitan churches—east and west. He was suddenly called home on May 31, 1927, leaving a widow and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss. As a preacher—in Welsh and English—he occupied a deservedly high position, and was one of the best-known members of the London Congregational Union. But he will be affectionately remembered—not alone for his gifts and services, but for his delightful personal character. A large and representative assembly gathered round his grave, at Aberavon, where he was laid to rest at the age of sixty-six.

FERGUSON, John Hall, M.A., was born April 27, 1854, in Glasgow. Educated in Preston and for four years at Glasgow University where he took his M.A. degree. He then entered the Lancashire Independent College, Whalley Range, Manchester, gaining the Sharrock Scholarship. After a three years' Theological course at Manchester, he was appointed in February, 1881, as minister to the Walton Congregational church, Liverpool. This was his only charge. In 1901 the church was removed from Walton Park and rebuilt in Rice Lane, Walton.

In 1891 he married Miss Alison R. Gibson, daughter of Jas. Gibson, of "The Shaws," Ettrick, Selkirkshire; his wife died in February, 1912.

JAMES FOSTER.

JAMES GEDDES.

During the whole of the War he was officiating minister at the Fazakerley Hospital.

He was Chairman of the Walton School Board until Walton was taken over by the Liverpool Authorities, and was also Chairman of the Management Committee of the Rice Lane Council School.

He retired in December, 1918, after thirty-eight years in the ministry.

His death, on Friday, August 26, 1927, was very sudden, he having only returned on the previous Monday from a three weeks' holiday in Scotland (age seventy-three years).

He leaves one son and one daughter. C. A. F.

FOSTER, James, was born in London on March 28, 1839, and entered into rest on July 1, 1927, at the age of eighty-eight.

His first pastorate was at Hartland (1876-79) where he spent three happy years. In 1879 he became the pastor of Adsett Congregational Church, Westbury-on-Severn (1879-86), and there he was instrumental in establishing two new stations and purchasing a Manse. He was called to the pastorate of North Place Church, Cheltenham (C.H.), in 1886, where he remained until his retirement in 1920.

He was a man of untiring energy. His many activities embraced the pioneering in Cheltenham of the P.S.A. movement, the Boys' Brigade, Christian Endeavour Societies, and the St. John Ambulance Classes. He was twice president of the Countess of Huntingdon's Connexion, and had been president of the Cheltenham Free Church Council, the Christian Endeavour Union, and the Sunday School Union, of which he had also been secretary and examiner. A. C. F.

GEDDES, James, passed away on February 23, 1927, at the age of eighty-six. He was born in Rathven, Banffshire, in 1841. At an early age he went to Glasgow and became a journalist. There he came under the influence of an evangelist, discarded Catholicism, in which he was reared, and became a Free Churchman.

Trained at Hackney College, he accepted in 1868 the pastorate of Bexley Heath Church, where he stayed until his retirement in 1920, when he moved to Eltham. He visited his people regularly, and had the great gift of finding a point of contact with all. He was keenly interested in philanthropic and educational work, and proved himself to be a warm friend of working people. He received calls to more important churches, but always refused to leave Bexley Heath. After his retirement he preached frequently in Eltham and neighbourhood, and continued his work up to a fortnight of his passing.

His pastorate of fifty-two years in one church is almost a record in the ministry. J. A.

GREGORY, John, was born on February 11, 1850, at Barking, Essex. Having shown a vocation for the ministry he took the full course of study at Hackney College.

He began his ministry as assistant to the Rev. W. Thomas at Queen Street, Leeds, with the charge of the recently-started branch church at Oak Road (1873-94). A fine edifice was built in 1876, the church ultimately became independent of Queen Street, and Mr. Gregory was chosen as its first minister. He laboured at Oak Road for twenty-one years with conspicuous devotion; saw the church grow into maturity, and loved every stone in its fabric. He was of a very sympathetic nature, a real pastor to his people, took a deep interest in the welfare of the district, and was one of the pioneers of the Brotherhood movement.

In 1894 he accepted the pastorate of Adelphi Chapel, Hackney (1894-1902) which, owing to rapid social changes in the district, soon proved to be a struggle against overwhelming odds, until his health was shattered and he had to retire from active service. During his retirement nothing cheered his spirit more than converse on the great themes of the Christian pastor, or talks with old friends of bygone days in Leeds. The jubilee of Oak Road Church took place the year before he died, and his brief address at the evening service will long be remembered.

He died on February 5, 1927, at Ilkley, where he had lived for the last few years. He is truly described by one who knew him well as "a real Christian gentleman." E. B.

GRIFFITHS, William, was born at Craigcefnparc, Swansea Valley, in 1856. Blessed with godly parents, when very young he was received into church membership at Pantycrws Congregational Church.

After preparatory training at Llangadog School, he entered the Presbyterian College, Carmarthen, where he remained four years. On completing his course, in 1883, he took charge of the Maenygroes and Nanternis Congregational Churches, near New Quay, Cardiganshire, where his ministry has been marked by the rebuilding of Maenygroes Chapel in 1900, and the provision of a commodious schoolroom and manse.

He took a leading part in connection with education and other public movements in the County of Cardigan, being an alderman and a past Chairman of the County Council. Owing to failing health, in 1920 he retired from the pastoral charge of Maenygroes and Nanternis Churches, where he had successfully laboured for thirty-eight years.

He passed away in October, 1927, at the age of seventy-one, and leaves a widow and one son to mourn their loss. He was loved and honoured by a wide circle of friends. F. H. D.

HORTON, Edward Vipond, was born in North Shields in 1844 and died at Bude, January 28, 1927.

In 1868 he settled in Newport, Essex, for six happy years (1868-74). He also held pastorates at Stroud, Glos. (1874-75); Chatteris (1878-83); Streatham (1885-87); Shaldon (1899-1904); Falmouth (1905-09), and during the war at St. Columb (1918-23).

Mr. Horton had travelled considerably, having been on a tour round the world. He was twice married and lost his only son during the Great War.

The greater part of his retirement was spent at Bude, Cornwall, where he will be greatly missed. A man much beloved, it was a great joy to him to assist in the formation of a Congregational Church at Bude, of which he was Secretary.

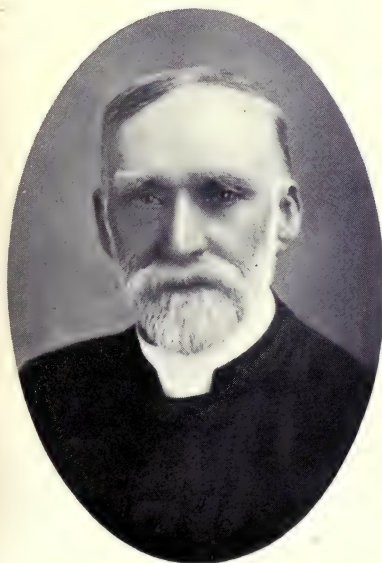

HUGHES, Thomas Arwel, was born on September 22, 1864, at Trelech, Carmarthenshire.

He was prepared for the ministry at Carmarthen Presbyterian College, and his first pastorate was at Nazareth Congregational Chapel, Pontlottyn (1894-1901), where he also served as a member of the Gelligaer School Board and other public bodies. He then removed to Bethesda Congregational Chapel, Briton Ferry, and completed twenty-five years' successful ministry there in February, 1927, during which time he freed his church from debt and erected a new church at Court Sart, Briton Ferry. He took a prominent part in the public life of the town, acting for many years as the Secretary of the Briton Ferry Free Church Council, United Singing Festival, Llansawel Cymreigyddion, local branches of the League of Nations Union, and British and Foreign Bible Society. He had also been a governor of the Neath Schools under the Glamorgan Education Committee, and was a past Chairman of the South Glamorgan Congregational Association.

A popular and powerful preacher, his services were in great demand throughout the Welsh denomination.

He leaves a widow, the daughter of the late Police-Superintendent Thomas Phillips, Aberystwyth, and two sons (who are both on the staff of Messrs. Barclays Bank Ltd.).

H. M. H.

JACK, James Crichton, born at Newtyle, Forfarshire, March 8, 1842, was ordained at Victoria Street Presbyterian Church, Great Grimsby, by the Darlington Presbytery in 1875.

He was in the ministry of the Presbyterian Church of Scotland from 1880-93: in U.S.A. (1903-07). Returning to England in 1907 he received a unanimous invitation to St. John's Independent Church (Eng.), Jersey, where he laboured with much appreciation until 1910, when he retired to Buxton, Derbyshire.

He had outstanding gifts as a preacher, pastor and writer. While in Jersey he wrote a small book on the history of Congregationalism in the Island, with special reference to St. John's Church.

He gave three sons to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church of Scotland.

He died March 4, 1927, aged eighty-five.

J. W. J.

JAMES, Alfred, whose ministry covered sixty years, of which fifty were spent in the city of Leicester, was a man of distinctive personality and of quite exceptional pastoral gifts. He was born in London, January 26, 1841, and was a member of Westminster Chapel in Samuel Martin's day. He was trained at Bristol College under Dr. E. J. Hartland. The first ten years of his work he passed in country pastorates; at Hadleigh, Suffolk (1867-69); Fairford, Gloucestershire; (1869-72); and Mevagissey, Cornwall (1872-77). He never forgot Mevagissey. All his life he loved best, after the thrum of London, the splash of the sea waves; and a picture of the old Cornish fishing-harbour hung above his study mantel-shelf all through the busy Leicester years.

He came to Leicester in 1877, to the Humberstone Road church; and during his pastorate there of twenty-nine years (1877-1906) the present church was built. In September, 1899, he was appointed Nonconformist Chaplain to the Leicester Royal Infirmary, the appointment being made by the Governors of the Infirmary and the Leicester Free Church Council. He held this appointment till the date of his death, February 12, 1927; and he was working at the Infirmary up to the very evening of his last illness. It was work for which he had unusual qualifications of heart and soul; and he won and kept the affection and confidence of the whole staff, and especially of his patients. Work of this kind touched the very depths of his nature, his sympathy, and his surprisingly deep human understanding. At the same time he was through all these years constantly preaching in the towns and villages of the county, and he continued to do this right up to the end. He was preaching at Billesdon only a fortnight before his death.

He married in 1870, Elizabeth, the eldest daughter of the Rev. Thomas Page, of Tetbury, Gloucestershire. On the occasion of their Golden Wedding, in August, 1920, Mr. and Mrs. James were entertained by the Governors of the Royal Infirmary and the Leicester Congregational Council, and were the recipients of many gifts of appreciation and esteem.

Such was his work; done year after year through sixty years of faithful toil. So he lived, and so he died; setting little store on this world's things, but greatly setting store on the service of God and of his fellow-men; and at the very end saying of himself and of his life only this: "Well, I have tried to show men that religion is a practical thing." It is not too much to say that as a pastor he had a strain of genius in him; just that mystic touch on life which comes of living fellowship with Jesus Christ.

He was eighty-six when he died. He leaves a widow, one daughter, and four sons. Perhaps nothing gave him more lasting joy than that three of his sons are Congregational ministers.

A. T. S. J.

JOHNSON, Frank, A.T.S., was born at Bilston, Staffs, on June 25, 1861, and died on September 13, 1927 at St. Albans. Educated at Wolverhampton and London University, he became assistant master of the Model Schools of Borough Road Training College, where he remained for two years, after which he took his theological course at New College, where he was Pye Smith Scholar and Associate of the Theological Senatus. His first pastorate was at Stone (1893-99), where he was Secretary to the Staffs Congregational Union. He was appointed editor of The Sunday School Chronicle in 1899, an appointment he held until his death. From 1909-12 he was also editor of The British Congregationalist. He became Publications Secretary of the National Sunday School Union in 1911, and in 1914 founded the Graded School Quarterlies. Since 1913 he had been Hon. Secretary of the British Lessons Council. During the war years of 1916-18 he was pastor of the Hemel Hempstead Church. In addition to contributions to his own journals he was the author of "Faith and Vision," "Under Cross and Crescent," "The Life of Sir Francis F. Belsey," "The Disciple's Prayer," and "The Way of Success."

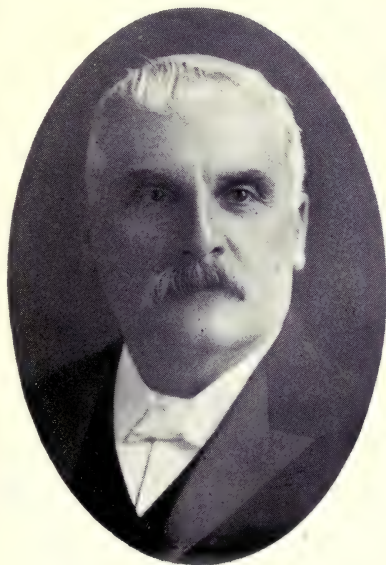

JOHNSON, Joseph, was born at Basingstoke on March 31, 1848. Educated at a private school at Ringwood he started on a business career; this however was soon abandoned, and in 1869 he entered Cheshunt College. His first ministry was at Howe Chapel, Bermondsey (1875-77), where he remained for two years, leaving in 1877 for Ashton-on-Mersey. There his life work lay and he did not relinquish his pastorate until 1920.

M. H. LE PLA.

A. MARTINDALE.

A. U. MOFFATT.

He was a man of wide interests, had a keen appreciation of scholarship and of what was good in Art and Literature. He wrote several books for children—of which "Dibs" was widely known—a few hymns, including "God speaks to us in word and song," and a critical study of George MacDonald. For many years he served as a Guardian. But his chief characteristic was his joyous and optimistic spirit, and his best memorial will be in the hearts of the people amongst whom he worked.

He died on December 12, 1926.

J. M. O. J.

JOHNSTONE, Archibald, was born at Kendal in Westmoreland in 1857 and died at Richmond, Surrey, in March, 1927.

He was originally trained as an architect, but after serving his articles felt called to higher service, and entered Spring Hill College, Birmingham, his idea at the time being to take up Mission work in the South Seas. His plans were subsequently modified, however, and he took charge of Burton Street Church, Tewkesbury (1883-88); removing to Sion Chapel, Halifax (1888-90). In January, 1901, he commenced his ministry at Vineyard Congregational Church, Richmond, remaining there until compelled by failing health to resign in 1916.

For thirty-three years he preached and practised a robust type of Christianity, devoting his attention more to the practical than to the purely theological. He was for some years on the Directorate of the London Missionary Society; took a keen interest in charitable organisations and was the first nonconformist to sit on the Richmond Charity Commission. He was also a member of the British Astronomical Association and for several years hon. secretary to the Richmond Athenæum.

JONES, Henry Llewellyn, was born March 12, 1842, at Llwynbwdyn, Llanuwchllyn, Merioneth. He was at first employed on farms, but had a strong inclination for literature and education, and was admitted to Borough Road College, London, intending to be a day-school teacher. Part of the college being destroyed by fire, he returned home, and went as a schoolmaster at Park, near Bala. Persuaded by the Rev. Rhys M. Thomas to enter the ministry, he was received into Bala Independent College in 1874. On May 20, 1878, he was ordained minister of the churches at Rhesycae and Rhydymwyn, Flintshire, thus becoming a successor to his late pastor, Rhys M. Thomas. In 1889 he married Miss M. Watkin and found in her a sympathetic comrade in his work.

Mr. Jones was a man of sound judgment and a faithful friend. During his ministry a new chapel was erected at Rhesycae, to which a large cemetery was added, and the debt has been wiped off. He rendered valuable service to Denbighshire and Flintshire Union, and was a regular member of its committees. His strong personality and activity enabled him to maintain a fruitful ministry in the same pastorate for forty-eight years, and everybody respected and loved him.

He died February 8, 1927.

T. E. T.

LE PLA, Matthew Henry, was born in Dublin in 1839, of a Huguenot family which had been settled in Cambridgeshire from the seventeenth century. Under strong religious impression, as a young man, he resolved to devote himself to definite Christian service. After attending Trinity College for some time, he came to London to work in connection with the London City Mission. In 1869, however, under the advice and counsel of the Rev. James Rowland, of Henley, he accepted the pastorate of the Congregational Church at Pheasants Hill, Hambledon (1869-71). Mr. Le Pla removed to Beaconsfield (1871-74), where, during a successful ministry, a new and beautiful church was erected. He held pastorates afterwards at Robert Street, Grosvenor Square (1874-76); Llanelly (1876-81); Exeter (1881-90); Kingsland (1890-1902; and Theale (1904-1907). Returning to Beaconsfield in 1908, he served his old church as temporary pastor, and through the difficult war-period, finally retiring in 1919. He passed away at Beaconsfield, in honoured age, on August 28, 1927.

MARTINDALE, Alfred, was born at Manchester in 1856. He was educated at Owens College, and after a short period in business proceeded to Rotherham College, where he was trained for the Congregational ministry. His parents, however, had intended that he should enter the Established Church, in which faith he had been brought up.

He was co-pastor at Richmond Hill, Bournemouth (1883-86), where he was ordained. He then went to Harrold (Beds) (1886-1901). In 1901 he returned to Bournemouth to take up the pastorate of the Westbourne Church, which he held for nine years (1901-10). He later held pastorates at Mevagissey, Cornwall (1911-18), and Yardley Hastings (Northants) (1918-26), for eight years at each place.

He passed away on January 12, 1927, on the very eve of his retirement from the active ministry. D. P. M.

MOFFATT, Andrew Umphray, born August 26, 1881, was a native of the Shetland Isles, where he spent his early youth. For a time he took up architectural work, until the ministry called him and he became a student at Didsbury College, Manchester.

He held pastorates at Falkirk; Annan (1905-07); Cecil Street, Carlisle (1908-12); Whitechurch (Salop) (1912-22); Salisbury Park, Wrexham (1923-27).

During the war he was in active service as H.C.F. in France, Belgium, Salonika, Mesopotamia, Palestine and Egypt, as well as being stationed for some time at Prees Heath camp and Salisbury Plain. Being demobilised in 1919, he returned to the church at Dodington, Whitechurch.

Taken seriously ill on May 18 with pneumonia and heart trouble he died on May 28, 1927.

MORGAN, Ithiel Wilfred, was born December 6, 1883, and educated in the Mercers' School, London. He entered the Westminster Bank, but after only a few months' service yielded to the call to the Christian ministry, and was entered at New College, Hampstead. Leaving college, he had charge of the Kentish Town Mission for a short time in connection with Dr. Horton's church. Appointed by the L.M.S. to India, he served with passionate devotion for eight years at Kaurapukur and Hastings Church, Calcutta (1909-17). The serious illness of his wife and little boy compelled his return to England, and he was invited to the church at Hither Green (1918-25). His seven years' pastorate made a lasting impression by his self-sacrificing and idealistic life. At Rochester also (1925-27) he found devoted friends and workers through his Christlike self-forgetfulness and sincerity.

He felt a special call to the outsider. People in prison, the down-and-out, men in the toils of moneylenders, gamblers, criminals, drunkards, unmarried mothers—no sacrifice was counted too great if he could save or serve these.

He died August 14, 1927, aged forty-three.

A. H.

MORGAN, Richard John, was born at Hirwain, Glam, November 20, 1866. After a brief business career he entered Cheshunt College. On leaving college he became assistant pastor at Headingley, Leeds (1901-04). He also held pastorates at Hope Church, Salford (1904-15), and Bocking, Braintree (1915-27). A man of commanding presence and marked ability he soon established himself in the hearts of his people. He was elected Chairman of the Essex Congregational Union in 1925 and was Secretary of the Braintree District. He was also Chairman of the Braintree School Managers.

A sunny nature, full of enthusiasm and optimism, his presence and counsel were always welcome in Church and local affairs.

He died June 8, 1927, and leaves a widow who loyally shared his work.

R. S.

MORRIS, John, was born at Perthengam, Mostyn, Flintshire, July 21, 1856. Brought up in a religious atmosphere, on leaving home he spent some time in Denbigh, where his religious convictions were deepened, and his interest in social problems was kindled. He went to Liverpool whilst a young man and joined the Tabernacle, Welsh Church, where the late Dr. John Thomas ministered. His pastor soon induced him to exercise his gifts as a lay preacher and he rendered valuable service to the Welsh churches in Lancashire and elsewhere.

In 1912 he was ordained in Lord Duncan Street Chapel, Salford, and was pastor of Queen's Road (1912-27) and later of Hollinwood Churches, Manchester (1918-26). His ministry was very effective, and his gracious personality endeared him to all. Although his prolonged illness prevented, during the last two years, the discharge of his ministerial duties, the church at Lord Duncan Street refused to the last to accept his resignation.

He passed away on January 22, 1927. Much sympathy is felt for his only daughter and three sons.

T. P. D.

MUIR, William, was born at Kirkcaldy, in 1856. He was brought up at Burntisland, to which his family removed when he was a child.

Physical disability prevented his becoming a doctor, the career he would have chosen. He was at one time a pupil teacher, and also spent some time as a clerk before circumstances led him to enter the ministry.

He passed through the Scotch Baptists' Theological Hall, and studied at Glasgow University, and was then ordained and inducted to the charge of the Baptist Church at Dumfries.

He became pastor of the little Congregational Church at Laureekirk, Kincardineshire (1887-94). That his services there were much appreciated by his people was shown when, at the centenary celebration of the church, he received from them a handsome gold watch.

In 1894 he went to Inverurie, Aberdeenshire, to the Congregational Church there (1894-1926), with its little mission station at Kinmuick, where a monthly service used to be held. There he laboured till his health gave way, receiving public recognition of his services several times, particularly at his semi-jubilee. He was a faithful pastor and a diligent student to the end. In January, 1926, he resigned his charge through ill-health, and later went to reside near his native town. There he passed peacefully away on January 9, 1927, after an illness of over two years. He was predeceased many years by his wife, and leaves an only daughter.

Though keenly interested in all public affairs, he took no active part in them, except for his services to the Inverurie Public Library, of which he was convener of the Book Committee for twenty years. The committee and friends made him a handsome presentation on his retirement.

M. E. F.

NACHIM, Michael, was a Russian Jew, born in 1836 in Odessa, where his grandfather had been chief Rabbi. He was named Reuben after him, taking the name of Michael at his baptism.

Baptised into the Christian faith by Dr. Stern in 1856, after a period of training he became a missionary and was engaged for some years in work in connection with the London Jews' Society, but entered the service of the British Society for the Propagation of the Gospel among the Jews in 1869. Ordained to the Christian ministry in 1877, he never, however, occupied a pastorate, but laboured abundantly in pleading the cause of Christ among his Jewish brethren in England and abroad for sixty-seven years. Highly honoured and successful in his work, he met with an accident in London, was taken to hospital, where he died on December 21, 1926, in his ninety-first year.

He had long been a prominent figure in missionary and Hebrew Christian circles and is mourned by his widow and the Society he served so well.

J. W.

NEALE, Thomas, was born at Ratby, Leicestershire, in 1855. In that village his early Christian environment was among Primitive Methodists and also his first Christian endeavour.

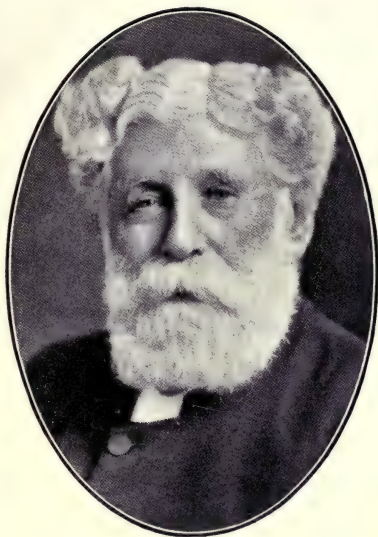

His Congregational ministry opened in 1885 at Anstey, with Groby and Humberstone, three villages near Leicester: and for seven years he served the group. In 1892 he went to Northampton, as first minister of Doddridge Branch Chapel. Four years later, as the result of his devoted labours, the new Doddridge Memorial Church was erected, where he stayed five years more (1892-1901). In 1901 he became the minister of Sanvy Gate Mission Church, Leicester (1901-26). After twenty-five years' service there unstintingly rendered, he retired December 31, 1926. A fortnight after the farewell gathering he passed away suddenly, February 4, 1927.

At Leicester City Mental Hospital he was Free Church Chaplain.

His modesty won him the affectionate esteem of all.

He leaves his widow, one son, and two daughters, "sorrowful yet rejoicing."

NICHOLS, John Broadhurst, was born at Knutsford, Cheshire, May 26, 1855, and trained at Didsbury College. He held pastorates at Noel Street, Nottingham (1883-86); Oxford Street, Leicester (1887-94); Haverstock Hill, London (1894-1906); West Ealing (1906-24).

He retired in 1924 after forty-one year's ministry, and died September 6, 1927, aged seventy-two, after a long illness.

Author of "The Practical Value of Christianity," in 1888. In 1898 he won the £100 prize offered by the Religious Tract Society for the best book on "Evangelical Belief." Later he wrote "The Advance of Romanism."

For some time he was a member of the St. Pancras Borough Council, and for twelve years a school manager under the London School Board. He had also held office as President of Ealing and Hanwell Free Church Council and was a director of the L.M.S.

M. J. N.

ORGAN, Alfred Henry Albert, A.T.S., was born in Gloucester, 1873. He was educated at the Crypt Grammar School, Gloucester, and at the Collegiate School, Taunton. After leaving school he took up tutorial work at Tetbury and later at Bournemouth. While at Bournemouth he came under the influence of the Rev. J. Ossian Davies and decided to offer himself for the ministry. He was admitted as a student into Memorial College, Brecon, in 1895: that being the college where his own minister was trained. He was the only Englishman of his year, but he became a great favourite. As a Brecon student, he pursued his preliminary studies at the University College, Cardiff, where he interested himself in the work of the Student Christian Union, becoming its secretary. He also became the editor of the college magazine. Then followed a two years' course in Divinity at Brecon (1898-1900) at the completion of which he qualified for his A.T.S.

His first pastorate was at Castlegate, Shrewsbury (1900-1906), where he was ordained, the Rev. J. Ossian Davies delivering the "charge to the minister" from Ezek. i. 10. In 1906 he went to Coedpenmaen, Pontypridd, where he laboured with success for nine years (1906-15), especially interesting himself in work among boys. He became secretary of the Pontypridd Battalion Boys' Brigade. When the war broke out he offered his services to the Y.M.C.A. and spent the years 1915-19 in their work at Le Havre, Rouen and Cologne.

He might have distinguished himself as a thoughtful and polished preacher but he was drawn more and more into social work. A boy in spirit, he knew lads as very few men know them. He was never happier than when he was serving youth. At the completion of the war he continued to work among men and boys. He became the general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Northampton, a post which he filled with conspicuous ability until he was called "home." In addition to his ordinary tasks he founded and ran a successful Boys' Club and Institute in one of the slum areas of the town. He also continued to serve the churches as a preacher as far as his time allowed. Unselfish to the core, he was a loyal friend. Though a man of some ability he was modest to a degree, and in everything he was faithful to his Master.

He passed to his reward on May 27, 1927, in Northampton Hospital, where after a brief illness he had been taken suffering from cancer. His body was interred in Northampton General Cemetery; the funeral services being taken by his friend and fellow student of Brecon College, the Rev. J. E. Evans.

J. E. E.

PARRY, Henry William, was born in Trefriw, North Wales, in 1852. When young his parents moved to Blaenau Festiniog and joined the Rhiw Independent Church, where he commenced preaching. Educated for the ministry at Bala College, in 1883 he was ordained at Chwarelgoch, Carnarvonshire (1883-92), afterwards taking charge of Tynymaes Church, and nine years of successful work was done. Accepting a call to Aberllefein, Merionethshire (1892-1910), he laboured faithfully and successfully, and also founded the church at Esgairgeiliog.

In 1910 he resigned the pastorate, and sailed with his family to the U.S.A., but returned to Wales in 1913, and settled down at Trevor Issa, Cefn, Ruabon. There he associated himself with the church at Rhosymedre, rendering valuable service while the church was without a pastor.

He passed peacefully away on Sunday, July 3, 1927, at the age of seventy four, leaving a widow, son, and an adopted niece to mourn their loss.

A true friend and faithful pastor, his preaching was characterised with individuality, originality and deep earnestness.

J. M. T.

PENDRED, Samuel, was born at Rugby, December 4, 1845. Educated at Rugby School, he started life as a clerk in the Post Office. As an evangelist he served the Congregational Church at Rugby in 1872, and the Church at Swanage, Dorset, in 1875. He held pastorates at Droitwich, Worcestershire (1876); Aldeburgh, Suffolk (Baptist Church) (1878); Westbury, Wilts (1892-95); Billingshurst, Sussex (1895-1900); Chishall and Barley, Cambs. (1900-06); Elstree, Herts (1906-09).

He died May 20, 1927, aged eighty-one.

He was a capable sea and landscape painter in oils, and fond of writing verse.

B. P.

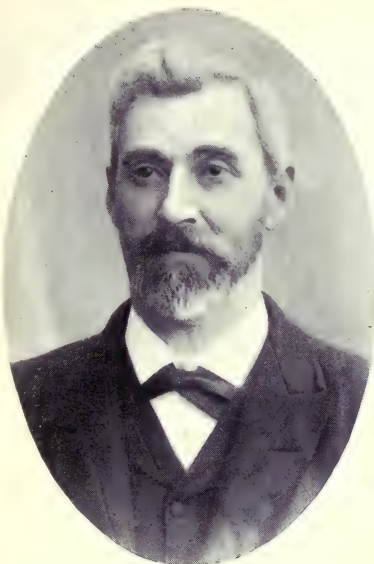

PENFORD, Edwin John, was born at Newbury, Berks, on November 4, 1854.

Trained for the Ministry at Hackney College, he won the Homes Prize for an essay on "Christ's Resurrection: Its Place in Christianity."

In 1879 he was appointed to his first and only pastorate at Eltham Congregational Church (1879-1919). Shortly afterwards he married Miss Sarah M. Powell, a daughter of the Rev. Thomas Powell, one of the first missionaries to the Samoan Islands.

In 1895 Mr. Penford was elected chairman of the Kent Congregational Association, and he delivered the annual address at Folkestone the following spring. For many years he was one of the directors of the London Missionary Society, and for a time was district secretary of the London Congregational Union. He was also on the governing body of his old college. He retired from Eltham Church in 1919 after forty years' faithful ministry there.

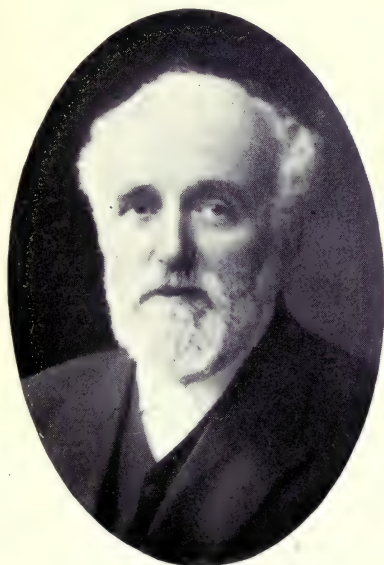

After this he settled in Tunbridge Wells and associated himself with Mount Pleasant Church. There he served as Acting Pastor for a year and nine months, during the interregnum between the ministries of the Revs. E. A. Dowsett and I. Maldwyn Jones. He continued to preach right up to the end, and did much valuable work in the churches of Tunbridge Wells and the surrounding district. He endeared himself to all by his simple, lovable goodness and unfailing kindness.

J. GILBERT REES.

He died suddenly, during his sleep, on August 20, 1927, at the age of seventy-two.

PETERS, John, was born at Pontypool, April 14, 1853.

His first pastorate was at Siloh, Abersychan, Mon. (1894), where he remained for three years. Removing to Pontnewydd, Mon., he practically founded the church there (1897-1904). These seven years were very successful. A fine hall was built and land purchased adjoining on which to build the church. The services are still being held in the hall. He took an active interest in the Free Church Council and in the Sunday School Union, and formed a Union with Cwmbran and Pontnewydd, holding an annual demonstration. He became chairman both of the Free Church Council and the Sunday School Union.

For considerations of health he removed to Kingsteignton, South Devon (1904-22), where his ministry was very fruitful. In 1913 he was Chairman of Newton Abbot Free Church Council. In 1918 Chairman of the South Devon Congregational Union. A serious illness led to his retirement in 1922. He returned to Pontnewydd, and died on December 14, 1926, aged seventy-three.

W. P.

PITHER, John, was born December 29, 1854, at Henley-on-Thames, where his father was deacon of the Congregational Church for many years.

During the ministry of the Rev. James Rowland, at an early age, the Divine Call to the Christian ministry came to him, and he began to prepare for his life-work, encouraged and helped by his pastor. Services were conducted in village churches and a course of private study entered upon. In due time he was received into New College, but owing to an attack of rheumatic fever which laid him aside for some months an extra year was added to the usual curriculum.

He held pastorates at Chesham (1880-88); Winslow (1888-96); Mere (1896-1908); and Wiveliscombe (1908-16). In each sphere of ministry he gave of his best with a whole-hearted devotion. At Chesham a new church was built and opened free of debt. Work in the Sunday school always interested him, but with young men his influence for good was like an inspiration, and is still bearing fruit.

While at Wiveliscombe, to his great grief, his sight began to fail and gradually increased until he became almost totally blind, and was compelled to retire from the regular ministry.

Making his home in his native town, it was his ripe experience, wise counsel and willing help that made him so valuable an asset to his own church and to the Nonconformist churches of the district. His affliction of blindness did not deter him in his resolve to do his utmost for all. A faithful friend, a loyal servant and a radiant Christian, he was called to higher service, April 7, 1927, aged seventy-two.

A man of intense spiritual force and beauty of character, Mr. Pither won the love and esteem of a wide circle of friends. An earnest and effective preacher, his greatest joy was to tell "the old, old story" with a winsome pathos that never failed.

J. W.

POOL, John James, was born on July 19, 1857. His father was a Congregational Minister, and his mother a member of the Society of Friends. He received his education at King Edward VIth Grammar School, Sedbergh, and at Rotherham College. After a successful career at college, Mr. Pool settled at Patmos Chapel, Todmorden, in 1882, and after a short pastorate, accepted the charge of Union Church, Calcutta (1883-89), where he was married to Miss Hardman, the daughter of a Congregational Minister. After five years in India, Mr. Pool accepted an invitation to the English Church at Rheims, France (1889-99), and during his pastorate here did a great deal of literary work. From Rheims he became pastor of Hanover Chapel, Peckham (1901-07), where he did an excellent work for six years, particularly through the Popular Thursday Evening Services. Other pastorates he held were Rectory Place, Woolwich (1909-11), New Church, Parsons Hill, Woolwich (1911-15), and Forest Hill (1917-23). In addition to his pastoral work, Mr. Pool travelled in America, and also made two valuable contributions to literature about India, by his books "Women's Influence in the East," and "Studies in Mohammedanism." He was well-read and highly intellectual, and a very acceptable lecturer. He was thoroughly conscientious, and a most painstaking and earnest worker in any cause he undertook. His travels gave him a very charitable outlook upon the various races of mankind and the various religions of the world, but he held passionately by the religion of Jesus Christ as the greatest of all religions and the only final hope of the world. He died on October 29, 1927.

M. J.

PRICE, William John, was born at Zion's Hill, Pembrokeshire, November 4, 1837. He was educated at Woolf's Castle, Milford Preparatory School, Haverfordwest Baptist College, and Bristol College. He was ordained pastor of the mother church of Welsh Nonconformity at Llanvaches in 1871, a position he held for forty years. He was also in charge of Goldcliff Congregational Church. Although Mr. Price was a native of Undy, Pembrokeshire, he had resided in Undy parish over sixty years. He first came there as a student from college. A staunch Nonconformist and Liberal, he was one of the keenest supporters of Lord Treowen, the Lord-Lieutenant, when his lordship won the old South Monmouthshire seat for the first time in the history of Liberalism.

Mr. Price was beloved and esteemed, and although he relinquished active preaching in 1907 he was still known as "Preacher Price." He died suddenly at Woodville, Undy, at the age of ninety, on August 5, 1927.

Among those who attended the funeral were his eleven children and one of his two surviving brothers, who is eighty-eight.

J. W.

REES, John Gilbert, was born in 1872 at Laucharne, Carmarthenshire. The son of a farmer, he worked for a number of years at his father's occupation.

At the age of twenty he entered Carmarthen College, later beginning his ministry in the joint pastorate of Wolfesdale and Crundale, in Pembrokeshire (1897-1907). After ten years successful service there he accepted a call to St. Paul's Congregational Church, Swansea (1907-17), where he filled many prominent positions, including the Presidency of the Free Church Council and the chaplaincy of the 6th (Territorial) Battalion of the Welsh Regiment.

During the black war days he held the pastorate of Whitham, in Essex (1917-26). There, in addition to being chaplain to the 202nd Infantry Brigade, he held the important post of Food Controller of the town, and for a time acted as Chairman of the local Education Committee. The Whitham Brotherhood and the Coggeshall and District Eisteddfod owed their inception to Mr. Rees.

In February, 1926, he accepted an invitation to Grange Park Church, Leyton, and laboured until a few days before his death on June 14, 1927.

Mr. Rees was a staunch Free Churchman and Congregationalist, and an ardent Welshman, who loved the land of his birth and his home.

His kindly nature, sympathetic words and friendly smile won him many friends, and his passing hence is a great loss to the ministry he faithfully served.

M. L. H.

ROBERTS, David, was born at Brynffynnon, Corwen, on March 3, 1844. Losing his mother when four years of age, he was brought up by an uncle and aunt at Tyn-y-Bont. Although elected a deacon when seventeen years of age, he had always a strong desire to be a minister, and in 1868 was received as a student into Bala Congregational College. After completing his studies at Bala, he entered Glasgow University. At the termination of his ministerial training, he was well known throughout the Principality as a powerful preacher. He accepted the unanimous invitation of Queen Street Congregational Church, Rhyl (1874-83), and was ordained minister on May 28th, 1874. He began his work with a high conception of the pastoral office, and in a short period the church members were doubled, and a new chapel was built, which stands to-day as a memorial of his ministry.

In the early part of 1884 he entered upon a long and successful ministry extending over thirty years at Llanuwchllyn (1883-1913), and was highly respected. He cleared the debt that was on the buildings, built two new chapels, and enjoyed many long years free of debt. He was always a faithful pastor, with a word of cheer and sympathy for all his people, and highly esteemed by his denomination.

In 1914 he relinquished his ministerial duties, was presented with a substantial cheque, and spent the rest of his life at Llandrillo, serving the churches generally as his health and strength permitted. He died February 28, 1927, in his eighty-third year, and leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters.

ROBINSON, William, was born at Cosby, Leicestershire, on April 25, 1848.

At the age of twenty-one he was led to join the Nonconformists, and became a Lay Preacher. In 1875 he entered the London City Mission and was appointed to a district in Walworth. In 1882 the Rev. Morley Wright recommended him as Assistant for the work at the Mission Hall, Deptford, in connection with Lewisham High Road Church (1888-89), and there he was ordained.

He removed in 1890 to Sanvy Gate Mission Church, Leicester (1890-94), but, owing to his wife's health, he felt compelled to take a country pastorate, and removed to Wymondham (1894-96). He returned to Sanvy Gate, however (1896-1901); and in 1901 he left for Welford (1901-15). After fourteen years' ministry there he went to Yardley Hastings (1915-18). Retiring in 1918, he undertook the oversight of the church at Creton, where he passed away on November 5, 1926, aged seventy-eight.

As a pastor and friend, he was greatly beloved.

R. M. R.

STEER, Thos. Richardson, born February 14, 1845, in Oxford Street, London, embraced Free Church principles in early manhood and became a prominent worker at Stockwell Congregational Church. In 1880 he entered the ministry, being called to Swanage Church, where he remained for twenty-eight years (1880-1908). Under his leadership the church flourished, the present chapel and manse were built, and these signs of material well-being were but indications of a deepened spiritual life.

He took a keen interest in the life of the growing town, and was much loved and respected.

The strenuous years at Swanage were followed by a short but happy ministry at Ramsbury, Wiltshire (1909-11). In 1911 he retired and settled in Reading, where he died, July 10, 1927.

STRANGER, John Henry, J.P., was born in America on December 12, 1852, and the family came to England in his infancy. In early life he was engaged in the teaching profession, and for twenty-five years conducted a private school in Bodmin, he being a member of the Town Council and a Justice of the Peace.

In 1898 he disposed of his school and, following in his father's footsteps, entered the Congregational ministry.

His first charge was Wiveliscombe, Somerset—as lay pastor (1899-1904), pastor (1904-8). Removing later to Westerham, Kent (1908-14), and to Othery, Bridgwater (1914-24). He was chairman of the Somerset Congregational Union during his final year of ministry there.

In September, 1924, he retired from active service, and spent the evening of his life in Plymouth, where his daughters reside, identifying himself with Sherwell Congregational Church. He passed to his rest quite suddenly on May 10, 1927, in the seventy-fifth year of his age, following on the death of his wife ten days previously.

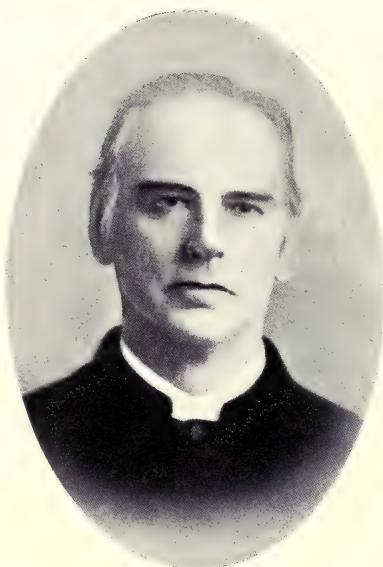

H. M. S.

THOMAS, James, was born in Oswestry in 1856. His father was a preacher of some repute, and at a comparatively early age resolving to follow in his father's footsteps, he became a student at New College. His first charge was Red Lion St., Boston, Lincs (1880-89). He removed to Castle Square Church, Wisbech, Cambs (1889-1923), where his life-work was accomplished, and after thirty-three years of devoted activity failing health compelled him to relinquish the pastorate and remove to a smaller church at Hemsby (1923-27) in the Yarmouth district.

Mr. Thomas was not only a powerful preacher, but he entered into the civic life of Wisbech and was chairman of the Board of Guardians for many years, receiving a handsome present on his retirement. He was also a member of the Isle of Ely Education Committee; of the North Cambs Hospital Committee, of the Wisbech Working Men's Institute, of the Committee of the Wisbech Museum and Literary Society, and was a Governor of the Wisbech High School. In connection with all these he rendered good and useful service.

He died July 31, 1927, aged 70.

TREBILCO, James, was born in 1842 at St. Columb, Cornwall, and died in Bristol, May 24, 1927, at the age of eighty-five years. He retained to the end all his mental faculties unimpaired, and his interest in the affairs of life remained unabated.

His ministerial training he received at the Bristol Congregational College under the Rev. E. J. Hartland. He devoted his entire ministry of fifty-five years to the service of churches within the City of Bristol.

His pastorates included Anvil Street (1871-79); Hanham Road, Kingswood (1879-85); and Russell Town (1885-1914). He became familiarly known as Trebilco of Russell Town: in this sphere he exercised for thirty years a gracious and honoured ministry, and during this period received into the Church no fewer than 1,800 members. His last great service rendered to the City was as the Free Church Chaplain of Eastville Poor Law Institution, where for ten years he ministered with the grace and sympathy of a choice spirit. The esteem of the authorities, appreciation of the inmates and affection of the sick he regarded as a joy which fittingly crowned the labours of a long life.

With many of the outstanding social, educational and philanthropic movements of his day, he had memorable associations. A member of the old Bristol School Board and subsequently of the Education Committee, he had long connection with the management of the Colston Hall Sunday Evening Services; and was founder and President of the Bristol Society of Cornishmen.

Any cause tending to the common good found in him a wise and eloquent friend. The progress made in the higher things of the City's life during the past half century will have in many of its phases a grateful memory for James Trebilco.

His Celtic nature was imaginative and emotional, and possessed the gift of fervent speech. Into his preaching as if a poet, he gathered much of the rich suggestiveness of nature, the glow of morning, charm of fields and hills, and all the enchantment of the seasons. There were in his appeals to the people tenderness and, too, a strength of passion. His prayers knew an intensity of fervour that fill the Vision of faith and love with the thrill of the presence of God.

A winsome character, a good comrade and a noble friend.

His beloved wife, who predeceased him, was a member of the Bristol Board of Guardians, and had participated with many graces and gifts for service in all the activities of his Church life.

J. J.

WATSON, Ralph Edward Shanks, B.A., was born at Jarrow-on-Tyne on May 9, 1890. Having strong leanings from his youth towards the Christian ministry, he left England on September 21, 1912, and became a probationer for the ministry of the Methodist Church of Canada, receiving his theological training at Wesley College, Winnipeg. He was ordained at Saskatoon in June, 1917, afterwards taking a pastorate at Assiniboia, Sask.

In January, 1919, he returned to England and accepted a call to the Congregational Church, Jarrow (1919-22). Whilst there he had a breakdown in health and went to Switzerland for some months. On regaining his health he returned to his church at Jarrow.

In October, 1923, he accepted an invitation from the Congregational Church of Ottery St. Mary, Devon (1923-26). After three years he removed to the Old Meeting Church, Westbury, Wilts (1926-27), where he ministered successfully until his death from influenza on March 26, 1927, aged thirty-six years.

The ministry loses by his early death a man of great promise. He possessed brilliant literary ability, a genius for friendship, and great power as a preacher. W. G. B. T. C.

WILKINSON, Edmund Scott, B.D., was born in London on November 3, 1878, and died at Herne Hill, London, on May 2, 1927.

He entered New College in 1900, and gained the B.D. Degree of the London University in 1905. For the year 1905 he was also the H.F. Burder Scholar, Selwyn Essayist, Harris Scholar, and Jubilee Medallist.

He settled at Rainham, Kent (1906-12), and did work of the enduring kind. Then he removed to Swanley (1912-24), in the same county, where he laboured for twelve years with zeal and success.

In 1924 he returned to his native city, and took charge of the church at Loughborough Park (1924-7). There he met and overcame great difficulties, and endeared himself, not only to the members of the church over which he presided, but to all the ministers and churches of the South West Metropolitan District.

Mr. Wilkinson was a man of scholarly gifts and tastes, and of quiet Christlike devotion, while to know him was to love him. He leaves a widow and two daughters to mourn their loss. Although taken away suddenly and at an early age, his memory and work will endure, for he was "A good minister of Jesus Christ."

W. G. B.

WILLIAMS, James David, born July 12, 1862, died May 12, 1927, was a native of Esgairdawe, Cardigan. His parents were farmers on a large scale, and pillars in the church of that locality. He was educated in the local elementary school, and at the Swansea Grammar School. He commenced preaching while in his early teens, and was eventually successful in passing into the Bala Independent College under Principal Michel Jones. He received a call to the Welsh Congregational Church in Flint, and was ordained there in February, 1889. For the last twelve years of his ministry he took over the pastorate of the English Church in Flint ((W) 1889-1925); ((E) 1913-1925).

He was Honorary Secretary for the Home Mission Society for Denbighshire and Flintshire for sixteen years, and was chairman of the Associations of the same counties; and also a member of the Hymnal Committee for a long period. A very acceptable preacher and most faithful pastor.

(SAUNDERSFOOT).

THOMAS WILLIAMS (CHWILOG).

WILLIAMS, John, was born at Rhiwfawr, Cwmllynfell, Glamorganshire, in 1849. In his boyhood he worked at Brynmorgan Farm, but aspired to no loftier position than the Christian ministry. After a short preparatory training in Cardiff he entered Bala College in 1872, where he spent three years.

In 1875 he accepted the pastorate of Bethel Church, Trehafod, and was ordained there September 5 in the same year. He married Miss A. F. Davies, who proved a devoted Christian helpmeet till she entered into rest on September 26, 1915. After a ministry of twenty-five years the church and officers, in appreciation of his faithful service amongst them, presented him and his wife with valuable gifts.

During the early development of the Rhondda he was one of the staunchest pioneers of Congregationalism and many churches were established in the district which flourish to-day. He was an indefatigable worker in the cause of temperance, a member of the Rhondda and Pontypridd Temperance Defence League, and for many years Chairman of its Executive Committee.

He served his denomination well and ungrudgingly. He was Secretary of the East Glamorgan Association, the local branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society, the Welsh Congregational Union, and a member of its Council for a number of years. In 1925 he was elected Chairman of the Welsh Union, an office he filled with modest dignity and beautiful simplicity. On the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination he resigned the pastorate when special jubilee services, presided over by Lord Pontypridd, were held. He passed peacefully away on August 31, 1927.

He was an able preacher, a wise counsellor, a sincere and constant friend, and was affectionately styled "The Bishop of the Rhondda."

J. W.

WILLIAMS, John, was born at Aberavon, Glamorganshire, in 1849. The son of the late Rev. R. B. Williams of Marshfield, near Cardiff, he commenced preaching at Aberavon, but on the removal of his family to Cardiff he identified himself with Ebenezer Congregational Church, and was commended by that church as a suitable candidate for the Carmarthen Presbyterian College, which he entered in 1873. Before the completion of his course, he was ordained minister of the churches at Bryn Sion and Carvan, Pembrokeshire, where he laboured from 1876 to 1898, and became known throughout the Principality as "Williams, Carvan."

At the request of the Pembrokeshire Congregational Association he undertook the dual pastorate of Sardis and Saundersfoot English Churches in 1898, where he remained until 1920, thus completing a fruitful ministry of forty-four years exactly divided between the English and Welsh Churches.

He was greatly beloved by his brethren and highly honoured by folk of all denominations. He was Secretary of the Pembrokeshire Association for many years, and an ex-President of the South Wales Congregational Union. He took a keen interest in temperance, educational and Free Church work, and after his retirement acted as one of the three Free Church chaplains for the Cardiff Royal Infirmary and kindred institutions. He passed away at the home of his son-in-law—the Rev. J. Penry Thomas, Cardiff—on January 12, 1927, aged seventy-seven. He was an earnest preacher, a devoted pastor, a loyal friend and a saintly character.

T. J. W.

WILLIAMS, Thomas, was born at Llanelly, May 4, 1851. As a boy he attended the British School there, until he began work at the early age of twelve, and soon became a member of Capel Als Church.

When twenty-four he began to preach in the same church, and in March, 1876, entered Bala Independent College.

In December, 1880, he was ordained pastor of Capel Helyg and Sardis Churches, Carnarvonshire (1880-1926). He was an able preacher, and much loved by all who knew him. He filled many important positions in the denomination with marked distinction.

He retired December, 1926, after a faithful service of forty-six years, having previously been presented with a handsome testimonial. He died on March 8, 1927, aged seventy-five, leaving a widow and three sons.

Sustentation Fund.—At the Annual Assembly of the Union, held at Pwllheli in June, 1920, it was resolved to raise a fund of £200,000 to assist in providing regular and efficient ministry to the many small Churches, and to secure to every accredited minister a living wage as well as to assist in providing a retiring allowance by making a contribution to the Pastors' Retiring Fund or otherwise. The work was entrusted to a Committee composed mainly of laymen. Good progress has been made. A Distribution Scheme has now been prepared. A Distribution Committee appointed and grants-in-aid have been made annually since April, 1923. Nearly £80,000 has been already secured.

Denominational History.—A society has been formed under the auspices of the Union for the purpose of preserving and compiling Denominational History.

Incorporation of the Union.—The Union is now a Corporate Body, and steps are being taken in order to bring all the Trusts of the denomination under the control of the Union subject to the provisions of the various Trusts.

There is also a Forward Movement Fund Committee and a Hymn and Tune Books (Caniedydd) Committee which now operate under separate Trusts as they were formed previous to the Union being incorporated.

The operations of the Church Aid and Home Missionary Society have not been extended to the Welsh Churches in Wales.

SCOTLAND.

CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF SCOTLAND.

Name.—THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF SCOTLAND, comprising the Evangelical Union and Congregational Union as existing at 1896.

President, Rev. Alex. Pollock, Kirk-road, Wishaw ; Treasurer, Mr. Henry Brown, JP, 41, Cluny-gardens, Edinburgh ; Secretary, Rev. C. Richardson, MA, 44, Queen's-drive, Glasgow, S.

Objects.—The Objects of the Union are—(1) The promotion of fraternal intercourse and fellowship among Independent Churches in Scotland (2) Co-operation in aiding Churches unable of themselves to fully maintain the ordinances of the Gospel, and in supporting Mission and Evangelistic agencies in Scotland and in foreign lands. (3) United action in maintaining and defending the truths of the Gospel and the principles and privileges of Independent Churches. The Union is not regarded as, in any sense, an ecclesiastical court or corporation, possessing or pretending to possess authority over the Churches, all such authority being contrary to the first principles of Congregational polity.

The affairs of the Union are managed by eleven Committees—the General, Church-Aid, Home Mission, Central Fund, Foreign Mission, Theological College, Welfare of Youth, Publications, Chapel and Manse Building, Temperance and Public Morals, and a Women's Committee—and by ten District Committees.

THE UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA. CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES, MISSIONS, AND MINISTERS IN SOUTH AFRICA, NEW ZEALAND, AUSTRALIA, THE WEST INDIES, AMERICA, AND OTHER LANDS.

THE UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA.

(Uniting the Congregational Churches in Canada, the Methodist Church (Canada and Newfoundland), and the Presbyterian Church in Canada.)

The Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches of Canada on June 10th, 1925, were constituted the United Church of Canada, the first General Council convening at that time. The second General Council was held at Montreal, June, 1926. The third General Council is to meet at Winnipeg, September, 1928. Moderator—the Right Rev. James Endicott, D.D. Secretary—the Rev. T. Albert Moore, D.D. Offices—Wesley Buildings, Toronto 2, Ontario. During the past two years the United Church has consolidated its activities at home and abroad. Canada, Newfoundland and Bermuda are included in the home area. Ministers number upwards of 3,750 and the work is carried on in 11 Conferences and 114 Presbyteries among upwards of 8,700 congregations and more than two million people. The United Church is directly responsible for more than one million children and young people. The annual budget of the Maintenance and Extension Fund, which finances home and foreign missions, colleges, evangelism and social service, Sunday Schools and Young People's work, pension funds, etc., is $3,400,000. In Canada the United Church has in several kinds of home mission work 915 ordained ministers, 153 lay workers, 350 College students as summer supply, and 225 Woman's Missionary Society workers, a total force of 1,643. There are 16 ministers and missionaries among 100,000 Hungarians, 33 missionaries among the French, 88 among the Chinese and Japanese, and 185 among the Indians. The whole non-Anglo-Saxon work, including missions among Ukrainians, Finns, etc., employs 277 ministers and other missionaries. There are 25 hospitals, 34 social centres and 107 schools in the home mission enterprise. In the foreign fields the United Church has 614 missionaries in ten areas, as follows: 85 in India, 205 in West China, 19 in South China, 93 in Honan, 20 in Formosa, 50 in Korea and Manchuria, 86 in Japan, 10 in British Guiana, 22 in Trinidad, and 24 in West Africa. Except in Formosa and British Guiana all are working under missions of the United Church itself. Conditions in China have affected residence of workers on their fields, many being compelled by consular instructions to come to the coast from the interior in 1927. More than 2,000 native Christian helpers are working in these missions. The Woman's Missionary Society has approximately 200,000 members and an annual budget for home and foreign work of $1,000,000. Consolidation of 26 boards and committees into 6 boards; of all publishing interests of the three uniting Churches, of 3 denominational papers into one weekly paper, The New Outlook, of 4 missionary promotion papers into The United Church Record and Missionary Review; of 15 theological colleges into 8, has already been accomplished. The United Church has 28 publications for Sunday Schools and Young People's work, including lesson helps. Six Redemptive Homes and 3 child welfare institutions are under United Church direction. There are 6,500 young people in the Universities, Colleges, and schools of higher learning under the care of the United Church. More than 125,000 teachers, officers, leaders and workers are giving voluntary service in Church School and Young People's work in Sunday Schools and through-the-week activities, including 31 Summer Camps and Schools. More than 15,000 of these workers are enrolled in standard teacher training courses; the certificates granted in 1926-27 number 5,412, or three times as large a number as in any year prior to 1925.

Sierra Leone Mission, supported by Churches of the Countess of Huntingdon's Connexion.—This Mission is a continuation of work begun in Georgia, and afterwards in Nova Scotia, under the inspiration of Selina, Countess of Huntingdon. In 1792 a body of negroes was transferred to Sierra Leone, carrying with them the traditions and methods of the Countess's Connexion. The Mission now comprises 20 Stations, 1 English Missionary, 2 Native Ministers, and 20 paid workers. During the past five years the work has been extended to Baoma where a day school has been established and 25 native boys (sons of Chiefs) have been adopted by Home Churches. During the past year one has so far advanced as to be able to conduct classes during the week and preach on Sundays, and for him a new Station has been opened in Old Baoma, where a real live work is being carried on. Treasurer, Mr. J. G. Gammans, Cecil Lodge, Gordon-road, Shoreham-by-Sea, Sussex; Secretary, Rev. E. Tully, 16, Fairfields, Basingstoke, Hants.

Mr. Koenenmonk, our missionary, died at the beginning of last year, but we have sent out another, Mr. A. Kew, and the lad mentioned above has been appointed his assistant. This is the first Protestant Missionary Society teaching the Mendi to teach the Mendi. Mr. Kew has started the first Christian Endeavour Society in Baoma and the native lads are doing well. We expect great things.

JAPAN.

The Churches of Congregational polity in Japan have been called Kumiai (associated) Churches. The first Church was organised at Kobe in 1874 as a result of the work of the American Board Mission. Until 1906 the Churches co-operated with the same mission in general evangelistic work. They are doing also a missionary work as a department of their union organisation, which supports sixteen stations in different parts of the Empire and thirty-five stations for the natives in Korea.

In 1921, our Korean Mission was discontinued and the Congregational Church of Korea organised. In the same year the work of the Japan Mission of American Board was taken over by our Evangelical Department, and 33 churches under the Mission joined our Union.

THE CONGREGATIONAL QUARTERLY

Edited by ALBERT PEEL, M.A., Litt.D.

The Congregational Quarterly continues to receive the praises of the press, as evidenced by the notices, given during 1927, which are printed below.

"I have more than once called attention to the Congregational Quarterly. For the intelligent Free Churchman, ministerial or lay, I know of no magazine likely to be of such service to him."—DR. GEORGE JACKSON, in the Manchester Guardian.

"It is impossible to do justice, in a short notice, to a quarterly that is so full of vital and up-to-date articles, written by men who have thought much and carefully before putting pen to paper. . . . The Reviews are an A1 guide to young preachers and others as to the books worth buying. The Editor's notes are, as always, straight to the point."—The Scottish Congregationalist.

"There is no doubt about it, the editor of the Congregational Quarterly knows his business very thoroughly; and he is making it difficult for us to neglect his journal."—The United Methodist.

"There is always quality in the Congregational Quarterly, quality of thought and of expression."—The South Wales Argus.

"This periodical, which one thinks of as a new venture, has finished its fifth year. How many Church people ever see it we do not know, but they would find it distinctly of a high class. It is, of course, Congregationalist, and sometimes furiously so; but it is often good to hear what a clever 'Free Church' man thinks of leading Anglicans."—The Record.

"The Congregationalists have in this review a publication which will compare in style and quality with any of the highest examples of literary journalism. Its contents are of a cultured, thoughtful order, and representative of the scholarly pens of the denomination."—The Christian Endeavour Times.

You really are missing something if you do not take the Congregational Quarterly. The subscription is 10s. per annum, post free.

(Published March 20th, June 20th, September 20th and December 20th.)
